High-Tension Wires Should Be Halted: Planners

The Hoffman Estates Plan Commission Monday will urge the village board to take a stand against above-ground installation of high-tension electric wires along the south side of the Northwest Tollway.

The commission also will recommend Commonwealth Edison Co. install the lines underground, suggesting the public is willing to pay for the additional expense.

"The concept of placing these transmission lines above ground south of the tollway is detrimental to the residents in the immediate area . . . Placing these lines above ground south of the tollway encroaches on homes, a golf course, a park and a school," according to a recommendation drafted Wednesday night by the commission.

"We would urge the village board to take a stand at this time, and urge that Commonwealth Edison Co. place these lines underground," the recommendation states.

THE COMMISSION listed seven facts found during its session Wednesday with two representatives of ComEd as well as spokesmen for homeowners along the proposed cable route. These are:

—"Commonwealth Edison is in the concept stage only."

—"A certificate of convenience and necessity has not been applied for from the Illinois Commerce Commission."

—"Alternate concepts are being considered by Commonwealth Edison."

—"The cost of the overhead lines is estimated at $200,000 for installation south of the tollway (plus easement costs) and $400,000 north of the tollway (plus easement costs)."

—"Northern Illinois Gas Co. has not been contacted on this concept of installation on their easement south of the tollway."

—"Utility use is not exempt in all village ordinances, although it is exempt from zoning in Cook County."

—"Homeowners adjacent to the south of the tollway are unalterably opposed to the above-ground concept in their area."

The village board also is to receive a finding of facts and a recommendation from its attorneys, although it is not known whether these will be ready by Monday night. These are to inform the board as to what legal powers it might have in taking the stand recommended by the plan commission, and in enforcing it.

Forces Girl To Drive Him For 2 Hours

A young nurse's aide was forced to drive through the area for more than two hours Wednesday night after a man jumped into her car while she was stopped at an intersection in Schaumburg.

Police said the incident occurred at Meacham and Algonquin Roads at about 8:30 p.m. They said a man in his 20's forced his way into the woman's north-bound auto while she was stopped for a traffic signal.

The man then ordered her to drive, giving instructions along the way. Apparently the woman was not molested during the incident, police said.

On several occasions, police said, the woman ordered the man from the auto, but he refused to leave. The intruder was not armed, according to police reports.

After driving for nearly 2½ hours, the man ordered the woman to drive down a narrow gravel road.

When the car reached the end of the road, the man left the auto and disappeared on foot. The woman then reported the incident, police said.

Two detectives have been assigned to the investigation.

If the man is arrested, Schaumburg police said he faces possible charges of unlawful restraint and criminal trespass.

Cookie Sale Nets $23

A cookie sale netted $23.50 in profit for the Cancer Leukemia Research Foundation, said Dirksen School sixth grade teacher Charmain Cahoon of Schaumburg.

Miss Cahoon said her students and those in the classes of teachers Bill Ondratschek and Pat Cassidy baked cookies at home and then sold them during lunch time at the school.

Students Sew Pillows For Elgin Elderly

Hand stitched and stuffed pillows made by two fifth grade classes for patients in a convalescent home, were part of the student's study of health.

Mrs. Barbara Oas, teacher at Dirksen School in Schaumburg, said the project started when her students discussed a unit on responsibility.

"The girls decided making pillows completely by hand for the Day Break Nursing Home in Elgin was a good idea," said Mrs. Oas.

Another fifth grade teacher, Miss Linda Covich and her students, joined the project. Together the students stitched 26 pillows which they delivered to the home this week. The pillows had smiling Raggedy Ann faces embroidered on them.

Mrs. Oas said both patients and students enjoyed the visit.

PROMINENTLY PROMENADING, Hoffman Estates Park District residents are put through the paces by teenage square dance caller Cliff Benson. He has been working throughout the Chicago area for several years and now runs the new park district program.

'Swing Your Partner' Takes On A Rock 'n' Roll Flavor

Dancers Promenade To Parks' Beat

by STEVE BROWN

There is a small, but active minority group organizing in Hoffman Estates. Members held weekly meeting and practice strategic moves under the direction of a young, but experienced leader.

However, there is nothing to fear from this faction. There is no need to barricade your doors or keep your children off the streets.

The 16-member group comprises one of the newest programs offered by the Hoffman Estates Park District — square dancing.

Led by 16-year-old caller Cliff Benson, the group has been meeting weekly this fall to learn the fundamentals of square dancing, a leisure-time activity with a big following in the Chicagoland area.

"There is some place to square dance every night of the week in Chicago," Cliff explained.

CLIFF SAID he has been calling for about 2½ years. He works several nights each week, either in instructional programs or square dances.

The square dancers accept Cliff's directions without question even though in some cases he is only half their age.

Using a barrage of quick patter instructions he directs the dancers through intricate moves with sure-handed ease.

A recent session saw the dancers working such moves as the "Star Through" and the "California Twist." The members, all newcomers to square dancing, work at the steps with some hesitancy at first, but after a little practice the moves come naturally.

Of course there is a certain amount of chuckling when one of the dancers finds himself going the wrong direction or using the left hand instead of the right for a certain step.

"This group has been working for a little over a month, and they all seem to be doing real well," Cliff said.

CLIFF HAS learned much of caller's technique by tape recording other callers. He has also read a lot of literature on the subject.

"I went to Callers College last and they really tear you up there," he said. The week-long session is run by longtime callers who offer advice to help newcomers improve their style.

Cliff said square dancing music is beginning to get away from the traditional country-western sound. "You can even find some music now that almost has a rock-and-roll beat."

He added that interest in square dancing is always increasing.

"Of course, you do not hear too much about it unless you are already involved," Cliff said. The product of a square-dancing family, Cliff also works with his father to publish a square dancing magazine.

Eying the success of this new program, park district director Al Binder said he is considering the possibility of expanding the program this winter to include youngsters along with the adults.

Local 'Key Precincts' Not As Accurate As In Meadows

Two Schaumburg Township precincts, designated by ABC-TV to be among 100 key precincts in the state, did not reflect the outcome of the election as accurately as the precinct chosen in Rolling Meadows.

The Rolling Meadows district was the only one in Palatine Township where the votes rolled in in favor of Gov.-elect Dan Walker.

The Schaumburg Township precincts, Nos. 14 and 16, both showed heavy favoritism for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. Ogilvie led in both precincts by 100 votes with Precinct 14 giving 381 for Ogilvie/281 for Walker and Pct. 16 turning 493 for Ogilvie and 391 for Walker.

Precinct 14 in Schaumburg is bounded by Roselle Road on the east, Schaumburg Road on the north, Windsor Drive on the west and Weathersfield Way on the south.

Precinct 16 takes in portions of both Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg and is bounded by Roselle Road on the east, Edgemont Lane on the north, Jones Road on the west, and Higgins Road on the south.

In other key races the two districts also showed heavy Republican returns, favoring President Nixon 3-to-1 over Sen. George McGovern. Sen. Charles Percy outpolled U.S. Rep. Roman Pucinski by a similar margin.

And, on down the line Republicans enjoyed heavy leads in the two areas.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Savoring a landslide mandate, President Nixon met in Florida with his top advisers for a weekend retreat that could shape the nation's policies until 1976. At the same time Democratic leaders around the country have begun the arduous task of reshaping their party's leadership to put it in contention for 1976.

With more plentiful supplies of meat, particularly pork, increases in the price of food will probably slow for the rest of the year, Agriculture Department experts predicted.

Divers, groping through silt and buffeted by treacherous tides, searched for at least a half dozen vehicles that plunged into the Brunswick River at Brunswick, Ga. with their screaming occupants when a ship slammed into a drawbridge. It is unknown how many persons and cars plunged into the murky waters.

The State

One man was shot to death and two were wounded in a shooting at the Black Muslim Temple on Chicago's South Side. All were employees of an elementary school and library attached to the temple.

Francis T. Mayo, Region 5 administrator for the Environmental Protection Agency, suggested that each of the four states in the region name two representatives to a technical committee to make recommendations on problems of cooling water around Lake Michigan's shores.

The World

The United States said it believes the Vietnam peace negotiations are entering their final stage. But North Vietnam said "peace is not for tomorrow." "The reason is simple — the United States refused to sign the peace agreement it has already agreed to," a Hanoi negotiator said in Paris.

A huge bomb exploded in a downtown Belfast parking garage and a series of gunbattles wounded at least six persons in the Northern Ireland capital. An Irish Republican Army leader was captured and a Protestant girl was tortured and her head shaved by Catholics in their continuing warfare.

Cuban police first had to prove to hijackers of a Mexicana Airline Boeing 727 that they were really in Havana before allowing themselves to be disarmed and their $320,000 cash ransom confiscated, passengers told authorities upon return to Mexico.

The War

Both sides in the Vietnam War are waging a battle of supplies, reinforcing their own stocks and attacking those of the other side, in an all-out race to beat a promised cease-fire agreement. Seventeen American servicemen were killed in South Vietnam last week, highest total in a month.

The Weather

Temperatures from around the nation:

	High	Low
Atlanta	64	38
Buffalo	51	39
Denver	60	38
Houston	72	60
Miami Beach	88	73
New Orleans	67	43
New York	58	45
Phoenix	72	47
St. Louis	46	35
San Francisco	59	51
Washington	62	50

The Market

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange closed slightly higher on a late-session rally sparked by the sharp rise of several blue chip stocks, notably American Telephone and Telegraph. The Dow Jones Average climbed 4.52 to 988.24, a new high for the year. Advances edged declines, 748 to 703, among 1,802 issues on the tape. Volume came to 17,040,000 compared with 24,620,000 a day earlier.

The band is a volunteer community band. About half the 100 band members are professional musicians or music educators.

Post Mortem On State's Attorney Race:

Black Vote Beat Hanrahan

by ROGER CAPETTINI

A News Analysis

Like an old football knee injury, the vote from the black wards in the City of Chicago came back to haunt State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan Tuesday and gave his healthier opponent, Bernard Carey, an upset victory in their battle for the office.

In addition to knocking Hanrahan out of his immediate position, the disastrous blow from the once-solid Democratic wards may have ended Hanrahan's career and signaled the demise of the formerly all-powerful Democratic team.

While the official vote count on the bitterly contested race still is being tabulated, the unofficial totals indicate Carey managed the upset by combining heavy vote totals in his favor from most suburban and black precincts.

The key to Carey's surprise victory, however, came out of the black wards in Chicago.

A REVIEW of several black wards in the city indicated an enormous amount of ticket-splitting in what traditionally have been straight Democratic wards.

Those 14 predominantly black wards show how Carey won the battle and made Hanrahan's optimistic remarks of early Tuesday night "premature."

Carey was victorious in 10 of the 14, carrying Wards 2, 3, 6, 8, 16, 17, 20 and 21 by large majorities and the 29th by a slight edge.

Hanrahan early in the evening said he had reports from a key black ward that showed he would win. Unfortunately for the incumbent, he apparently was looking at one of the four he won, and two of those by a narrow margin.

Hanrahan carried the 24th and 27th Wards by a healthy majority, but won the 4th and the 28th Wards by only a few hundred votes each.

Incomplete returns from the 14 wards showed Carey with 132,642 votes to 93,492 for Hanrahan, or about 59 per cent for Carey to 41 per cent for Hanrahan.

WHILE MUCH of that vote would seem to have resulted from an intense dislike building for four years against Hanrahan, some part of it must be attributed to an increased awareness on the part of the blacks for their own best interests. They not only balked when it came to Hanrahan but crossed party lines in favor of Charles Percy.

At the same time, it was not a strictly anti-Democrat vote, as the voters of the same 14 black wards turned out for gubernatorial candidate Dan Walker, giving him 104,000 more votes than they gave Hanrahan.

With those votes still trickling in, many political observers have begun to speculate on whether the trend indicates the downfall of the Daley machine — that the Democratic ward committeemen can no longer control their voters.

While there exists much evidence to document that theory, there are other figures that should diminish the hopes of those who would like to see the machine collapse.

The Democratic machine had no trouble delivering the vote for Hanrahan in certain wards.

Among the 30 wards Hanrahan did carry were those headed by the likes of John D'Arco, Claude Holman and Vito Marzullo.

A SAMPLING of wards controlled by loyal Daley Democrats shows tremendous margins of victory for Hanrahan. Hanrahan's strength was obvious in the following wards, with Democratic committeemen in parentheses: 1 (John Piotrowski), 25 (Vito Marzullo), 26 (Matthew Bieszczyk), 31 (Tom Keane), 32 (Dan Rostenkowski), 38 (P. J. Cullerton), and 41 (Roman Pucinski).

Several of the wards lost to Carey were those whose Democratic committeemen, for a variety of reasons, may not have tried very hard for Hanrahan.

Three wards, for example, controlled by black Democratic committeemen delivered the vote for George McGovern, Dan Walker and Roman Pucinski, but not for Hanrahan. Those wards — the 2nd, 3rd and 20th — are headed by William Harvey, Ralph Metcalf and Cecil Partee respectively.

The 20th Ward, headed by John Stroger, went for McGovern, Walker, Percy and Carey.

There have been some reports that Carey's victories in these wards resulted mostly from a lack of effort for Hanrahan by the committeemen who knew they couldn't "sell" the incumbent to their constituents. In some cases, it has been reported, the committeemen, with that in mind, actually pushed Carey in order to save the rest of the Democratic candidates.

CAREY, AS expected, rolled up large margins in the county's suburban areas.

Of 30 suburban townships, Carey had won 24.

The largest margins of victory for Carey came from Evanston and New Trier townships, where Carey outdistanced Hanrahan by more than 4 to 1.

Of eight suburban townships that delivered vote totals for Carey in excess of 2 to 1, four — Elk Grove, Palatine, Wheeling and Barrington — were in the Northwest suburban area.

Additionally, two more Northwest suburban townships, Maine and Schaumburg, produced Carey victories which were just short of the 2-to-1 ratio.

Other townships giving Carey twice as many votes as Hanrahan, according to unofficial totals, were Northfield and Rich.

Hanrahan defeated Carey in Berwyn, Calumet, Leyden, Norwood Park, Stickney and Lemont townships.

Dear Friends:

Back in the old days, when towns like ours were small, it was customary for the local funeral director to provide ambulance service.

But times change and specialized facilities become available from public and private agencies, taking over a service we once volunteered to offer

We therefore wish to inform you that our ambulance service will be discontinued as of midnight, November 15, 1972.

We are grateful for your many complimentary expressions of gratitude for the ambulance services we have rendered over the past 50 years. The agencies now at work in Arlington Heights will fully satisfy such needs as we direct our full attention to our primary mission - serving our neighbors in their time of bereavement.

Zoning Bd. Recommends Two New Developments

Two planned unit development (PUDs) totaling 892 dwelling units were recommended for approval Wednesday by the Schaumburg Zoning Board of Appeals.

The developments together replace one Campanelli project previously approved by the village. The entire parcel of land lies west of Roselle Road between Wise Road and a point north of Weathersfield Way.

Ciesel-McGuire Industries, Inc. and 3-H Builders will develop the PUDs. Ciesel-McGuire will develop the 30-acre north third of the parcel. The firm requested zoning for 478 apartments. Their project will be called The Courts of Weathersfield.

THE SOUTHERN two-thirds (42 acres) of the parcel will be developed by 3-H. Their plans call for 414 triplex condominiums, three units to a building. Laurelwood is the name chosen for the 3-H project.

The zoning board's recommendations contained stipulations agreed to by the developers.

Ciesel-McGuire's project was revised slightly so several three-story buildings were switched with several two-story buildings. This was done to avoid placing the higher buildings next to the single-family homes to the west.

The developer will pay for the widening of a section of Roselle Road, and agreed to share the cost of installing a traffic light at Roselle Road and Weathersfield Way.

Additionally, Ciesel-McGuire will make donations to the proposed hospital on Schaumburg Road, the cultural center, and the police and fire funds. Their lawyer will meet with Mayor Robert Atcher to determine the amount of these donations.

Providing a landscaped buffer area around the perimeter of the project was also agreed upon.

STIPULATIONS agreed to by 3-H included piping their storm water run off rather than letting it flow into an open ditch, improvements on Wise Road including widening of the street, and installing sidewalks on both sides of interior streets.

Donations to the hospital, cultural center, police and fire funds will also be arranged with the mayor.

Both developers agreed to begin construction within a year of the passing of the ordinance and to complete the projects within five years. They also agreed to designate fire lanes and granted the village the right to come in and ticket cars parked in these fire lanes.

The fire chief will have the right to approve the location of all fire hydrants and fire lanes in both developments. Additionally, both builders agreed to install a solid base in the roadways as soon as construction begins to facilitate the servicing of the projects by fire trucks.

Both developments will be brought before the village board on Nov. 28.

A TREE TO BE the official Christmas Tree in Hoffman Estates was planted yesterday at the village's new municipal building, 1200 N. Gannon

Dr. The 20-foot tree was donated by the Hoffman Estates Jaycees at a cost of $450. Present for the planting ceremony were Jaycee Bill Gerner, tree committee chairman; Village Mgr. George Longmeyer, Police Chief John O'Connell and Streets Supt. Ken Dean.

No Special Meeting Needed For Hot Wire Controversy?

There may be no need for a special meeting of the Hoffman Estates Village Board to deal with a controversial plan by Commonwealth Edison Co. to install high-tension wires above the ground along the tollway.

Village Mgr. George Longmeyer said yesterday he has tentatively reserved Conant High School's auditorium for one week from today. But he definitely will not schedule a meeting until after Monday's village board session.

The village plan commission will report results of its fact-finding meeting held Wednesday, and make a recommendation to the board Monday night, said Longmeyer. If a report on the village's legal authority in the matter also is available Monday, it may not be necessary to hold the Friday session.

THE VILLAGE board this week agreed to hold a special meeting with homeowners living in the vicinity of the proposed cables to discuss village board action on the issue. The board was not certain of its powers to demand the cables be installed underground, and requested the plan commission investigate cost factors and status of the proposal. The village attorney was to examine legal aspects.

The special meeting was suggested because the audience Monday night was so large it was feared the village council chambers could not accommodate all persons who might wish to attend the next session.

Longmeyer said yesterday he had been unable to find an auditorium available any sooner than next Friday.

If the board still wishes to hold the special meeting after hearing the plan commission report, Longmeyer said he would notify homeowners by letter.

Board To Eye Com Ed High Power Line Plans

A plan commission report detailing proposed Commonwealth Edison installation of elevated high power lines adjacent to the Highpoint subdivision will be presented to the Hoffman Estates Village Board Monday.

"Concepts" of the project, initially discussed for placement on the south edge of the Northwest Tollroad in an 80-foot easement to be leased from Northern Illinois Gas Co., were outlined for the commission Wednesday. ComEd representatives, Jack Stevens, Northwest district superintendent, and Jack Foss, director of transmission systems made the presentation.

Possible rerouting of the high tension lines to the north side of the tollroad, necessitating further land acquisition by ComEd, and an underground system, proposed by concerned homeowners, also were reviewed.

A basic proposal calls for four cables to be mounted on poles, ranging from 75 to 90 feet high, depending on land contour. The route is approximately four miles long.

ON THE EAST it would connect with a substation one-half mile east of Plum Grove Road, which serves as the major transmission center for Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates. At the west, it would connect with a similar facility at the Kane County line.

ComEd does not have a specific route proposal in mind, Stevens emphasized. The utility company is attempting to first determine the attitude of residents before filing an Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) certificate of convenience, which will result in scheduling of a public hearing on a definite route.

Since ComEd has potential access to the right-of-way on the south side of the tollroad, representatives of the utility met with area homeowners several weeks ago to discuss tentative plans.

Although 200 residents publicly protested the installation, registering concern about its effect on health, safety and property values at Monday's village board meeting, only a handful of homeowners attended the plan commission discussion.

NORMALLY, HOWEVER, a definite route first is established, then the ICC is petitioned with the local governmental authority notified prior to the call for a public hearing.

In bringing the matter to the attention of the ICC, ComEd must justify the selected route as being the most economical and best use of land involved, unless residential or community displeasure requires selection of an alternative. Foss said, because no firm decisions have been made, costs of the above ground installation on either side of the tollroad, or an underground facility have not been finalized.

However, pressed by commission members for possible costs, Foss estimated underground installation at about $1 million per mile; overhead installation on the south side of the tollway could possibly run $50,000 per mile, or one-twentieth of proposed underground costs. Added to that would be gas company easement lease costs.

NORTHSIDE INSTALLATION would probably be higher, because crossing the tollway at two points would necessitate a more expensive corner type post. In addition, land would have to be acquired for the project.

According to Foss, the rate of load growth on the present substation has increased 32 per cent over the past two years. At a continued growth rate, expected to decrease to about seven per cent annually, that facility will experience a 10 per cent overload by 1975, if the new system is not in operation, he said.

In reply to questions from commission members, Foss described growth as "mostly residential." He said miscellaneous commercial and industrial use.

Blood Donors Being Sought

An area woman is seeking blood donors for her mother, who has been hospitalized at Alexian Brothers Medical Center for nine weeks.

Mrs. George Worrall said her mother, Helen Vassen, has developed a need for blood because she has been hemorrhaging during the past few days. Mrs. Vassen's blood type is Rh B negative.

Prospective donors are asked to call Alexian Brothers Medical Center 437-5100 for more information.

Candy Sale To Aid Mentally Retarded

Today and tomorrow have been proclaimed as Knights of Columbus Candy Days for the Mentally Retarded Children by Hoffman Estates Mayor Frederick Downey.

The Knights of Columbus are conducting a statewide candy day for the sole benefit of mentally retarded children.

Volunteers of the organization's Holy Ghost Council, Palatine, will be stationed at key locations within the village to sell the candy.

Downey urged all residents to support the fund drive.

MSD Unveils $305.9 Million Budget

by ANNE SLAVICEK

A proposed 1973 Metropolitan Sanitary District budget that would increase taxes by a minimum of 2 cents per $100 assessed valuation was made public yesterday.

The $305.9 million budget includes funds for design and construction of the interceptor sewers connecting to the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant in Des Plaines.

Other local projects that would be funded by the proposal include construction of the Polar Creek Water Reclamation Plant in Schaumburg Township and interceptor sewers connected to that plant, construction of a reservoir to serve the Willow-Higgins Creek area and expansion of the Hanover Sewage Treatment Works.

The sewers connecting Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights to the proposed O'Hare plant would serve as deep tunnels in the Chicago Underflow Plan to help stop flooding and stream pollution from overloaded combined sanitary and storm sewers.

The MSD Board of Trustees will begin hearings on the proposed budget Wednesday.

ALTHOUGH THE budget as proposed by MSD Gen. Supt. Ben Sosewitz includes a tax increase, the MSD board is committed to "holding the line" on the current tax rate of 33.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

MSD Pres. John E. Egan said yesterday the board will cut the proposed budget in an effort to keep the tax rate even with last year.

An anticipated increase in the assessed valuation in the district could possible result in an even lower tax rate than in 1972. Meanwhile, the sale of bonds to finance district construction could make the actual rate increase by as much as 4.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The amount of federal and state grants to the district will play a crucial role in determining the final level of the district tax rate, Sosewitz said.

If the district receives $100 million in federal and state grants there will be little need to issue bonds to borrow money for construction, he said. On the other hand, if President Nixon holds federal funding at last year's level, Sosewitz said, the district will receive only $42 or $43 million in grants and will need to issue bonds.

The bonds the district issues result in an increase in the tax rate.

THE $305.9 MILLION proposed budget is an increase over the $221.5 million in 1972 and the $201.4 million budget in 1971.

Sosewitz said much of the increase can be attributed to state and federal requirements that the MSD meet water quality standards.

The proposed construction program represents an increase of $200 million since 1971.

That increase includes a 5,000 per cent increase in funds to be spent for flood and pollution control.

MSD TRUSTEE Valentine Janicki said he would meet with Gov. elect Daniel Walker next week to brief Walker on MSD programs that need state funding.

Sosewitz said $14 million of the proposed budget would be spent on acquisition of land for flood control reservoirs throughout the district.

In addition to the local projects, the budget would provide funding for work on the district's land reclamation project in Fulton County, equipment for the West-Southwest Sewage Treatment Plant, sewers to the Calumet plant, and a North Shore aeration system.

Sacred Heart Open House Is Monday

Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows is holding an open house for all parents on Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The open house will culminate the evaluation process at the school for the first quarter. Parents will be able to meet with their daughter's teachers and discuss evaluations written by the teachers.

The evaluations are based on teachers' appraisal of the students' performance against the particular objectives of the course, with specific mention of particular areas of strength or weakness. This technique is felt to provide parents, teachers and students with a more personal and individualized means of communicating about a student's progress in school.

Radio Program Topic: 'How Much VD Here?'

"What is the incidence of venereal disease in the Northwest suburbs?" will be one of the questions to be discussed this Friday on "Focus: Northwest," a new discussion program sponsored by Harper College over WWMM-FM, Arlington Heights.

With moderator Elizabeth McKay, Harper's environmental health director, four area residents and health care specialists discuss the rising health threat of venereal disease, where persons can find help and determine whether they may have VD, and how it is affecting the various age and social groups of the Chicago suburban communities.

Guests on the program are Jerry Lama, VD education specialist for the Institute of Sex Education; Bob Delaney, regional coordinator for the U.S. Public Health Service, and with the VD department of Cook County Public Health; Dr. Marvin Margolis, Arlington Heights dermatologist, and Esther Kulp, a Cook County public health nurse and affiliated with The Bridge, Palatine.

"Focus: Northwest," a new program in recent weeks, attempts to examine the issues of living in the suburban context. It is broadcast at 6:45 p.m. Fridays and rebroadcast at 9 a.m. Sundays.

Will Hartigan Learn To 'Heel' Under Walker's Lead?

Illinois, which has had the distinction of having a Republican governor and a Democratic lieutenant governor for the past four years, soon will have a governor and lieutenant governor of the same party who opposed each other in the Democratic primary.

Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and Democratic Lt. Gov. Paul Simon have operated since January, 1969, under a kind of benign opposition in which Ogilvie did little to hurt Simon's image and Simon did nothing to undermine the governor.

Simon, for instance, could legally have appointed a successor to the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen during Ogilvie's absence from the state. He refrained, in accordance with a prior promise to Ogilvie that he would not try to usurp the governor's powers in his absence.

Bob Lahey

Other than losing the traditional offices of the lieutenant governor in the state Capitol, Simon suffered little interference from the governor's office and was routinely granted his appropriations requests from the legislature.

On the other hand, he was given few duties by Ogilvie. He had the constitutional duty of presiding over the senate and himself created the function of "ombudsman" for the office.

That function, however, was strictly unofficial and an attempt by Simon to get the legislature to formally assign the role of ombudsman to the office of lieutenant governor, and give him and eight-man commission to carry it out, never got off the ground.

Ironically, Lt. Governor-elect Neil Hartigan will go into office with fellow Democrat Dan Walker in the governor's chair with no duties whatsoever.

Under the 1970 constitution, the new lieutenant governor will not even have the duty of presiding over the Senate.

His duties will be determined by the governor and the legislature.

With Republicans in control of the House and the Senate, it is unlikely that they will assign any monumental duties to a Democratic lieutenant governor — especially one who is a product of the Daley organization in Chicago — which will add to his stature.

Walker, who inherited Hartigan as a running mate when the Chicago organization elected him over Walker's choice, Neal Eckert of Carbondale, is not likely to assign Hartigan any great tasks unless the new lieutenant governor comes to heel.

He has not done so thus far. Early in their reluctant alliance, Walker publicly called upon Hartigan to resign his post as Democratic committeeman in Chicago's 49th Ward. Hartigan quietly declined to do so, and for the duration of the campaign Walker made no further issue of the point.

ON THE DAY FOLLOWING his election, however, Walker again brought up the point, publicly and in Hartigan's presence. Hartigan, at the same appearance, declared that he would not resign.

That seems clear indication that he sees his future as lying with the Daley organization and in Chicago politics, where he has been attorney for the Chicago Park District, and not with Walker.

That could be a wise choice for Hartigan. Even if he decided to play Walker's ball game, he is not likely to become a favorite of the governor-elect, who owes much of his election success to pointed opposition to the "Daley machine."

However, it leaves Hartigan in the position of fending for himself for the next four years.

Springfield observers anticipate that Hartigan will find things to do — but they will be more for Mayor Daley than for the governor. Hartigan formerly acted as liaison man for Daley in Springfield and he has hinted he will have his own legislative program, which will probably be independent of the wishes of the governor, but not of the mayor of Chicago.

Beyond that, Democrat Neil Hartigan may have less importance under Democrat Dan Walker than Democrat Paul Simon has had under Republican Richard Ogilvie.

Nixon Gives 'America 1st' Slogan New Meaning

by EUGENE V. RISHER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon gave the old "America First" slogan new meaning during his campaign.

The theme he emphasized more than any other during 31,000 miles of travel through 16 states, and in 15 radio and television broadcasts, in quest of reelection was that the United States should remain the strongest nation in the world.

There simply is nobody else around to protect the interest of the free world, he said; nobody else to provide the balance where an imbalance would be disastrous.

Seeking to project an image as the competent manager of the country's affairs who would not bargain away its interests out of any "naive sentimentality," Nixon repeated over and over that George S. McGovern's policies would leave the United States at the mercies of its international rivals — chiefly the Soviet Union and China.

"NEVER SEND the President of the United States to the bargaining table as the leader of the second strongest nation in the world," he said.

As the world moved from confrontation to negotiation, a strong national defense was needed more than ever; if the United States unilaterally cut its conventional forces, if it failed to go ahead with its nuclear force, then it could not expect to wring similar reductions from the Soviets. That was Nixon's argument.

In short, he said, McGovern's proposal to cut more than $30 billion from the defense budget could not be tolerated; it would represent a "new isolation" in which the United States retreated from its responsibilities and opportunities throughout the world.

It would ruin all the patient diplomacy of the last four years, Nixon claimed — diplomacy which had resulted in chipping away 25 years of isolation from China and achieving the first concrete agreement with the Soviet Union limiting nuclear arms.

REINFORCING THIS theme was the breakthrough in the negotiations on Vietnam disclosed 10 days before the election. This enabled Nixon to claim that "peace with honor" was imminent, with only the details to be worked out.

He was able to claim that all American prisoners of war and missing in action would be returned without depending on the "good will of the enemy" and that the people of South Vietnam would not have a Communist or a coalition government imposed on them against their will.

It also enabled him to contrast it with McGovern's proposals, which he claimed would give Hanoi all it wanted without gaining any concessions in return.

On election eve, Nixon said the overriding issue in the election was "peace — peace in Vietnam and the broader issue of peace in the world."

This shows how much things have gone his way since last year when he remarked that whoever tried to make Vietnam an issue in the election would have "the rug pulled out" from under them.

Percy, Walker Gain Stature

Year Of The Maverick In Illinois

by THOMAS A. PLEDGE

In Illinois, 1972 will be remembered as the year of the maverick.

Faunting their political independence Sen. Charles H. Percy and Daniel J. Walker rode a crazyquilt voting pattern to victories and established themselves as figures to be reckoned with in the national political arena.

Percy, a liberal, embraced the Republican national ticket and was embraced in return. But on the Senate floor, Percy at times has found himself at odds with the conservative legislative wishes of President Nixon.

Nixon racked up a record plurality for a Republican presidential candidate in Illinois but Percy, campaigning on the slogan, "He's his own man," outpolled even Nixon.

With more than 97 per cent of the vote counted, Percy led Democratic Rep. Roman C. Pucinski by more than 1.1 million votes.

County Hospitals' Board Won't Ask '73 Tax Hike

The 1973 tax rate request from the commission that operates the two county hospitals will remain the same as last year, despite an increase in the expected expenditures, a spokesman for the commission said yesterday.

John W. B. Hadley, chairman of the finance committee of the health and hospitals governing commission, said the commission will ask the county board for the same appropriation of $125,295,132 for 1973.

The remainder needed to balance the budget at $129,250,071, Hadley said, "will be attained through increased efficiency of collections at Cook County and Oak Forest hospitals," the two hospitals operated by the commission.

The Cook County Board of Commissioners has the authority only to approve or disapprove the hospital budget, but cannot alter the hospital budget on its own.

A PUBLIC HEARING on the hospital budget has been scheduled for Nov. 17 at 4 p.m., in the Hektoen Auditorium, 627 S.

IN WINNING his second Senate term, Percy established himself as a liberal Republican with proven vote-getting ability in an electoral-vote-rich state and a possible challenger to Spiro T. Agnew should the vice president seek the GOP nomination in 1976.

But if he has an eye on the White House, Percy wasn't talking about it. With a grin, he said: "I pledge my best efforts for the next six years."

Walker, in a narrow victory over GOP Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, also established himself as a man to be reckoned with in national politics.

Walker, a maverick Democrat, capitalized on his reputation as an independent and on voter resentment against Illinois' first state income tax to buck the GOP tide and oust Ogilvie. Walker's win came on the heels of an upset victory over Lt. Gov. Paul Simon in the Democratic primary. Simon had the backing of the powerful political organization of Mayor Richard J. Daley in his primary bid against Walker.

Walker, who hiked the length of the state, said his walk had made "an indelible impression" on the people.

Ogilvie blamed his loss on the state income tax, which he instituted two years ago.

The Chicago Democratic organization, jolted by Walker's primary win in March, was shaken again Tuesday by the defeat of Democratic Cook County State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan to Republican Bernard Carey, a former FBI agent.

HANRAHAN, ACQUITTED last month on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice stemming from a 1969 police weapons raid in which two Black Panther party leaders were slain, was the victim of a defeat engineered by black voters who crossed over from the Democratic ticket in massive numbers for the first time in decades. Hanrahan lost at least 10 of Chicago's 14 predominantly black wards.

The Panther case also plagued Hanrahan in the primary. He was first slated by the Democratic party for reelection, but was later dropped and replaced by Judge Raymond Berg. Hanrahan, however, refused to bow out and defeated Berg in the Democratic primary.

Daley, however, was not visibly worried by the defeat. "The Democratic party is not in a shambles," Daley said Wednesday.

Asked if he could work with Walker, Daley replied: "I can work with anyone."

'Mr. Average American' Voted For President Nixon

The man who spent a week traveling with the campaign of Sen. George McGovern said yesterday he voted for Richard Nixon for president.

"I just don't think the man (McGovern) could have carried out the programs he had to offer in the way he would have wanted to," Richard Johnson said yesterday. Johnson was the Rolling Meadows man who was selected this year by the computers of the National Public Affairs Center for Television (NPACT) to appear in several television programs focusing on a representative of middle-class America.

"At first I was pro-Nixon," Johnson admitted, "but when the opportunity to travel with McGovern came up, I gladly accepted the chance. But the purpose was for me to hear and see what other people thought of McGovern."

(Johnson's memoirs of that trip were serialized last week exclusively in the Herald.)

"The thing that really bothered me was the indecision of the people around him," Johnson said. He said the indecision appeared in places like union groups, where after McGovern addressed a gathering people were not sure of their position toward the Democratic candidate.

Johnson said he didn't think McGovern could have carried through with some of the programs he offered the American people, even though Johnson said he agreed with many of the proposals.

"Like Vietnam," Johnson pointed out. "McGovern wanted to end the war and bring the troops home in 90 days, but I don't see how he could have done it. And on tax relief where he offered to provide another $22 million by closing tax loopholes, equalizing the tax burden and returning $15 million for local use. I don't see how that's possible in this age."

JOHNSON, WHO said "I'm really a Democrat at heart," expressed the thought that another candidate, notably Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), might have been a more forceful candidate. In comparing McGovern to Kennedy, Johnson said "I don't want to say that Kennedy has more clout, but he has more power to get done what he wants to get done."

But in praising McGovern, Johnson added, "I wish some of the things that McGovern talked about, Nixon will follow through on."

Johnson conceded that the stigma attached to him by the media of being "Mr. Average American" caused some problems for him, especially as the election grew nearer. "I really was undecided, but because of the position I was in, I didn't want one person to be swayed to Nixon just because I might be for him." He stressed the fact that Nixon was the better choice as far as Richard Johnson was concerned.

"At one point I was leaning toward McGovern when the peace rumors began," Johnson said, adding he thought the timing of the announcement of a possible peace might have been a political

WLS To Put Up Antennas Next Fall

TV Reception To Get Better

Channel 7 (WLS-TV) will construct temporary antennas on the Sears Tower in Chicago next fall, which will eliminate poor television reception in the Northwest suburbs.

Meanwhile, Channel 7 officials contend the severe ghosting or double images being received on Channel 7 by local viewers "will not get any worse."

Spokesmen for the ABC-owned and operated Chicago station said "People in your area right now have all the adverse effect they will ever have."

He added the Northwest suburbs have been hardest hit by the rising Standard Oil Building, which has blocked the signal of Channel 7's antenna. He said the Standard Oil Building and the Sears Tower are at such a height now that reception cannot become any worse.

The Channel 7 transmitter is located atop the Marina Towers office building, a much smaller structure than the towering skyscrapers now being constructed downtown.

Local residents began receiving ghosting on Channel 7 last March and the problem became more severe as construction of the Standard Oil building continued. Channel 7 is the lone major Chicago network affected by the Loop construction. Channel 5 (NBC) and Channel 2 (CBS) transmitters are on the John Hancock Center and thus far there has been little interference.

BUT AS THE Sears Tower continues to rise — the building now is at the 86th floor — the other two major stations will also have interference difficulties. The two stations have not determined whether they will relocate their signals on the Sears Tower.

Channel 11 (WTTW) also plans to install temporary antennas on the Sears Tower next fall. Area residents have reported interference on Channel 11, but not as severe as on Channel 7.

The Sears Tower will be the world's tallest building when completed. Permanent television antennas will not be installed on the massive structure until late in 1974.

Local Artist Displays Work

During the month of November, Lorrie Marsiglio of Schaumburg is exhibiting her paintings in the Schaumburg Township Public Library, 32 Library Ln., Schaumburg.

She is the first artist to display her work in the new library, and coincidentally, it is Mrs. Marsiglio's first exhibit.

The artist said she began sketching as a student and just recently began using oils. Mrs. Marsiglio said her first efforts were paintings of nursery animals for her two sons. These are now on display at the library.

Stylized zodiac signs and tarot cards are another favorite subject. "Although my paintings themselves are products of experimentation, I research my subject carefully," she said.

Mrs. Marsiglio explained that she never has been schooled in the art of oil painting and so she "experiments." She also does work with chalks and water colors.

"I am interested in psychic sciences and when I select a tarot card to paint, I always make sure it's a good sign and one that would be favorable to have around," she added.

Mrs. Marsiglio said at present painting is just a hobby. She also works as a market researcher.

This Year's Mosquito Case May Continue Until 1973

The ongoing legal dispute between the villages of Palatine and Schaumburg over the spraying of a chemical insecticide in the two communities is once again expected to be delayed.

Neither side has completed its research for the case, according to Bradley M. Glass, Palatine village attorney.

The case is scheduled to come up Monday in Cook County Circuit Court, but is expected to be continued for a fourth time.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Court Judge Robert Downing after the judge who heard the preliminary motions, Edward J. Egan, was elevated to the Illinois Appellate Court.

The dispute will resume where it left off rather than beginning anew because of the change of judges.

THE SUIT was brought by the abatement district, challenging local ordinances in Palatine and Schaumburg that prohibit the spraying of Malathion, a mosquito-killing insecticide, within their corporate limits.

The two communities maintain that Malathion has environmental disadvantages, and does little good combating mosquitoes anyway.

The abatement district contends that spraying is a significant part of its overall mosquito abatement program, and the inability to spray in Palatine and Schaumburg hampers the program's effectiveness.

oil company, although he said Clark Oil had expressed interest in the project.

Clark, and two other oil companies Teufel spoke with, agreed to operating a station that would not bear their name.

Russell Parker, zoning board chairman, said he did not object to the service station on aesthetic grounds. Because there are already two stations nearby, he said another was not needed.

BECAUSE OF THE heavy traffic along Schaumburg Road, Teufel said his station would not in the long run take away business from other service stations.

Dunkin' Donuts and other restaurant operators have approached him about the corner, Teufel said. "We feel these buildings would be more obnoxious than what we've proposed," he added.

Because the area is zoned B-2 (business), Teufel does not need a special use permit to construct a restaurant.

The motion of the board voted on included several stipulations, all of which Teufel agreed to.

These included a landscaping buffer for the nearby quadhomes, limiting the hours to 6 a.m. to 12 midnight, beaming station lights down, and eliminating one driveway on Schaumburg Road.

Zoning Board Of Appeals Won't Rule On Gas Station

No recommendation on the proposed construction of a gas station at the Schaumburg Plaza shopping center will be forthcoming from the Schaumburg Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board voted Wednesday on the request for a special use permit to construct the gas station at Carver Lane and Schaumburg Road. Three members voted against the request, two for, and one abstained. Four votes are needed for a recommendation.

The request will go before the village board on Nov. 21, with no recommendation from the zoning board.

James Teufel, the developer of the shopping center, proposed building the gas station utilizing a side only 75 feet by 75 feet.

NO SERVICE BUILDING would be built on the property. Teufel proposed two four-by-six foot warming houses on each gasoline service island. Only gasoline would be sold, he said, and no vehicle repairs or oil changing would take place.

The station would be called the Plaza Pump, and a sign with this name would be the only one on the property. Teufel emphasized he has no contract with any age in the area is not a problem.

Foss also denied additional power is being brought into the area at the request of operators of Woodfield Mall. He said principals of the regional shopping center are unaware of the proposal. However, Foss agreed to provide a community breakdown of residential, commercial and industrial usage.

CONCERNING SAFETY, Foss stressed ComEd safety standards exceed those required by the ICC. Relative to property values, he cited similar installations near Oakbrook and Lake Forest, which are adjacent to homes in the $100,000 price range.

Installation near tollway exchange points is not a problem, he emphasized, noting that ComEd has a history of working with tollroad authorities.

Hoffman Estates Park District use of a Northern Illinois Gas easement will not be curtailed, Foss said. He described extensive baseball and play facilities in a similar high tension pole corridor in Elk Grove.

Plan commission examination of the subject was requested by the village board this week. The resulting report is expected to assist trustees in arriving at a decision concerning formal support or opposition to the project.

The Lighter Side

‘Memorial Heartburn’ On The Menu?

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—While in the Senate restaurant on a recent noontide, consuming a bowl of Ellender Memorial Gumbo, I suffered a mild seizure of angst.

Angst, the first stages of an anxiety complex, may not be as distressing as botulism, but neither is it conducive to the digestion of gumbo.

When beset by angst, it is wise to identify the source of your anxiety and seek to exercise it.

The source of my anxiety was a sudden reminder that the nation's capital has about run out of space in which to immortalize departed heroes and statesmen.

STATUES AND monuments already abound in virtually every park, square, traffic circle and parking lot.

Thoroughfares and landmarks have long since been named for assorted greats and near-greats from America's past. Bodies of water have likewise been preempted.

Occasionally, a new federal building will provide an opportunity for enshrinement. But the roster of greats and near-greats awaiting immortalization is long enough to make the erection of edifices in their honor prohibitively expensive.

More and more, then, we are likely to see a swing to menu memorials.

THE LATE Speaker Joe "Iron Gut" Cannon was the first great or near-great accorded that type of enshrinement. His monument is bean soup.

In 1904, during his tenure as speaker, Cannon — who obviously was more of a parliamentarian than a gourmet — ordered the House restaurant to have bean soup on the menu every day, "hot or cold, rain, snow or shine."

To this very day, the dish is still prepared in his memory.

Either that or his successors forgot to countermand the order.

In any event, Cannon Memorial Bean Soup has now been joined on the Capitol cafe circuit by Ellender Memorial Gumbo.

THE LATE Sen. Allen J. Ellender made a practice of serving Louisiana

Creole Gumbo to his colleagues. Upon his recent death, his colleagues arranged to have his gumbo recipe added to the Senate restaurant menu.

Will congressional menus eventually be composed entirely of dedicatory dishes? Therein lies my angst.

For while Ellender was a pretty good cook, the average great or near-great's idea of haute cuisine is a fricassee of old campaign speeches.

Give them menu immortality and the next enshrinement phase will be memorial heartburns.

The nothing play is a play that can lose or break even, but can't possibly win. Every one of us has made them on occasion.

Some nothing plays are more expensive than others and here is an example of a rather expensive one.

North's 10-point opening bid is not recommended and he wasn't at all happy when South bid game. South's game bid was an overbid in itself. A conservative bidder would have passed to two diamonds; a normal bidder would have tried just two no-trump.

South looked over the dummy unenthusiastically. There was one legitimate play for the contract and South tried it.

He won the spade in his own hand; led his deuce of diamonds and played dummy's eight. East took his king and returned a spade.

Now South led dummy's queen of diamonds. If West had started with jack and one diamond the queen would bump the jack and South would have four diamond tricks.

As you can see the diamonds broke 3-3 and South had no chance. That is, he had no chance except that East came up with a nothing play. He let the queen of diamonds hold!

There was no way that play could gain. Once East ducked, his side could never take more than two diamond tricks.

South was grateful. He led a third diamond and claimed his contract.

State Starts Safety Program To Protect Bicyclists

Illinois has initiated safety programs to make citizens more aware that bicycles are more than toys.

The bike's renewed popularity and increased accident rate have prompted state officials to create new laws requiring additional equipment for bikes, a "Bicycle Rules of the Road" booklet, safety parks and a bicycle safety curriculum for elementary schools.

Approximately 8.9 million Americans bought bikes last year, twice as many persons as a decade ago, according to reports by the Bicycle Institute of America.

The institute also reported that more than 75 million Americans own bikes compared with approximately 55 million in the late 1960s. That equals two bicycles for every three cars.

Cycling's new popularity has caused the number of bike accidents to skyrocket, according to William F. Cellini, secretary of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Bike accidents killed 50 Illinois citizens and injured an additional 3,348 last year, according to department reports.

NATIONAL SAFETY Council officials predict approximately 890 cyclists will be killed nationwide this year from collisions with automobiles. Another 130 persons are expected to die from other types of accidents while on bikes.

Gove, Richard B. Ogilvie said he is trying to counter this rise in the number of bike accidents by approving legislation which will enable others on the road to see cyclists better after dusk.

All bicycles sold after Jan. 1, 1973 must be equipped with front and rear reflectors on each pedal. Individual pedals sold after that date must also have front and rear reflectors. These reflectors must be visible 200 feet away.

Another new law will require bikes to be equipped with additional reflectors six months later. All bicycles sold after July 1, 1973 must have reflectors on the front and rear of each bike, on each pedal and on each side of the wheels.

Signs and pavement markings will be placed along officially designated bicycle routes in the state, since the governor approved a bill authorizing the use of motor fuel taxes for that purpose in August 1971.

Illinois bicycle enthusiasts now have their own versions of the rules of the road manual. "Bicycle Rules of the Road" manual, "Bicycle Rules of the Road" manual, contains information about the bicycle's history, its part in the modern traffic picture, various designs of bicycles and their performance characteristics, maintenance tips, explanation of traffic signs, signals and pavement markings, rules for safe behavior and the traffic laws applying to bicycles.

ALTHOUGH THE booklet is designed for elementary school children, it contains facts useful to anyone who cycles.

Danville's police department, Loves Park and North Park's Harlem School District 122 and Peoria's Council for Responsible Driving have built off-street facilities in their own communities where elementary school children can be instructed in a controlled, yet realistic situation.

These safety parks consist of miniature streets and sidewalks with standard traffic control signs, signals and pavement markings. Bicycles and small battery-operated cars are used as vehicles. Youngsters who cannot ride bikes yet use the miniature cars.

Children receive classroom instruction about traffic signs and rules, either in their schools or at the parks, before they are guided through the course.

The Illinois Department of Transportation has allocated $35,000 to the Loves Park (near Rockford) and North Park (near Chicago) projects, $32,000 to the Danville police department and $78,680 to the Peoria safety park.

Illinois has the nation's only comprehensive curriculum for teaching bicycle safety to school children from kindergarten through fifth grade.

Tailored to each group's comprehension abilities, the curriculum provides lesson plans for each grade, including suggested teaching materials and learning activities.

When The Snow Falls, It's Time To 'Re-Tire'

While millions of skiers look to the sky and think "snow," millions of motorists should look at their car and think "tires."

"Winter weather brings hazardous driving conditions to their peak," says Ross R. Ormsby, chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council. "Both the safety and the mobility of the driver and car are put to the utmost test. Proper tires will give a district advantage during the rough months ahead."

Tips on winter tire care:

—Consider the weather conditions you expect to encounter in your area, and make sure you have the proper type tires your car will need.

—In areas where long months of glare ice and hard packed snow prevail, safety studded snow tires have been found to provide increased starting and stopping ability plus improved cornering, and greater maneuverability. Always check your state's limitations to make sure you comply with any restricted periods of use for studded tires.

—Snow tires with an open tread pattern and deep tread grooves are recommended for cars in areas where snow and ice may be periodically found on the roads.

CHECK INFLATION regularly. Changing temperatures affect a tire's air pressure. For every 10 degree drop in temperature, a tire's pressure goes down about one pound.

—"Bald tires" — tires worn to a tread groove depth of 1/16 inch — are dangerous even when road conditions are excellent due to the possibility of sudden disengagement. For safety's sake get rid of them.

—Winter tires deserve the same

"break-in" period as do regular tires. It is recommended speeds not exceed 60 miles per hour during the first 50 miles of driving.

—Deflating your tires in order to get additional traction in snow is an "old wives' tale." Deflating your tires means decreased traction in snow or ice.

Caring for your car, and especially its tires, can mean a world of difference this winter, but don't defeat your purpose by driving carelessly.

KNIT

the "Live-Action" shirt

It gets you out of the TIGHT SPOTS

Body freedom! You can have it now. Arrow introduces a leisure shirt that understands a man's torso. It gives. And it stretches. It moves as you move. Result: No tight spots. We call it "The Scrambler." Named for the great Minnesota Viking quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, because he's got a genius for getting out of tight spots.

A man of action deserves this shirt. Pick the small neat pattern, choose the bold. All make you look strong, feel loose.

Get into the action now, during "Scrambler Week" at our place.

'I Will Return,' Ed Hanrahan Vows

Cook County State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, defeated in his reelection bid largely by the defection of traditionally Democratic black voters, said Thursday he thought Mayor Richard J. Daley could have done more to help in the wards that had gone Republican.

At his first news conference since the election Hanrahan was asked what terms he is on with the mayor.

"Well, they're cordial," he said. "We discussed the returns as they were coming in. We shared a sigh, I suppose."

But asked if the mayor could have done more to help him Hanrahan replied, "He certainly could. He could have carried those wards we didn't carry."

HANRAHAN SPOKE without apparent rancor. In contrast to his frequent shows of temperament during the campaign, he was soft-spoken and controlled.

He gave a short laugh when asked how he felt election night.

"I come from the West Side of Chicago and I went to Notre Dame," he said. "There's nothing I hate worse than defeat, but you can't roll over and cry."

"As General MacArthur said, I will return."

Hanrahan got only about 38 per cent of the vote in the city's 15 predominately black wards, which contributed about 58,000 votes to the 129,000 vote margin won by GOP victor Bernard Carey.

HANRAHAN SAID he felt some well-known blacks such as Jesse Jackson, who he refuses to call a leader had made black voters believe he had not helped them.

"We have done everything we could to stop the horrible crimes that are perpetrated against people," he said. "And I must accept the blame that we were never able to get our message across to them."

Hanrahan also said the 1969 Black Panther raid and the "united nonsupport" of Chicago's press had worked against him. He said some persons had refused to accept the fact that he was acquitted of all charges in the Panther case.

"I'm sorry that incident (the raid) occurred, but I'm sorrier the truth about it was never fully reported," he said.

Hanrahan did not outline his future plans ("my first plans are to put up my storm windows"), but he said, "I'll be around. I'll be around in 1974 and I'll be around in 1975 the year of the mayoralty election."

St. Viator State Scholars Named

One in every five seniors at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights has been declared an Illinois State Scholar by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

The funds they will receive will depend upon the school they will attend, the amount of family income and family size. The scholarship commission gives its aid to Illinois students attending private and public colleges and universities in the state, with larger grants going to students who attend the more costly private schools.

The 48 St. Viator students who qualified for the state scholarship recognition are:

From Mount Prospect: Robert Blandford, Michael Brickley, James Bristol, William Carley, Andrew Dorner, Robert Mathews, James Meyer, James Miller, Michael Mitchell, Lawrence Moran, Mark Pugh, Sean Reilly and Robert Tess.

From Palatine: Timothy Deger, Gregory Dunn, James Solari and David Thredy.

From Elk Grove Village: John Kane.

From Rolling Meadows: Stephen Coppetta.

From Schaumburg: Gregory Maine.

From Prospect Heights: Thomas Nor-

'Peanuts' Video Cartoons Still Pulling In The Viewers

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:
The ratings: CBS-TV's half-hour cartoons based on the "Peanuts" comic strips continue to be one of video's sure-fire ratings attractions . . . The newest one, "You're elected, Charlie Brown," came in ninth among 78 broadcasts in the national rankings for the week ending Oct. 29 . . . And it finished second only to the country's No. 1 hit series, "All in the Family," in the ratings for the top 70 markets . . . On the other hand, the Beatles, animated movie, "Yellow Submarine," that immediately followed the new "Peanuts" cartoon on CBS-TV did poorly in the national rankings, coming in 57th.

"All in the Family" star Carroll O'Connor did pretty well in audience pull with his recent special outing on CBS-TV in "Of Thee I Sing," the 90-minute video adaptation of the 1931 Pulitzer Prize-winning musical satire about a presidential candidate who runs on a platform of love . . . With O'Connor as the nominee, "Of Thee I Sing" placed a respectable 24th in the national statistics and 23rd in the 70-market survey . . . The CBS-TV movie, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," with Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn and Sidney Poitier, came in a potent fourth in the national ratings even though it was a rerun.

ABC-TV's No. 1 teleplay "That Certain Summer," in which Hal Holbrook portrayed a divorced man faced with explaining his homosexuality to his 14-year-old son, got the highest overnight New York City rating of any of the network's popular "Movie of the Week" entries this season . . . Last Sunday's half-hour CBS-TV special by the young pop music group called The Jackson 5 — a tryout for a possible series — also did pretty well in the New York overnights, stronger in the statistics than the low-rated new Yul Brynner comedy series it pre-empted, "Anna and the King" . . . but the night's top ratings-getter was Peter Falk's NBC-TV police detective series, "Columbo," which smashed all opposition.

The headlines: Joe Namath is scheduled as the substitute host for Johnny Carson on NBC-TV's "Tonight" Show Dec. 1 — the last program of the series' three-week visit to New York from California . . . The visit starts Monday . . . Twigg and Charles Aznavour have joined NBC-TV's Jan. 17 "Cole Porter in Paris" musical tribute to the composer, an hour special that also includes Louis Jourdan, Diahann Carroll and Connie Stevens . . . Same network's Flip Wilson series is reported in the trade press to be bringing $88,000 for a minute of advertising . . . On his show tonight, Wilson introduces a new comedy characterization to his repertoire: Jiva Koolit, a guru from Tibet.

SINGER Wayne Newton guest-stars on ABC-TV's "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law" Nov. 30 as a young philosophy instructor charges with the mercy-killing of his abnormal newborn son . . . Barbara Walters of NBC-TV's "Today" program does a soft shoe dance with Dinah Shore when she visits the singer's daily morning series on the same network Nov. 21 . . . "Today" host Frank McGee and Miss Walters, this Saturday and Sunday begin a new series of interview broadcasts about health and medicine on NBC radio's weekend "Monitor" show.

The programs: "The Gray Panthers," a Philadelphia-based organization that fights for the rights of the elderly, will be the subject of the season premiere of ABC-TV's "Directions" Sunday . . . also Sunday CBS-TV's "Look Up and Live" airs the first half of a two-part study of the influence of value systems as soon in Israeli institutions . . . The non-commercial video network's "International Performance" series tonight offers an hour French production, "Splendors of Versailles," which attempts to give a visual idea of the court of Louis XIV by presenting a musical tour through the historic palace.

The Hollywood Scene

by Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The movie version of the "The Naked Ape" involves no nudity and precious few apes, but writer-director Donald Driver does preserve the humor and sardonic observations of the bestseller.

Driver is small of stature, large of wit and massively bright.

He's also courageous. He has converted anthropologist Desmond Morris's book into a daring film concept.

"I call it a multimedia film," Driver explained. "I've used paintings, gymnastics, music, animation and dialogue scenes to bring the book to the screen."

"It's not dependent on a simple linear plot structure."

"The subject is treated comically, as it was in the book, and meant to be entertaining."

TAKING THIS SORT of chance, naturally the picture could be a great success or a dreadful failure. But I'm confident it will succeed.

In remaining true to the book, Driver attempts to delineate mankind from primate to the present. He spent some $50,000 to build 13 statues of man demonstrating his development from ape to homo sapiens.

But has he managed to evolve a plot from Morris' text?

"Yes and no," Driver hedged.
"The audience becomes involved with the three principal characters. The only way to make a unique film these days is to involve the audience in something it cares about very deeply."

"What I've done is concentrated on the last 25,000 years. Of course it took more than 2 million years to arrive at the point human beings find themselves now — as aggressive, territorial, sexual hunters and carnivores."

"The entire picture, like the book, is based on the fact that man is unwilling — unable — to admit he is essentially an animal."

"That's the absolute truth. The book is a biological treatise on mankind as seen as simian and primate. But men spend most of their time pretending to be primarily spiritual beings. It's a terrible deception."

"BUT RATHER THAN make a strong case for the truth, we have fun with what modern man believes to be the facts."

In raising the money for his promotion, Driver first interested Universal. The studio backed away when Driver mixed the idea of costarring Charlton Heston and Raquel Welch as the leads.

Then he piqued the interest of Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, who bankrolled the picture for $750,000. Universal put up an equal amount and Driver was off with the apes.

Driver managed to receive a GP rating on his film. Moreover, "The Naked Ape" is scheduled to be released to the public at Easter.

An Italian Finally Got 'Valachi Papers' On Film

by VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Italian producer Dino De Laurentiis has done what no American filmmaker has had the intestinal fortitude to do: bring "The Valachi Papers" to the screen.

"The Valachi Papers" are to "The Godfather" what fact is to fiction.
The redoubtable De Laurentiis brushed aside veiled threats from the Mafia, red tape from the U.S. government and awaited the death of Mafia chieftain Vito Genovese before making his film.

"One of the reasons many Americans were afraid to make this picture was the reaction of Italian-Americans," said De Laurentiis.

"Well, I am an Italian. I could do it without being accused of many things. But I say also there are 22 million Italians in the United States. My picture involves only 5,000 mobsters."

"No good Italian will identify with these criminals."
NEITHER IS De Laurentiis concerned with reprisals from the Mafia.

"In my country there is organized crime, of course," he explained. "But the Mafia works on a different basis over there. They are involved in land ownership and agriculture — not prostitution, dope and gambling."

"What interests me is that 'the Valachi Papers' was on the best-seller list for 26 weeks, but no one in America bought it for the movies."

"So I bought it in 1968 before 'The Godfather' was published. But I couldn't get anyone to work with me on distribution. They were afraid."

"When Vito Genovese died in February, 1969, I started production. I don't glamorize the gangsters like they do in 'The Godfather.' That one is a pro-Mafia movie. Mine is historic fact."

De Laurentiis is a brusque man of strong opinions and full of kinetic action. He speaks bluntly and forcefully.

"After three weeks shooting in New York I heard from the Italian-American League. They wanted me to delete the words Mafia and Cosa Nostra from my picture, also the names of Genovese, Luciano, Maranzano and Masseria."

"I MOVED the picture to Rome right away and kept shooting. I told them to call the author of the book and sue him if they objected."

"Yes, Italians are proud people. But this film has nothing to do with Italians. It deals with facts. If it were fiction that would be altogether different."

"Organized crime is a plague to society and someone must have the guts to denounce it on the screen. If it is an Italian who does this, so much the better."

The producer and director Terrance Young are at pains not to make any of the Cosa Nostra characters even slightly sympathetic. The audience cannot take sides, as it did in "The Godfather."

There are no good Mafiosi in De Laurentiis' picture because he is convinced there is no such animal as a good killer.

Using documentary techniques and a largely unknown cast — with the exception of Charles Bronson — "The Valachi Papers" is an exciting picture that makes "The Godfather" look like a musical comedy.

LOOK AROUND.
 First, at your own school. Look around. And, if you see problems — real or potential, stop for a minute and think. What are you facing now? Drugs? Threats of bussing? Little or no challenge inside or outside of the classroom? Wasted time? Well, if that's the case, look around. It's time!

You see, St. John's Military Academy is a no-nonsense school. Built on a tradition stemming back to 1884. Yet, as modern and progressive as a new day.

St. John's develops boys into men for the future. Emphasis is on character, leadership, personal responsibility and academic excellence.

The proper amount of discipline leads to an overwhelming amount of pride. Our cadets have it. Pride in everything they do for their family, for their country and for their God.

It's a non-permissive approach to education. And we believe that it will be around for a long time to come.

That is, if you look around to us.

Sign Removal: One Approach

There's more than one way to encourage the removal of landscape-blotting billboards from highways

The state of Oregon, it seems, has developed a policy of encouraging billboard operators to take the initiative in getting rid of signs on interstate and primary roads.

If the system clears the Oregon legislature, the plan might well be considered in other states, such as Illinois.

Briefly, Oregon finds that in order to receive federal highway funds, it must meet certain standards as to billboard removal.

After six years of discussion, Oregon and the federal government have agreed on a system which rewards billboard owners more lucratively than available under other plans.

Payment is based on a formula that provides 34 times the monthly income of the sign. That's roughly $200 to $225 per sign higher than any previous government-approved formula under study in other states — and it will cost some $600,000 more in state funds to pay the bill for this.

Understandably, formal approval is up to the lawmakers. But there's a catch which makes the program a little more desirable to those opposed to billboards but concerned about the information they supply to passing motorists.

The Oregon law calls for establishment of a Travel Information Council to handle billboard regulation and to plan tourist information centers. And highway "logo" signs have been added on Interstate 5 in Oregon to advise motorists about upcoming services.

Illinois is moving in the same direction, too. A compensation formula is being worked out for owners of billboards who've registered their signs with the state — and state officials report they registered 18,000 billboards before the Sept. 28 deadline.

The truth is that we've got to pay for a landscape free of unsightly billboards. If we choose not to pay the price tag — whether in local, state or federal tax dollars — we're stuck with the signs

If we should follow in Oregon's pattern, we perhaps could clean up the landscape while still providing traveler information. We'd only hope that Oregon's strategy — roadside information booths — doesn't blot the landscape as billboards now do.

Fish Lib

Scientists have discovered a funny thing about a little fish inhabiting Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

It seems that the basic social unit among "Labroides dimidiatus," commonly called wrasse, is a male with a harem of three to six females. The male dominates the females and the larger females dominate the smaller females.

The funny thing is that when the male dies, the No. 1 female begins to undergo a sex reversal, and after 14 to 18 days becomes a biologically true male. She — or, rather, he — then takes over the harem.

Zoologist D. R. Robertson of the University of Queensland theorizes that any female wrasse is capable of becoming a male but domination by the male represses this natural tendency. Once the domination is removed, the female's potential for leadership is permitted to come forth.

Everybody and his uncle is drawing human lessons from animal behavior these days. The temptation to do the same with the wrasse is too great to resist.

Will the women's liberation movement result in the emergence of increasingly masculine females, who will lord it over other females?

Will the male of the human species become increasingly feminized under the stress of this challenge to his leadership?

Did the person who first called a henpecked husband a "poor fish" know something the scientists are just finding out?

A New Odor Test

The Environmental Protection Agency is trying to come up with a way of measuring odor pollution.

It proposes adoption of a test in which a panel of eight persons sniff air containing, varying concentrations of some odiferous substance. When half the panel can detect the odor, this constitutes one "odor unit." Presumably, a plant emitting too many "odor units" would be subject to penalties.

Some critics question how scientific such a test is. But as a Supreme Court justice said in another connection, you may not be able to define obscenity but you sure know it when you see it — or in this case, smell it.

Some Advice On Losing

by BOB LAHEY
Political Editor

Eddie is three and a half, going on 35, and one of these days after tomorrow he will let me in on how he expects to make a living in this world.

If he decides to be a professional football player, I suppose I'll worry about twisted knees and separated shoulders and that sort of thing.

He may decide to go to sea, and then there will be weeks to contemplate squalls, typhoons and monsters of the deep.

Maybe his busy little mind will lead him into the world of art or letters, and then of course I'll wonder about how he is going to get enough to eat.

Whatever he chooses, I know I'll find reasons to worry about him. But whichever field he picks, I am resolved not to argue with him that he may get his head busted, be doomed to a watery grave, or starve to death.

It could be that he will confide in me that he wants to go into politics. At that point, I will sit down to have a long talk with him.

Not that I would try to oppose the idea of a political career for an already experienced campaigner who learned a long time ago where to go for contributions of lollipops (the barber shop), pretzels (the butcher shop), Tootsie Rolls (the liquor store) and pennies (grandpa).

I would no more try to talk him out of politics than I would try to dissuade him from a career as a skydiver, whatever the cost to me and his mother in nervous tension. I have this notion that to try to divert a young man from his dream can result only in a wasted effort or a wasted dream.

So if he wants to be a football player, I will sit on the sidelines and watch proudly but nervously; if he goes to sea, I will wish him a safe harbor; if he wishes to be an artist, I'll buy the paints and brushes.

If he goes into politics, I will give him this advice:

It is possible to succeed in politics and remain a gentleman. And I will tell him about Paul Simon.

It is possible to fail in an election and remain a gentleman. And I will tell him about Paul Simon.

I'll also tell him about some of the people it has been my pleasure to meet in the last year or so, who went out against overwhelming odds and conducted creditable campaigns in situations of various degrees of hopelessness.

There are the Don Normans, who when they consider themselves to have been unfairly treated and thus damaged in their campaign by a newsman, greet the considered offender on election day with a smile and a handshake.

There are the Bill Roses, who go into an uphill fight knowing in their hearts they cannot win, but who give it 100 per cent effort and finish a campaign having educated several thousand people to a dissenting point of view.

There are the Ed Franks, who go into even more hopeless campaigns because of belief in a principle, and having taken their thrashing, vow to come back again.

There are the Ann Matasars, who start as amateurs and finish as pros, thoroughly schooled in the problems pertinent to their campaigns and with a political future which only needs pursuing to bring success.

They are losers, those I've named. And you don't ordinarily set up losers as an example to a young man intent on a dream.

But in politics, if you are going to win in the end, you must know how to lose. It is not that you must lose, but that you must know how.

To be a serious political candidate means to give a great deal of yourself and to make yourself vulnerable to disappointment and sometimes humiliation.

For any election to have meaning, there must be a loser who has given the full effort, and with it has provided the people a choice.

For those named here, and for all the hundreds of others who spent themselves in losing campaigns, there should be a medal struck.

Fence Post Letters To The Editor

'...Where Men Have Died'

Face the West on Armistice Day. How often we have heard this saying, face the west and say a prayer for those who have died, maimed or those left to mourn. How many battlefields have been made red with the blood of our men? Flanders Field where poppies grow, white crosses mark the graves of those fallen in battle. Wars will continue as long as men are greedy, men who persecute, or wish to glorify their names, to make a mark in history. We Americans have had our blood shed on battlefields in many parts of the world. Wars to end all wars. We Americans, have much to be grateful for, we live in a land where our fields yield food for many starving countries, not fields for slaughter. Why then, are those who have been protected under her just laws make mockery of her fighting men, her laws, and above all her GLORIOUS FLAG? So many have desecrated her flag; flying it upside down, sitting on it, and even spitting on it. This flag so desecrated flies proudly, held in respect by those who know and understand the meaning of it.

Face West, on November 11, and pray for peace, pray God bring our men home from prison camps, from the grisly battlefields. Hope never dies in the hearts of the courageous men. Some day we will have peace all over the world, if only men were guided by their hearts and not their military strength.

On Flanders Field the poppies grow, in Viet Nam the rice waves gently in the breeze where men have died.

Reader Lauds Dist. 214 Salary Article

I would like to comment on your editorial "Salary Dispute Can Be Resolved". This article appeared in Tuesday's edition of the Herald.

It concerned itself with the 1972 salary negotiations between teachers and Dist. 214. As a teacher, taxpayer, and subscriber I thank you for this article. I think it would be a good settlement. I hope it has the same effect on the right people.

Ed Hanrahan: Why He Lost

by ROGER CAPELLINI

Talk to a dozen people this week and you'll get 12 different ideas about just how State's Atty. Edward (Fast Eddie) Hanrahan managed to lose his campaign for reelection to Bernard Carey, the man not too many people figured had a chance.

All the explanations for Hanrahan's defeat, which he was calling victory early Tuesday in his typical style, are legitimate. But they're not as different as their respective proponents seem to think.

Sooner or later, they all boil down to the same thing — Fast Eddie, through the auspices of his caustic tongue, managed to give 60 per cent of the voters at least one good reason to dislike him.

It almost seemed Hanrahan was doing everything he could think of to alienate as many voters as possible.

He attacked so many groups, everyone lost count. One of Carey's campaign slogan's found wide acceptance — "Everyone is out of step except Hanrahan."

But there has been only minor mention of one factor which may have been a major factor in cooling off Hanrahan's illustrious political career.

He never should have gotten into a squabble with Carey's wife.

The incident didn't get too much play in the papers, but apparently what it got was enough to cost Hanrahan some votes. And obviously he couldn't afford to lose any.

After a name-calling session with Carey on a television show, Hanrahan is said to have continued the invective on his way out of the studio. Before it was over, Hanrahan reportedly snarled a few words to Carey's wife, Mary Rita, something to the effect, "You can have him."

It really wasn't any big thing, except some people apparently took it that way. Reports from several south suburban townships which were supposed to be Hanrahan strongholds, indicated many women, including many Democratic women, immediately defected from Fast Eddie's camp.

For them, finally Hanrahan had gone too far. They could accept Hanrahan's war with everyone else to that point. But now he had taken on Mary Rita Carey, and even many Democratic women feel she is "a little doll."

For the first time they realized what was meant by the phrase describing Hanrahan as "temperamentally unfit." Finally they saw that Hanrahan simply can't control his emotions.

And they voted against him.

Now it is more appropriate to consider what Hanrahan will do next, rather than why he lost.

There are many opinions on that too.

The most common theory voiced so far is that he will become a judge. Hanrahan is saying — not yet anyway.

But if he's temperamentally unfit to be a prosecutor, imagine him as a judge. Every defendant to come before him would be requesting a change of venue, especially if the defendant happens to be black.

A second possibility was mentioned by Hanrahan himself.

During another television confrontation, Hanrahan told Chicago Tribune Editor Clayton Kirkpatrick that Edward Hanrahan could do a better job of running the newspaper.

Maybe he'll open up his own paper and show the rest of the newspaper world how it should be done.

That doesn't sound bad. It sure would make for some interesting reading. But you'd have to wonder how Hanrahan would react to criticism of his paper half as fiery as that he has heaped on other papers for years.

The third alternative is by far the most attractive and it's the one Hanrahan specifically mentioned within a few days of the election. "I'll learn how to play the piano proficiently," Hanrahan said, or something to that effect.

Who knows, maybe in a few years, when he gets good enough, we'll see Hanrahan in a concert hall, playing classical music.

That might suit him well. Artists are excused for having explosive temperaments. But pity the poor music critic who suggests the artists hits some keys harder than others.

Or, if Hanrahan decided to go in another direction, we might find him at a piano-bar in a nightclub, playing a medley of "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head," "Where Did All the Flowers Go," and "I'll Get By."

But picture the poor drunk who interrupts, requesting, "Play a little 'Melancholy Baby,' will ya fella?"

He'll wish he had voted for Hanrahan.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A wave of construction of budget motels, charging less than $10 a night for single occupancy and sometimes as little as $11 for a couple, is cutting the cost of travel in the United States.

Day's Inns of Atlanta, which operates 28 budget hotels, says in newspaper advertisements — "Mr. Salesman, if you paid more than $8 for your room tonight, you paid too much!"

Laventhol, Kreksten, Horwath & Horwath, statisticians of the lodging industry, named eight chains of budget motels in operation with a total of 206 motels and seven other chains organized to operate budget motels that haven't yet built any.

Lowest cost of those already in operation are Motel 6 of Santa Barbara, Calif., with 96 units at $6.60 a night and Scottish Inns of America, Kinston, Tenn., 26 motels at $6 a night. Econo-Travel Motor Inns of Norfolk, Va., with 28 establishments, charges $7.50 a night for a single room. Also in the $8 class with Day's is Thrift Inns of Newport News, Va., with five motels. Happy Inns of Orlando, Fla., and Chalet Motor Lodges of Nashua, N.H., with 11 units between them, are around $9 and Imperial "400" of Englewood Cliffs, N.J., charges an average of $10 at its 104 units.

BUDGET MOTELS THAT have been organized but not yet in business include Friendly Inns of Carlisle, Pa., Family Inns of Rocky Mount, N.C., Southern Scottish Inns of New Orleans, Regal 8 Inns of Mt. Vernon, Ill., Country Squire Inns of Perry, Ga., and Overnight Inns, which hasn't even set up a headquarters.

The huge Holiday Inns, Inc., is in the budget motel business in a tiny way. It has some little fiber glass cabinette junior inns with rates as low as $6. Kemmons Wilson and Wallace Johnson of Memphis, founders of Holiday Inns, didn't go too far with the junior inn venture partly because they ran into bitter opposition from Adolph and Joel Kriscin.

Snowmobile Accidents Are Booming

They control American Motor Inns of Roanoke, Va., the largest single Holiday Inn franchise operator.

John Lesure, Orlando, Fla., partner in Laventhol, Kreksten, Horwath & Horwath and the company's motel expert, said the budget motel is the greatest competitive threat that the motel and hotel industry faces. He said the budget motels appeal primarily to salesmen and "to the family en route to a destination, including campers." He said neither of these traveling types wants swimming pools or television, nor does he care if there is no bar or no restaurant in the motel. In his 1972 report on motel industry trends, Lesure pointed out that the operating costs of motels without restaurants or bars are usually at least 20 per cent below those of the full service motels.

LESURE TOLD United Press International the big motel chains provoked the budget hotel movement in two ways. They built too many fancy motels and, when occupancy began to fall off two years ago, they tried to compensate by raising room prices sharply.

The $18 and $20 a night rate for double occupancy was already common two years ago. But during 1971, this rate was pushed up to $22 and even as high as $27 including sales taxes.

Single occupancy rates at the more elaborate motels have ranged from $14 up this year. Lesure said a 2 per cent increase in occupancy rates the first four months of 1972 helped the standard motels somewhat but that competition from the new budget chains is becoming a real challenge.

A set of rules for protecting more than your pocketbook — though that, too was proposed by the American Society of Oral Surgeons at its recent annual meeting.

ASOS members are the surgical specialists who repair broken faces, and they're concerned about something that can entail not only heavy medical expenses but disfigurement and death — the mushrooming number of snowmobile accidents.

It's estimated by the Federal Safety Board that more than a million snowmobiles are now in use in the United States. The surgical society has called on the federal government to set strict safety standards for them, because of "a tragic rise in mishaps — many of which have caused serious injuries to the victims' faces."

A RESEARCH team of the highly regarded Marshfield Clinic in Wisconsin reported to the society on a three-year study of snowmobile accidents:

- More than one in 10 of the injured drivers were less than 10 years of age.
- Half of the injured drivers had been operating snowmobiles less than a year.

The society's recommendations for safety standards call for state laws setting a minimum age for drivers, and the promotion of safety instruction courses. Such legislation is likely to be slow in coming. For their own protection, meanwhile, snowmobilers should bear in mind the high accident rate when children are allowed to operate these potentially lethal machines — and the high rate for novice drivers, suggesting careful and conservative operation for beginners who want to avoid broken faces.

THE MARSHFIELD Clinic study included these additional findings, which speak for themselves if you'd avoid accidents:

- Three-fourths of the mishaps occurred at night.
- More than half — 51 per cent — took place in open fields, filled with hidden hazards.
- Three-fourths of the injured had not been wearing a snowmobile suit, helmet, or face protector.

DR. RICHARD A. Peters of the clinic condemned most helmets used by snowmobilers as "totally inadequate." Too many drivers settle for the inexpensive, plastic helmets commonly used by motorcyclists. Their only virtue is that they sell for about $10. They tend to become brittle at low temperatures, said Dr. Peters, urging riders to wear the newer fiberglass helmets — even though a good one costs about $45.

A $35 saving is poor economy, needless to say, considering the hazards of a fractured skull or broken face. Face shields also drew Dr. Peters' criticism. Not only do they tend to fog up, he said, but do little or no good in preventing injuries. The clinic group already has contacted manufacturers to urge marketing of a combination helmet with a metal cage-shield, similar to those worn by football players.

Nonetheless, the public will be attracted back to the fold in greater or lesser numbers. Anyone taking bets on whether the market will sink or swim in coming months should know that Frank Cross of Niederhoffer, Cross & Zeckhauser, Inc. gives favorable odds of 83 per cent for continued bullishness. Since historically there is a seasonal tendency favoring upswing, and the "speculation index" is very bullish, Cross recommends buyers be fully invested.

Shortage Of Oil, Gas Is A Big Worldwide Problem

by NICHOLAS DANILOFF
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The figures being collected in State Department Room 3524A — the Office of Fuels and Energy — are chilling for ordinary consumers, captains of industry, and high policy makers.

James E. Akins, the soft-spoken but articulate director of Room 3524A, spelled out in an interview the consequences to the United States of the world energy crisis and the continuing shortages of oil, natural gas and electricity.

—The federal government may ask automakers to produce more efficient cars. American cars consume about 100 trillion gallons of gasoline a year.

—Oregon's lead in banning the convenient, flip-top aluminum can could spread across the United States. It takes approximately 10 times as much energy to produce an aluminum can as the old-fashioned tin can.

—Electricity rates may be changed to encourage more rational usage of electricity. Large consumers may be charged more, rather than less. Rates for off-peak hours may be lowered to encourage use of domestic appliances after 9 p.m. when commercial and industrial demands ease off.

ARE ELECTRIC tooth brushes and carving knives really necessary?

—Tougher standards for insulation in new homes may be promoted. Loss of heat is a significant factor in the consumption of heating oil.

These are some possible domestic measures that might be taken to ease the situation, Akins suggested. A career foreign service officer with experience in Lebanon, Syria and Kuwait, Akins jokes sardonically about the "throwaway U.S. economy."

For example, he said, "the over-lighting of U.S. houses, tends to raise their inside temperatures. This contributes to an overuse of air conditioners."

The heart of the problem is the fact that the United States can no longer supply its own needs in oil or natural gas. U.S. oil production will run about 12 million barrels a day in 1972, for example, while consumption will be about 16.6 million barrels a day.

"The United States is now the world's largest importer of oil and the situation shows every sign of getting worse," Akins told a conference on energy at the Middle East Institute in September. "In 1970 we imported 3.2 million barrels per day of oil; in 1971, 3.7; this year imports rose to 4.5 million barrels a day, and next year, the estimates are nearly six million barrels a day."

The long-range forecast is sobering, both from the standpoint of the drain on the already unfavorable U.S. balance of payments and the importance of oil imports to national security.

"The rate of growth in oil imports is increasing and, with currency adjustments, the amount paid per barrel has also gone up," Akins said. "With the further price increases we expect, and with prospective imports of 12 million barrels a day in 1980, the net cost to the U.S. could be over $10 billion a year, taking into account company remittances and the most optimistic figures on increased U.S. exports connected with this trade."

THE UNITED STATES is not alone in its need. Western Europe consumed 12 million barrels of oil a day in 1970. Japan consumed about 3.5 million barrels a day in 1970 and is expected to consume 10 million a day by 1980.

The threatening oil situation has been a long time in developing. When Western oil companies began exploiting the Middle East oil reserves in the period between the two world wars, they obtained exceedingly favorable concessions. They made big profits. And they took unusual risks.

In 1960 the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) was formed to combat the erosion of crude oil prices that occurred in the late 1950s. The oil exporting countries at first achieved only minor success in bolstering the price of crude oil.

Then came the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. The war closed the Suez Canal, forcing Europe to increase its dependence on Libyan oil. The hostilities increased the antipathy of the Arabs towards the Western countries because of their alleged sympathies for Israel. And when the radical 29-year-old Col. Mommer Al-Khadafy toppled Libyan King Idris in 1969, a confrontation developed.

Libya spearheaded a movement aimed at the Western oil companies to increase their payments to the oil producing countries. With Western oil demand steadily increasing, the companies had to agree to sharp increases in payments in 1971.

As a result, crude oil prices have climbed. And they give every indication of rising higher and higher.

The U.S. diplomatic establishment, along with other federal agencies, is now searching for a solution. Secretary of State William P. Rogers has assigned Akins, 46, a major role in the effort.

Here are some of the conclusions which diplomats such as Akins are discussing with Congress, the oil companies, other diplomats, scholars and experts.

—THE ENERGY crisis must be viewed in its over-all proportions, not just as an oil problem, nor even as a natural gas problem, or an electricity shortage problem, or just an American problem. Energy is a "continuum." A shortage in one area of energy supply leads to greater demands on the other areas, a lack of oil increases demand for electricity, and natural gas.

—The United States, Japan and Western Europe are all in the same boat. They must face the future together, preferably in cooperation, not cut-throat competition. Together they must find new supplies — clean nuclear energy, solar power, geo-thermal power, the power of the oceans' tides and other exotic methods — as well as consume the traditional reserves.

—The United States should move vigorously to build the Alaska pipeline to bring North Slope oil to the United States. This will make available two million barrels a day — not enough to solve the crisis but to temper it mildly. The United States should also push the search for offshore oil elsewhere — despite the environmentalists.

—The United States should give serious consideration to investing in the exploitation of Venezuela oil, which currently is more expensive to produce than oil from other world sources. But with the rise of crude oil prices elsewhere, it may be becoming increasingly attractive.

—The United States should give serious study to a proposal by Shek Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi Arabian Minister of Oils and Minerals, for a special U.S.-Saudi commercial agreement that would permit Saudi oil to enter the United States free of restrictions and duties over the long-term, and encourage increasing Saudi investment in oil marketing in the United States.

—The United States should explore the possibility of importing oil and natural gas from countries that have been critical or even antagonistic to the United States. Progress already is being made by U.S. firms in efforts to import liquefied natural gas from the radical government of Algeria, and discussions are going forward with the Soviet Union. "I have outlined frequently on other platforms the measures that might be considered to protect ourselves," Akins said in concluding his Middle East Institute address.

"Some will be expensive and may well be unpopular but they are credible and they must be taken. I have frequently expressed my absolute conviction that we will indeed move soon in this direction."

'Recruit Day' For Guardsmen

The Guardsmen Drum and Bugle Corps of Mount Prospect has invited all young men and women in the area to attend a "Recruit Day" from 12 to 4 p.m., Nov. 19 at Wheeling High School, Hintz and Elmhurst roads, Wheeling.

The "A" Corps, which now totals 120 members, is made up of youth from almost a dozen suburbs as well as Chicago. Girls as well as boys participate in every phase of the Corps, including Color Guard, Rifle and Saber Squad and Drum and Bugle.

Prospective members need not have experience playing an instrument since all recruits undergo a six-week trial period before being accepted. Though all uniforms and instruments are supplied by the corps, there is a $5 monthly fee.

Besides the regular corp Corps, youngsters between the ages of 9 and 12 can apply for membership in the Guardsmen Cadets, a training unit for the "A" Corps.

Vietnam Was Different—Way Back In Autumn Of 1965

by TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK — Henry Kissinger was a college researcher, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh a housewife, Le Duc Tho generally unknown — and Richard Nixon practiced law in Manhattan. In the autumn of 1965, when the United States began in earnest to go to war again, all was different in Vietnam. It was a new experiment. "Conceived in liberty," as the planners put it. The facts were clear: America was helping a friend.

The autumn of '65, U. S. involvement in Southeast Asia was already 15 years old, troop strength in Vietnam alone was more than 125,000, some 25-30 names were recorded on the weekly casualty lists — but only a few back home wondered why.

It was a different day, a different world. Those who protested always wore sandals and needed their toenails cut. The idea, after all, was to defend democracy. And Americans set about it with patriotic unity, if not much actual interest.

I made the first of six trips to the combat zone in the autumn of 1965.

"Where are you going?" a friend asked.

"Vietnam," I replied.

"What for?"

"The war."

"Lucky you. I sure would like to travel."

BUT IF the homefolks were naive, so were many of us, newsmen and GIs, at the front. There was no front, but we had to say the front in the autumn of '65, because that's the way past wars had been described and too few of us had the perception to view this much differently. It was, no doubt, World War II all over. Right vs. wrong. Good vs. evil.

"I am here," explained 21-year-old

Pfc. Harold Pruitt, of Salem, Va., in October of that year, "to contain the enemy. I think sometimes the American people forget that. But if we don't stop them here, we'll be fighting them next in California or New York." He said it proudly. I wrote it the same. Within two months more than 50,000 readers responded with letters, to "Any GI in Vietnam," asserting that a believing America hadn't really forgotten.

Indeed, it was difficult to think otherwise but patriotically then. Especially for those on the scene. In war, even debatable war, it's us vs. them for the participants. When friends die, whoever does the killing is the enemy and never mind the philosophical arguments.

I remember Milton Olive, as example. "A nice lad, 18 years old, from Chicago. Carried a Bible, he did, and read it. One day on patrol with a unit of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, he and several others had clustered in a group during a fire-fight. A hand grenade was tossed in between them. Everybody scattered except Milton Olive. He grabbed the grenade and pulled it into his stomach. He was never to read the Bible again. And nobody who was there, nobody who knew him, could have anything except condemnation for the side that committed the murder.

THERE WERE, of course, hundreds of other Milt Olives in the autumn of '65. And regardless of one's views on the morality of the situation, there can be no denying those people had a special fortitude fighting as they were in the unpopular conflict, forgotten as they were by most everybody but their own family. Again, not many stopped to consider who the soldiers (mostly) were. Eighteen, 19, 20-year-old kids from middle class down. Kids who didn't have the money to buy their way out of the war via college. Kids so woven into the fabric of their nation that they did not, at the time, have the cheek to object. Kids. That's something else ridiculous. We called them kids, or boys. Like hell they were. They were young men.

And I shall always believe they deserved better than they got.

There was the one from Cleveland, who had his legs blown off by a land mine, and who died before he received the Dear John letter from a girl who did not want a cripple. There was Terry Hinson, from Texas, who joined the Army at 16, killed his first man at 17, then became part of the reason for an age limit requirement in Southeast Asia. There was Everett Goias, San Francisco, a jolly sort who friends said didn't have any enemy in the world, except one — the fellow who shot him seven times one November afternoon and killed him.

And there was the man, I don't know if he was ever identified, whom we found one time propped up against an anthill, cooking in the sun; all the flesh had been stripped from the upper part of his body, all his teeth had been knocked out, all his fingernails cut off; there were no bullet holes in the corpse and speculation was it took him days to expire.

Seeing these men, dead like that, I suppose, was an argument supporting the ethical apathy of the time. Seeing them nightly, in newspaper, on television, it is no wonder the public did not protest when escalation after escalation was announced in the autumn of '65. The original war purpose, helping a friend, was already giving way to the ultimate cause, protecting our people.

AND THIS in turn gave rise to a rare phenomenon in the pursuit of combat; the United States began to blame the south Vietnamese for the predicament, the obviously deepening dilemma, and in time began to hate its allies as much or more than its enemy. Soldiers arriving in Saigon, late in 1965, had learned from the soldiers who had gone before that the nation consisted of whores, grafters, and shrimp soldiers who slept on guard duty. Rare was the man in American uniform here who had anything but contempt for the "gooks."

Some of this contempt to be sure, was legitimate. By late 1965, most South Vietnamese cities of any size were havens for draft dodgers (estimates go up to a quarter million), militar deserters (at one period in the war 90,000 South Vietnamese soldiers ran away from their units each month), and crooked merchants. In Cu Chi, for instance, GIs from the 25th Division used to pay $10 for a sure case of VD, $2 for taxi rides that formerly cost a few pennies, and 10 times the proper amount for ice blocks that invariably melted in half by the time they were carried to camp.

Often, the soldiers were more than cheated by the allies, they were victimized, too. When the First Air Cavalry set up shop outside An Khe, in September of 1965, troopers were forbidden entrance into the village. "We've found things like ground up glass in the Cokes," explained a Division officer. That wasn't all they found. In An Khe and other places GIs were too often exposed to booby-trapped children, Viet Cong assassins (who had working arrangements with local police), and, in many memorable instances, bars that specialized in luring new customers for their heroin trade.

So it was that Americans came to hate their friends. And even in the autumn of '65 with My Lai more than a year off, the contempt was going beyond civilities. A GI trucker (25th Infantry) ran down a child, laughing. A Long Range Reconnaissance Patrol (273rd Airborne Brigade) was adept at bringing back dead enemy ears and selling them. When bored, some soldiers would get their jollies by shooting down farm animals and carving their initials in the hide. One crazy battalion commander offered his men a case of whiskey for the first one to chop off a Viet Cong head.

NGUYEN VAN PHUOC, a student leader of the time, was one of the few Vietnamese who protested the GI disgraces. He published a newspaper at the University, and was formally censored by Saigon authorities for advocating U.S.-South Vietnamese peace.

"How could you bring peace?" he was asked.

"The best way?"

"The best way."

"I'D SHOOT EVERY American as he got off the boat."

All was not total bitterness between the allies, of course. It was still 1965, remember, and people were still seeing lights at the end of the tunnel, and charity lived. U.S. physicians volunteered time from their careers to work without pay, in what passed for Vietnamese hospitals (in the Can Tho civilian hospital an American doctor estimated that 40 per cent of the patients died).

GIs collected food and money for otherwise friendless orphans.

I remember a French nurse on the northern side of Tay Ninh city asking: "What would we do without the Americans?" She ran a leper colony. Her 400 patients were outcasts. The grounds were littered with eroding flesh and dying human beings. Yet: "The Americans give us everything. It makes the patients comfortable. That is a very great favor for us."

And so it was, in the autumn of 1965. The war was just heating up. But all the heroics and horrors of it were already in evidence. James Wright of Dallas, 18, wondering in a hospital bed whether or not his bomb-mangled face could ever be made right. Craig Smith, a Mexican-American, vomiting at the sight of his first dead body. Dr. Buck Harper, an Army captain, saving the legs of a Vietnamese infant in a crude Army tent. There was energy, enthusiasm, even optimism as the United States "on the side of God," as one chaplain said, began to let blood. "If I had to guess," said a top general, "I'd say it'll all be over inside a year."

THERE WERE a lot of us caught up in that enthusiasm and optimism of the autumn of 1965. Not only generals and soldiers, but newsmen, politicians and private citizens.

Remember?

We all, most of us, applauded then.

And now, two-and-a-half-million Americans in Vietnam later, 56 thousand GIs have lost their lives, 80 per cent under hostile conditions. More than 300,000 others have been wounded, half of whom have been hospitalized and three per cent totally disabled. Nearly one million Vietnamese soldiers, on both sides, have perished. Perhaps a million civilians in South Vietnam have been killed or wounded, 100,000 women have lost their husbands, and 350,000 children have become war orphans.

Now we all look back and, too late, finally wonder why.

Harper Lecture Set On Child Raising

The difficulties of raising children in today's world will be the lecture topic for Bruno Bettelheim, professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University of Chicago, on Tuesday at Harper College, Palatine.

The lecture time is 8 p.m., in the College Center. Public admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Harper students, faculty and staff are admitted free with ID.

Bettelheim has been director of the orthogenic school at the University of Chicago for several years. The school is the university's residential treatment center for severely emotionally disturbed children.

The professor has written several books, three concerning the orthogenic school, and others dealing with problems of social psychology and related issues. His book, "Dialogues with Mothers," is based on his years spent helping parents of normal children with the problems of childrearing.

Born in Vienna, the professor received his doctorate in psychology and philosophy from the University of Vienna. He and his wife have raised a family of three children.

An Ex-Priest Faces Deportation

THE HERALD

Friday, November 10, 1972

Section 2 —3

by TOM TIEDE
MILWAUKEE, Wis. — When Benedict Lawrence Butler was a boy, living in South Africa, he made a solemn promise to his Irish mother: He would go to America, become a priest — and spend his life working at the business of saints.

That was 36 years ago.
The promise never quite worked out. The boy did emigrate to America. Did become a priest. But today, the 59-year-old Benedict Butler is more sinner than saint. His mother ("dead many years now") can no longer care, but his adopted land does. And therein lies a sad, simple, sorry story.

Let Butler himself begin it:
"I was one of 12 children. In a little town I can hardly even spell anymore: O-u-d-t-s-h-o-o-r-n. Oudtshoorn. In South Africa. My father and mother were both religious. Especially my mother. She was strick Catholic. Anyway, they always wanted one of us children to become a priest or a nun. One of my brothers was picked out early and groomed for the job, but then he decided to get married. That broke my mother's heart. I still remember her and dad sitting up late at night talking sadly about it. I couldn't take that. I couldn't bear to see them so unhappy. So I decided to take my brother's place. I didn't really want to become a priest, but I wanted to please my parents. So I left South Africa and came to America to start my training."

Butler arrived in Washington, D.C., in 1936 and enrolled in Catholic University. He stayed there, for the next 10 years, on a student visa. He never became a citizen. At first he didn't want to — then, after a while, when he decided to stay permanently, "I thought about citizenship, but I just didn't think it was necessary." When he became a priest officially, he applied for and received a permanent resident visa, in 1947.

His first assignment in the world of goodness was at the Blessed Trinity Church in Washington. Then he was transferred to the Milwaukee diocese, Holy Cross Church. Then to St. Theresa. Then to a parochial school. "But all this time," he says, "while I was moving around, I was not happy. The priesthood was not a vocation for me. I knew that deep inside. I had taken all the vows, but, inside, I wasn't really a priest. Can you understand that? I wasn't really a priest and this bothered me all the time."

IN 1951 BENEDICT Butler took his collar and his cross and placed them in storage. "I didn't quit. I wasn't excommunicated or anything. I just decided it would be best if I stopped preaching." He tells of the decision, even now, with apprehension. As if God was going to get him for it. As if God, indeed, already has.

Butler learned a new trade quickly. Tire recapping. He says he became a steady, reliable 8-to-5 worker. "I was with one company for 10 years. Never late for work. I was clean. My record was clean. I worked my way up to foreman and I once had 35 under me." Still, the new job was not totally satisfying. Perhaps because Butler could not forget his conscience. "It's not easy to just quit being a priest."

He never married. He never formed close friends. He became one of the masses, another face in the inner city, and a very lonely, very troubled, very vulnerable man.

In time, Butler started drinking. Wrongly. Heavily. Alone in his room, late at night, with a TV shining in one corner. He was not, he says an alcoholic. But never mind the terminology. He got loaded with increasing frequency, got in with equally inebriated pals, and got finally into crime. "Over the years I guess I cashed thirty-to-thirty-five forged checks. I don't know exactly how many. Thirty, thirty-five or more. Including one federal check for $98.80, it was a welfare check. I never stole any of the checks. I just cashed them. I don't know why. Most of the time, I think, I was drunk."

Last year, on Holy Thursday, Milwaukee police arrested Butler on several counts. Since then two courts have given him five years probation. And now the real crisis arises. Noting that the ex-priest, though 36 years in America, is not a citizen, immigration authorities recently stepped in with a charge of their own: "Any alien convicted of two crimes involving moral turpitude in subject to deportation."

IN OTHER WORDS, says Butler, "they are thinking about kicking me out of America. Like I was in the Mafia or something. I told them I was sorry for what I did. I told them I loved America. But they still said I may have to go back to South Africa."

And so it is. Three-and-a-half decades after his promise to his mother, Benedict Butler is increasingly sorry he ever tried to make her happy. He works now, on a night shift, alone, in a Milwaukee alcoholic rehabilitation center. He has been a failure, a drunk, a crook and a jailbird. Now he has to worry about his future as well as his past. "If they send me back, I don't know what I'd do. I don't remember South Africa. I don't remember anybody there, I'm an American. I never took out the papers, okay. I did some bad things. Okay. But I'm an American."

Chances are Benedict Butler will remain an American. Immigration officials say that about 17,500 aliens are deported annually, 250-300 of them for criminal activities; but Butler's case, so far, may not be so serious. Given his work as a priest and his spotless previous years as a U.S. resident, he will "most likely" be reprimanded but not deported. Besides, says one immigration authority, "From what I hear about Mr. Butler's life, it may be that the man has already suffered enough."

Some Facts About Prostate Surgery

Dear Dr. Lamb — Are there two methods for surgery for complete removal of the prostate gland — one with an irrigation channel through the abdominal wall with a hole in the bladder and another with a two-way catheter (one admitting irrigating water and the other tube draining as a regular catheter)? If so what are the reasons one is preferred over the other?

Dear Reader — You are really describing two different operations, both of which are common in individuals who have prostate gland problems. The prostate gland is located at the outlet of the bladder and when it enlarges too much it can shut off the flow of urine. Sometimes, because of the degree of obstruction and problems which result, it is necessary to drain the over-distended bladder through a tube which is inserted into the abdominal wall directly into the bladder. This operation is called a cystotomy. It allows free drainage and helps get the patient ready for prostate surgery.

The bladder can be drained by passing a catheter through the urethra unless there is too much of an obstruction and in this case a cystotomy has to be used.

Probably the most common form of prostate surgery today is through a specialized device passed just like a catheter to the region of the prostate and then portions of the prostate are removed with an electro-cautery and the pieces irrigated out through the tube with salt water. Thereafter in the post-operative period the catheter is left in place to be used for irrigating out clots that have occurred because of the operation and to provide drainage. Once adequate drainage is established, the cystotomy tube is taken out and the abdominal hole closed.

Now, clearly not everybody needs a cystotomy and in fact many people have prostatic surgery without it.

Another common method of removing the prostate is through an incision above the pubic bone and then by direct surgical means the prostate is removed from its location at the outlet of the bladder.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have read and several people have told me of articles concerning gallstones in which the article stated that it is possible for gallstones to be dissolved by treatment. Thus, it would not be necessary to have surgical removal of the gallbladder. Can you give me any information on this?

Dear Reader — Yes, there have been several reports on this. The experimental work has been done at the Mayo Clinic, but I would have to add that it is still in the experimental stages and although early studies have shown that gallstones can be dissolved, this doesn't mean that everybody who has gallstones will be a candidate for such treatment. Sometimes gallstones are caused because the gallbladder is diseased to start with and in these instances the diseased gallbladder is the main problem. I think it is too early yet to offer any recommendation about this form of treatment. It should be considered as in the experimental stages and hopefully will be helpful at least to some people with gallstones.

Chicago Defense Unit Wins Honor

The Chicago Defense, made up of Nike Hercules units located throughout the Chicago area, was named best in the Army Air Defense Command (ARADCOM), during a recent defense combat evaluation competition in Colorado Springs. Announcement of the winner was made by Lt. General Richard T. Cassidy, ARADCOM commander.

In a letter to Colonel James C. Finsterle, Chicago Defense commander, General Cassidy said: "This coveted award attests to the exceptional leadership, singularly professional competence, dedication, and attention to detail demonstrated by the Chicago Defense throughout this fiscal year." He added that the Chicago Defense scored the second highest ever achieved during a defense combat evaluation.

In recognition of the accomplishment, the Chicago Defense received a plaque for permanent retention and the rotating defense combat evaluation trophy. Runnersup in the competition were the New England, Pittsburgh, and San Francisco defenses.

The Chicago Defense is composed of the 45th Brigade Headquarters, located at Fort Sheridan, one active Army unit in Porter, Ind.; Headquarters, 1st Battalion, 202d Air Defense Artillery, Illinois Army National Guard, located in Arlington Heights, commanded by LTC Harry R. Callos of Palatine, and three Illinois Army National Guard firing units located at Addison, Homewood, and Northfield. Each National Guard Air defense unit is manned by full time technicians on 24-hour duty and is augmented by mobilization day personnel who are trained on weekends and during annual training.

On Aircraft Carrier

Navy Seaman Robert F. Kroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Kroll of 298 Milton Ln., Hoffman Estates, has returned to San Diego aboard the aircraft carrier USS Constellation after a 9-month deployment to the Western Pacific.

During the deployment his ship provided air support to U.S. forces in Southeast Asia, and visited Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan and the Republic of the Philippines.

'Center Needed Now'

PTYO Lists Site Plans

Due to the recent publicity and controversy surrounding a future library site for Palatine, the Palatine Township Youth Organization (PTYO) feels that the public should be made aware of several proposals that have been made to them (and by them) by other organizations regarding the usage of the PTYO property on Smith Street (the former Le-Vade Ranch).

To bring all interested stockholders and others up to date, about a year and a half ago the PTYO was approached by the Library Board and a village trustee concerning the possibility of buying off a portion of the four and one half acre site for a future library — two and a half to three acres with cross easements for parking with the teen center building in back. Via the grapevine we heard they were afraid of a teen center and library being so close — what would people think? (More teens read books than the average adult) Palatine residents told the library twice what they thought about expensive land in the center of town, by voting down two referendums solidly.

The search was on again for a site in town, near town, all around town to please the village board so that they could get the approval.

In the meantime the Knights of Columbus approached the PTYO about getting this five year project to completion. They would like to leave something of permanence to the community and graciously had the faith in us to say they would help finance and provide the adult know how necessary to practically run a teen center. We explained our commitment to the library people (even though we had not heard in months from them). The KC's wanted to know why we couldn't get together on this and see if we could revise our thinking to suit the needs of the community; after all, what everyone wanted to do was contribute a necessary service to the entire community.

We did change our thinking — teen centers are outdated; we knew we could not financially support a teen center but with KC's and PTYO renting out a Community Center for all organizations to enjoy or any individual for a party, wedding reception, anniversary or scout meeting we could do it. With a teen center included it would truly be a Community Center. The KC's subsequently had plans drawn up to build such a center; did some figuring to finance it and since they are an adult group, took steps to get it financed. The drawings are good but such a center will cost more than the $75,000 to $100,000 originally estimated. If the library and village would get together and give this package consideration, the people of Palatine would get a library site and community center for $100,000.

The original cost of the property was paid for by bondholders of PTYO and contributions for what people thought was needed in the community five years ago. Should we give up and forget it like so many other things and times in Palatine or should we make another effort to get people to put their heads together and see the need NOW for a new library and the realization of a dream young people have had for five long hard years.

Here are the reasons why we think we have the best offer for a library site. That any money expended by the Library Board for land acquisition would go right back into a Community Center funded by a non-profit corporation rather than any private individual. The library board would obtain a site for FAR BELOW its present market value and the community would be enhanced by the building of the center. As to the opposition of locating the library away from the central business district of Palatine these are the pro factors that we have considered:

- 1) Parking is much more available on our land than in town.
- 2) The inadequate library facilities presently available.
- 3) Prohibitiveness of land cost in central business district.
- 4) Short-sightedness in not seeing that the business district is moving north and along Northwest Highway.
- 5) Long wait for proposed mall or municipal buildings.
- 6) We could hardly be threat to residents for future flooding — very few residents around us.
- 7) With the Jr. High, golf course, the train station and future shopping center that stoplights, sidewalks, water and sewer are inevitable.
- 8) Property is contiguous to Palatine for annexation into village proper.

This is our offer. The PTYO would be pleased to sell the entire four and one half acres parcel for approximately $100,000, merely reserving a portion of land on the rear of the site for a community center; all funds received to put into the building of the center. Let's get together and act now! Can we afford to wait five more years?

—PTYO Teen Board

Sex Ed Program Hit

I read with interest Mr. Rosenberg's letter when he mentioned that he was a professional writer who had been hired to write some assignments under a "Catholic viewpoint" for the Roman Catholic Church. I don't understand why my church (I am a Catholic) does this, but perhaps it explains by Mary Perkins Ryan, who has criticized Pope Paul VI and the encyclical Humane Vitae was chosen as a main collaborator for editing the program "Becoming A Person."

This program encourages the children to discuss their parents and home life in the classroom in a kind of group confession. They are even asked if they think that their parents were right. The children are asked to discuss what their reaction is to discipline from parents. The sexual information they are fed and encouraged to discuss in mixed class is unbelievable. The 7th and 8th graders are taught about the use of contraceptives without being taught the Church's stand on them. In fact the program supports the use of contraceptives. The parents should see the teacher's manuals.

This "Becoming A Person" program was condemned by Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C. and Bishop Dwyer of Portland, Oregon has banned it from his diocese. Let's hope that the school board members remove this program from St. Joseph The Worker School.

Local Sex Ed Controversy Continues

I am writing in response to Mr. Joseph R. Rosenberger's letter regarding the need for sex education in the Catholic school. As long as Mr. Rosenberger is liberal enough to believe that Roman Catholic authorities can teach the Catholic faith, it's a shame Mr. Rosenberger does not take advantage of the open house at St. Mary's once a year. If he did he would be aware of how advanced St. Mary's is. He would also be aware that not only do we teach sex education but also the responsibility which goes along with sex.

Mr. Rosenberger makes the statement, "How can two priests who never had children or had to worry about paying bills impart any advice regarding the sexual function?" I can speak only for our priests who have 765 children, 1,300 families and more bills in a month than Mr. Rosenberger sees in a year. If this qualifies one to impart on the sexual function, then our priests are qualified.

Mr. Rosenberger also feels that prayer will not produce a normal healthy sexual urge. I think that these children who are being taught sex education along with prayer and Christian life will put a much higher price and respect for the human body than those taught strictly just the physical function of the human body.

Red Cross Blood Record Is Defended

Mrs. Joy Steele has made some statements (the Fence Post, Nov. 1) which need to be corrected for the benefit of other readers. Somehow, Mrs. Steele has received some misinformation regarding both the Red Cross blood program and that offered by Northwest Community Hospital.

The statement that "Red Cross would credit (the hospital) $15 a pint," is totally in error. The American Red Cross has been fighting the whole idea of trading dollars for human blood since the beginning of modern blood banking in the early '40's, and Red Cross does not credit money for blood nor blood for money.

Mrs. Steele states that her husband was not informed about the processing fee for blood at the time he joined a Red Cross group assurance program, and although I have no way of knowing what Mr. Steele was or was not told, all Red Cross printed matter and literature pertaining to the blood program clearly states that such a charge will be made. Many health insurance plans cover the patient for this charge, and under a new law in Illinois, all health insurance plans have been forbidden to exclude such coverage since Oct. 1.

The statement that this charge would not have been made if coverage had been through the Northwest Community

Hospital's blood plan is also in error. The "processing charge" must be paid by someone, and it covers the cost of collecting the blood, the container for the blood, and all associated laboratory services. Northwest Community Hospital sets a fee of $23 per pint for these costs. Again, most health insurance plans would cover this.

I join Mrs. Steele in urging all HERALD readers to donate blood once a year, as our goal at Red Cross is the same as hers — to assure a safe, dependable supply of blood at all times. We feel that as the nation's largest blood collection organization, Red Cross offers certain advantages both to the family and to the hospital, but the important and overriding consideration is — no matter where you give blood — do give blood.

'You'd Better Watch Teichert's Actions'

I noted, with interest, the letter written by Peggy Daley Taylor criticizing Mayor Teichert. I would like to point out, however, that the criticism comes a bit late. Mayor Teichert has already introduced subsidized housing in Mount Prospect in the form of the Huntington Commons Apartments. One third of these apartments are being subsidized by the Illinois Housing Development Authority.

Since Mayor Teichert is still talking about where to build low-cost housing, I would suggest that Mount Prospect residents pay more attention to Mayor Teichert's behind-the-scenes activities or perhaps they may find the low-cost housing in their immediate area. Following Mr. Teichert's pattern with the Huntington Commons project, the residents most affected will be the last to know about it.

I might also add that while Mayor Teichert professes to be concerned about the welfare of local residents who may need help, it is somewhat odd that the subsidized apartments in Huntington Commons are being filled by people not from this area at all.

'UNICEF Aids Commie Governments'

I should like to comment on a recent letter from Mrs. Mona Posa entitled, "Unicef's A Safe Choice."

I am amazed that even today there are some people gullible enough to believe that the United Nations is a worthwhile organization. It has been proved many times that most of the money appropriated by UNICEF is used to buy supplies for Communist countries because the Communist control over the U.N. makes this possible. This gives little or no help to needy children. On the contrary, these supplies only serve the Communist governments in keeping their enslaved people under subjection. The American taxpayer pays most of UNICEF's money.

Providing for the welfare of children in need is without question a most worthy project — but not when such efforts are used as a facade by the Communist organization. And, as one would expect from any agency connected with the United Nations, UNICEF has had more than its share of Communists on the payroll. For example the first chairman of UNICEF was Ludwig Rjachmann, a Communist from Soviet-controlled Poland. When he was subpoenaed in 1957 by the Senate Judiciary Committee to answer questions about his connections with Communist agent Alger Hiss, Rjachmann fled this country rather than appear before the committee.

The Communist permeation of UNICEF explains the many strange ways this "charitable" organization spends its money. The newsletter of the McGraw-Hill Company's Committee For Public Affairs of December 1961 pointed out: "The UNICEF appropriated $59 million between 1947 and 1958 to Communist countries. The U.S. furnished approximately $42 million of that money. UNICEF helped finance the U.N. aggression in Katanga in 1961, when hospitals were bombed and civilians were indiscriminately killed. And I quote from Stanton Evans' column in the Indianapolis News for Jan. 26 1962, "When the U.N. was out of money for its Congo aggression, it borrowed $10 million, earmarked for UNICEF, from the U.S. government."

It must be especially galling to the thousands of Americans whose loved ones have been killed or wounded in the Vietnamese war to read of the recently announced plans of UNICEF to funnel money to the government of Communist North Vietnam.

Because of its simply monstrous record, UNICEF hides behind a mask of alleged charity, for fear that the American public will come to realize that it is just one more "front" which the Communists are using to enslave the world.

Thank You

We wish to express our appreciation to all those who helped the League of Women Voters throughout the summer and fall in our effort to place the issue of dissolving Palatine Township government on the ballot today.

We are disappointed, of course, that this referendum could not be held at the time of the general election when the greatest number of voters could participate. However, we are encouraged that Northfield Township's citizens are able to vote on the issue Tuesday, and are hopeful that the courts will soon hand down a decision granting Palatine Township's residents their right to determine their own form of local government.

We wish to reiterate our determination to see this issue placed before the voters of Palatine Township.

She's Angered By Fence Hassle

As an irate parent and taxpayer, I would like you in on how the sports program in the high school goes.

First of all, a student goes out for a sport and works his butt off, giving of their time. Then comes their first game and with it the bench. Which they will find to be their best friend for the season.

The reason for this is that the student is not a star or has a parent who has pull, in some way or another.

I go to all kinds of sports events in high school. In each event you can see what I'm talking about.

The reason that I am irate is that a team is so far ahead or behind, and still their coach will only play a few players.

I think it isn't fair to those players that give of their time and selves to make some student a star. Then not get some of the glory or defeat.

If that is how they work sports in our high schools, I think that those few players' parents should pay the extra taxes to support those sports.

Just think of all the tax money we could save each year.

This is my feeling about sports in our high schools. But in turn I think I am speaking for a lot of bench warmers, frustrated parents that get this from the coaches each game, "You know I can't play all the players." That is a bunch!

On any given day and any given player on that bench could be a star for that game.

That is why our children go out for a sport. Maybe the next game will be theirs.

My husband and I appeared at the meeting on June 22 arriving by taxi since we don't drive. The meeting was to begin at 8 p.m. Only three board members showed up although the hall was filled with persons caught in the same game. We were told since they could not produce a quorum the meeting was dismissed, until the last Thursday of July. I complained to one gentleman who did show up for the meeting and with sad eyes he said, "I don't get paid for my services." My husband and I took a taxi home.

The appeals board decided to call a special meeting July 12. My husband and I arrived as before by taxi. Our application was second on the agenda.

Mr. Jacobsmeier asked me why I wanted a stockade fence. I explained my reason was to hide a view which was unpleasant to me as my neighbors have trees that are 10 ft. high and that are neglected, and too close to my property line. My Jacobsmeier suggested among other alternatives that I plant a honeysuckle hedge. It does not take much imagination to realize that no hedge, honeysuckle or whatever would grow that close to the neglected trees.

After about another month and after the ante had been held for three months, I was refused the variation and only $52.65 of my ante was returned.

I want to end this as I started. This is and was a game from the beginning.

Social Security Official Pleased

We would like to thank all the residents and organization members who attended our dedication and open house on October 27. This event was successful because of the community spirit and interest shown by these persons.

Because we are new in the community, we appreciated the opportunity to meet and visit with the people who we are here to serve. Usually when we meet an individual, he comes in to discuss social security business or to apply for social security benefits. At such times there is little opportunity to "visit." We hope those of you who attended the Open House, will feel more at home when you need to come to our office in the future.

We are looking forward to serving and assisting everyone in the Northwest suburban area — whether they are applying for benefits, are already receiving benefits, or simply have an inquiry about social security.

Thank you for attending our Open House.

China — Where You Can Instantly Tell Girls From Boys

SHANGHAI — China is one country where you can instantly tell the girls from the boys. This time of year, though, you have to do it by their hair, not their shapes. The boys are all closely trimmed, the women are bobbed, the girls wear pigtails.

Clad in the up-to-now standard Mao uniform of pants and jackets in varying shades of blue, gray and tan, and wearing flat, slipper-type shoes, the girls and women seem utterly shapeless.

What's more, the Communist Party has drummed into everyone such a puritanical streak that we had to travel more than 3,000 miles before getting the first sight of boy and girl so much as holding hands in public. Before coming, I'd read that even pairing off on a few bike rides was tantamount to engagement.

Up until we saw the hand-holding, we were making wry jokes to each other about where all the babies — and they're here by the millions — might be coming from.

Fighting to keep the birth rate down, the Mao regime has been seeking to convince everyone that the best marriage age for women is not before 24 or 25, and for men not before the age of 26.

A country with 800 million mouths to feed — it may be above that figure; nobody seems to have a precise figure — can't help but drive for birth control. Even at a 1 per cent gain, China will have a billion people by 2000.

The 1 per cent rate isn't holding. Even our interpreter-guides (able people from the national news agency and the foreign ministry) admit that birth control does not appear to be working in the countryside. That's the way it looked to us, too, surrounded as we were so much of the time by children from the toddling stage to the preteens.

Mrs. Li Hsui-wing, the handsome manager of an electronic factory in Shanghai, calls the late marriage age "a question of social atmosphere." Not at all incidentally, Mrs. Li is an ideal example of the emancipation of Chinese women.

IT MAY BE THAT Mao's China has produced "Women's Lib" on a far broader and swifter scale than has ever happened anywhere on earth. There seems not the slightest evidence of inferior status for women anywhere.

True, you see women digging ditches, and pushing and hauling carts, but men do the same jobs; and you see girls and women on automobile assembly lines, operating lathes and heavy cranes, working in the shipyards, doing everything that men do — and at the same pay scales.

Mrs. Li, 40, is typical of the mature, urban woman in that she wears her hair in the standard bob. It's a neat and attractive cut.

She is the kind of executive who inspires confidence. She knows every detail about her plant and apparently all of the 270 workers in the shops.

The plant makes silicon rectifiers (control circuits for changing AC current to DC), transformers, terminals and similar equipment.

Mrs. Li's parents were textile workers and she became one at the age of 12. At the time of "liberation" (Mao Tse-tung's taking over), she was an illiterate 17-year-old. She entered what she called a "spare-time school" (the larger plants and farm communes run such adult education schools) and learned how to read and write.

Virtually sealed off to the rest of the world for the past 25 years, the People's Republic of China slowly has begun to al-

Five years later she joined the Communist Party and has been rising ever since. She was elected the factory head out of a list of eight candidates. It seems clear that all through this society, workers vote for their leaders by secret ballot. We've heard it enough times now that I am convinced it is so.

Mrs. Li is by no means the only woman executive we have met. We started out in Peking two weeks earlier with Mrs. Wei Shui-ling, an equally lively and dynamic woman of 44, who runs the Peking Art and Craft Center, where 1,260 people make beautiful things in ivory and jade, as well as working in cloisonne, the delicate multi-coloring in enamels.

There were others, too, in various cities we have visited. All talk freely about family planning, about women who have had their fallopian tubes tied to low glimpses into its cities and massive interior. One such glimpse was afforded recently to a specially-picked 22-man delegation from the American Society of Newspaper Editors, taken on a 23-day, 4,000 mile tour. Among them was Norman E. Isaacs, currently professor of journalism at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism; former executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times; past president of ASNE; and — since 1970 — a director of the Paddock Corporation and newspaper consultant to the Herald. In an exclusive report for Herald readers, Isaacs has provided a personalized and detailed five-part account of his journey inside Communist China.

with Mrs. Li here in Shanghai. We had been trying to trace the matter of marriage and divorce and she was being quite helpful. I asked her about spinsters. She laughed and said something to the effect that the Chinese were great matchmakers.

A fellow editor then wondered aloud whether sexual abstinence worked until the later marriage ages. He asked whether unmarried women ever asked the factory clinic for contraceptives. Mrs. Li thought not, pointing out that it was easy for any woman to go to "the outside market" for pills.

She said she couldn't say there was total abstinence from premarital sex, but said it didn't occur in her factory. We all thought she would have been on better ground if she had replied that none of it had come to her attention.

"What about homosexuality?" asked the editor.

Mrs. Li looked puzzled and the interpreter said, "She doesn't know what you mean."

"You know," said the editor, "men and men — women and women."

The moment it was translated, Mrs. Li threw up her hands.

"How can that be?" she exclaimed.

We broke up in laughter, the editor saying, "Well, we've often wondered, too."

Until relatively recently, it was the custom for Chinese girls to wear their hair long until they reached 19, then had it trimmed to short-broad length until they married. While this still seems the pattern in the rural areas, it no longer is observed in the cities, and we were told many young married women still wear short pigtails.

LIKE ALL OTHER people, the Chinese run the range and there are many strikingly beautiful women and handsome men.

The Chinese, however, refrain from mentioning beauty to women. They prefer that foreigners refer to girls and women as looking "healthy." They certainly are that, so many of those working looking incredibly young, fresh, bright and full of smiles.

It is obvious there is a tremendous gap between today's young in China and the elderly, even though family patterns remain close and grandparents can be seen taking care of the children since all Chinese wives work.

You still see a few older women from the bound-feet era mincing along a city street. There are a few more evident in the rural areas. The practice, once considered erotic in Chinese society, was outlawed in the 1930s, but went on as late as 1949.

Bad teeth among the elderly is quite evident, but the young — particularly, girls — have the whitest, best shaped teeth I have ever seen.

We were told that had we come in summer most girls and women would have been seen wearing skirts and that they change to pants in early fall.

The drab blue, gray, tan colors seem to be giving way to brighter hues. The stores are displaying both pastels and checks in shirtwaists and over-blouses so the government is giving a sign that it's okay to gussy-up a little. My guess is that the women are having to save up enough money before they can go in to buy the new, gayer styles.

The steady drumfire of political "education" has made its mark on both young and old. At the textile complex north of Sian we had visited some workers in their tight little flats (where as many as six and seven live in two rooms and share toilet facilities with three other families). When Mrs. Wang Shu-ten was asked what she might be saving for, she gave an answer we had received many times before.

"We have a watch (holding up her wrist) and radio," she said. "What else do we need?"

MRS. WANG AND her husband had come to Sian from Shanghai and when asked why she had come so far to work, she replied: "To support the country's work."

Earlier I had thought we were being guided to people who had been programmed, but it has become clearer that this must be the type of thing discussed at the weekly "political education" meetings and that Mao has been incredibly effective in getting themes indoctrinated into people.

At dinner in a famed hotel, we asked that the chef be summoned to accept thanks for the banquet. He responded with a short speech that was quite eloquent. Somebody called on one of the waitresses to speak, too. She was shy at first, but then said firmly that she hoped we would offer criticisms because she and all her co-workers were determined to improve their work. How many American chefs and waitresses can you imagine speaking up in patriotic terms in front of audiences when chosen at random?

The young in China, by the way, seem passionately interested in improving their English — or, at least, learning some of it. There is a regular English-teaching course on Shanghai radio. In Peking one night late, we came in to find all the floor boys in the reception room listening to this program and repeating out loud in English, "Workers of the world, unite."

It isn't greatly important, but one little thing that happened the other day illustrates how Women's Lib is going over here. We were met at a hotel by both girl and boy porters. A diminutive lass of maybe 17 was all set to grab my bulging, arm-wearing suitcase but I restrained her. Later I reflected that she probably would have hauled it not only with no sign of strain, but with great gracefulness.

I started out all this by saying that the girls and women seem shapeless. It needs reporting that you find out this isn't at all so when you get to attend a ballet, gymnastic exhibition or variety show.

They have nice waistlines, lithe slim figures. When they don leotards, or shorts, you know good and well these are GIRLS.

TOMORROW: The country with no lawyers — and an army that's popular.

HANDSOME CHILDREN are everywhere in Communist China, as this type clutching her doll in a nursery school. And it is very easy to tell the boys from the girls.

Inside Communist China

stop pregnancy and about men having vasectomies. For the most part, it has been clinical and humorless.

BY THE WAY, you see no wedding rings in China. It is a custom that originated in Europe and never was adopted here. Moreover, women retain their own names even when married. And there are no wedding ceremonies. A couple is married the moment they sign the register. Families usually hold small receptions and the newlyweds get a day or two off work.

Divorces seem to be more complex. Apparently, there are meetings held with the "revolutionary" committees and efforts are made to hold things together. Once a recommendation is formally made by the supervising group, however, a registry notice is made and the divorce is final.

We had one of our funniest episodes

THE AMERICAN EDITORS visiting Communist China traveled more than 3,000 miles before they caught their first sight of a boy and girl so much as holding hands. This Shanghai scene was a rarity, as public displays of affection remain most uncommon in Mao's China.

Elk Grove, Hersey Return To Title Game

by JIM COOK

The fall is almost exclusively the season of premiers — on television, anyway.

On the Mid-Suburban League gridiron, the Super Bowl III championship game will be a rerun of 1971 — but only to the extent that the schools involved are returning to their lead roles in the season's climactic finale.

North Division champion Hersey and South Section titlist Elk Grove will take the same cue as last year when they enter the prep football spotlight tonight at Hersey at 8:00.

That's however, where the similarities abruptly end.

While the names have not been changed, the circumstances surrounding the area's 1972 fall extravaganza have all but undergone total metamorphosis.

In the '71 classic, Hersey was heavily favored to tackle conference honors. It was Hersey who deservedly carried a lofty area-ranked standard. And it was Hersey who afforded Elk Grove the luxury of a return engagement after the Huskies had apparently proved themselves in a 10-0 decision earlier that same season.

To appreciate the incredible turn of events one year has produced, Elk Grove may now be substituted for Hersey in every instance in the preceding paragraph.

Head coach Don Schnake's Grenadiers are rated second behind St. Viator, another Herald-area exponent, in reliable, yet mythical Chicagoland team appraisals.

Elk Grove has been deemed the favorite to repeat as MSL champion off a perfect 8-0 campaign that promises to leave memories as one of the most productively complete squads the area has ever produced.

But then there's Hersey which reaped a 5-3 harvest under highly successful head coach Joe Gliwa. The Huskies were the last team to hand Elk Grove a loss, the 10-0 affair in September of '71. Since then the Grenadiers have reeled off 14 straight triumphs — two of which claimed Hersey.

The oddsmakers and speculators have failed to erode the Huskies' confidence of completely adhering to last year's script — namely Elk Grove's 7-3 upset triumph.

"If I didn't think everybody on our team felt that we could win this game, we wouldn't show up," Gliwa bluntly stated. "I can't say that we enjoy the role of underdog, but there just seems no other place to put us."

Apparently Schnake would gladly trade places. The prospect of an upset has him upset. "It's not all that comfortable a position to be in," he said. "There are too many things leaning toward Hersey for anyone to get the impression we've got a cakewalk ahead of us."

One of Schnake's primary concerns is Hersey's mental attitude. "I really feel it hurts us a little bit that they were beaten last week. That can only serve to inject a little more determination into them."

Gliwa made no excuses for his team's 14-6 loss to Palatine last week and agrees with Schnake's evaluation of its effects. "It's difficult to be complacent after a loss," Gliwa admitted. "I don't think it was a question of looking past Palatine and toward Elk Grove. We had several opportunities to come from behind against them, but we didn't."

The complacency factor has also been recognized as a possible deterrent in the Elk Grove camp. "The fact that we haven't been actually pressed the last few weeks could have a tendency to make us too loose for this one," Schnake said. "We've been trying to take steps to prevent this, knowing that Hersey has geared themselves to a fine edge in preparation for tonight."

While Schnake frets, the Elk Grove record still rings out loud and clear about a ball club which ranks among the better ones ever assembled in the Northwest suburbs. Behind a couple of guys named Jeff — Stewart and Schroeder — the Grenadier offense in 1972 piled up more yardage on the ground than any other squad in the 10-year history of the MSL.

When you talk about complete, total ball players, Stewart has to rank very near or at the top," Gliwa praised. "He's an excellent runner, thrower and defensive back. And don't be fooled by their big rushing total," he warned.

"ALTHOUGH THIS kid hasn't had to throw very much, we've seen him on a couple of occasions and he represents a helluva threat." Stewart literally "ran away" with total offense honors with over 1,000 stripes.

And when throwing becomes the subject, Hersey becomes the subject. Paced by junior slinger Mark Zakula, the Huskies have demonstrated a strong tendency to pass . . . and you can't knock success.

"This, I think, is where we will really be tested tonight," Schnake acknowledged. Not coincidentally, the South Division champs have shown the most vulnerability in defending the pass which should provide an interesting matchup tonight.

Zakula has hit favorite target Marty Friel on exactly half of his 52 completions — five of which blossomed into Friel scores. Normally the last resort for rushing-oriented teams, Hersey has been known to come out throwing from anywhere and everywhere on the field.

"Their biggest asset in my mind is

Two Wins From A Perfect Season

Powerful Lions Entertain deSales Tonight

SPEEDY STEVE Bobowski, St. Viator's fine halfback, has been one of the reasons the Lions are 8-0 with two games left. He has piled up 449 yards on 63 rushes from scrimmage, a nifty 7.1 average, and caught nine

by LARRY EVERHART
"This is our biggest game of the season so far."

St. Viator football coach Jim Lyne has said that several times already this season. But he's meant it every time, and you can be sure he meant it again when he said it this week in reference to his Lions' clash with visiting St. Francis de Sales at Forest View tonight.

Sure, the Lions have already clinched the East Division title in the Suburban Catholic Conference and berth in the championship game against Marmion Military Academy. Sure, they've been gathering steam each week on their way to a perfect 8-0 record and have been called by many the best team in the state. And sure, St. Viator is a solid favorite over a team that has had trouble moving the ball and is now out of the title running.

But Viator has yet to accomplish the one thing it wants most — a 10-0 record, which would give it a Herald area all-time record for most wins in a season and the first perfect record in the Lions' 11-year history.

That incentive alone — plus the fact that St. Francis de Sales is far from being a pushover with a 4-2 conference record — should be plenty to keep the Lions' competitive juices flowing tonight.

As Lyne put it, "The most important thing is to get that undefeated season. That's our goal. We don't care about rankings or records or anything like that. We just want to be 10-0."

Going along with this goal — until last weekend, at least — was to get in the league championship game. St. Viator needn't worry about that any longer. When Notre Dame handed St. Francis de Sales its second loss last week (14-0), it left only Holy Cross within a game of the Lions with one to play. And even if they ended up with the same record, St. Viator would be awarded first place in the division by virtue of its earlier 14-9 conquest of Holy Cross.

The title tussle against Marmion — which has clinched the West Division crown in convincing fashion — will take place at Wheeling High School next Friday night, Nov. 17.

But Lyne's Lions don't dare think too much about that one until they get through tonight's challenge.

"It's going to be a real tough game," Lyne promised. "We've got to go all-out and get this one first. Then next week will take care of itself. There will be no problem getting up for that."

"St. Francis is coming after us and we know it. They'll be after our quarterback (all-state candidate Stan Bobowski). He was taking shots on almost every play last week (in a 27-7 victory over Marist), even after he had handed off. We can't always count on the refs to throw the flag on late hits. We've got to protect Stan."

He said there are a few minor hurts on the squad, as there have been almost all year, but that all the regulars should be ready to go tonight. It is fortunate that no major injuries have hit because depth is about the only category in which the Lions are not awesome.

The Pioneers of de Sales are similar to last week's foe, Marist, in that they have a tough defensive unit but have had trouble scoring (the least of St. Viator's worries). St. Francis has scored only 73 points in six league games compared to St. Viator's division-leading 173 points. The Lions have allowed just 43 — also best in the East — to the Pioneers' yield of 51.

As St. Francis coach Dick Marin says, "We have been primarily a ground club on offense but we haven't moved the ball well enough. I guess that's why we're out of the running now."

"Our club is a little down now," he admitted. "We thought we could make a race of it. If we'd still had one loss now, it would have been a real game tonight."

Marin couldn't fault his defense, though, pointing out that it was the offense that gave up the 14 points to Notre Dame on fumbles.

Marin is just as impressed with the Lions as other opposing coaches have been all year. "I've seen most of the other top-ranked teams in the state and I feel Viator deserves to be No. 1," he declared. "They've got great people up front and they really execute."

"Bobowski is the best quarterback in the conference and one of the best in the state. But, you know who I was really impressed with after watching them? That fullback, (Frank) Cliggett. He does a great job blocking. He's their unsung hero."

There have been many others on the team, too many to list here — but then it's been a team proposition with the Lions anyway, just as it is with any winner. They've won in the trenches with their line play as well as with their skilled backs.

There are two more rivers to cross for St. Viator . . . and the one looming before them tonight is being taken just as seriously by the Lions as all the others.

'HE HAD TO BE KIDDING'

Dear Fan's Forum:

I get a kick out of these gripes in your paper from St. Viator people who don't think their team gets enough publicity. I can remember how they've been on the front page several times, how many pictures they have received before and obviously will get in the final two week-ends, and yet they are so quick to complain when a Hersey or somebody else gets on the front page. Ho hum, that letter writer said last week in your Fan's Forum when he talked about Hersey's game with Rolling Meadows getting a better play than St. Viator's game with St. Joseph. He had to be kidding. There just have to be more people around here interested in reading about Hersey against Rolling Meadows than St. Viator against St. Joseph. You've got an outstanding team at St. Viator but let's not let it go to your head. There are other schools around. Besides, you don't even have your own field.

LETTER IRKED READER

Dear Sirs:

The letter from W. Moran (Nov. 3, Fan's Forum) really irked me. Why single out Hersey to "ho-hum" about? For almost three weeks there wasn't a picture from a Hersey game in the paper. (I've got all of the back issues if he would care to check this out).

Well, W. Moran, I think our team has done pretty well too, Catholic school or not. First place in the North Division isn't really all that bad, now, is it?

If he thinks coach Gliwa was bragging — well, he just might have had something to brag about.

I also hope that W. Moran and the Chicago papers will be very happy together.

MUSTANG FAN PROUD

Dear Sirs:

I, as a "Mustang Fan," am very proud to go to Rolling Meadows High School. When I was in eighth grade I wanted to go to Arlington, now I'm glad I didn't. I love Rolling Meadows and I wouldn't change schools if you paid me.

The Mustangs may not be in first place, but they went out with pride. This is true and anyone can tell you this because we never gave up. The sophomores, freshmen, junior varsity and varsity had pride in every game that they played.

The guys also have spirit. There is a plaque which says "Mustang Pride" on the wall of the locker room. Every guy, in any sport, must know the meaning of this because every guy touches it every time he passes it. Also on our Varsity football team, the guys painted a purple stripe down the middle of their faces to show pride in their school. Our varsity defense team, in addition to the purple stripe, painted one red stripe on each cheek to represent the other team's blood and one white stripe under the red for sacrifice. These symbols must have meant something very important to the football players and I'm sure it did.

There are some underclassmen who I must mention because they are such great players in football. I am a sophomore, therefore it gives me great pride to see these three sophomores on the varsity team — Lance Pressl, Steve Breitbeil and Jim Waswo. On the sophomore team the two heroes of our games were Joe McChesney and Dan Hembolt. Dan got a knee injury during the Arlington game so he did not play the rest of the games, but those he did play he played his best.

Most of the student body had very much school spirit. Every game, home or away, the stands were full and there was cheering constantly during the sophomore and varsity games. We are the only school that includes our Booster Club in our "Victory Comp" cheer. Homecoming was the best game, though. Our drill team and band did a fantastic job at halftime and everybody got so hoarse that no one could talk the next day.

Special thanks go to the Boosters, who came to every game faithfully; the band and drill team, which did fantastic jobs on the halftime shows; the cheerleaders, who started us cheering and we couldn't stop; and our mascot Charley who brightened up every game. These groups make Rolling Meadows a great school to go to.

All in all, this football season was the most exciting because this year was first for us in many things, such as Homecoming and varsity Football. I know that everyone must give some credit to the Mustangs for trying so hard this season. Next is basketball. Go, Mustangs!!

St. Viator Hockey Team Topples Notre Dame, 3-1

St. Viator High School, entering its first season in the Chicago Metropolitan Hockey League tuned up with a 3-1 win over Notre Dame of Niles. The game was played in Niles and was a benefit with all proceeds going to the Niles School to help defray the costs of ice rentals, equipment, etc.

Don Menoni scored two goals and turned in a fine all-round performance for St. Viator. Tom McDonald scored the other Viator goal. Assists went to Tom McEneaney with two and Keith McDonald and Dan Schultz recorded one each.

The goaltending was shared by Bill Fitton and Pete Wuerle. Fitton was awarded the game puck by the Notre Dame squad for his excellent performance and also for stopping a 2nd period penalty shot.

Strong games were turned in by Russ Fitton, Tom Kniessel, Steve Lear, and Capt. Mike Brawley.

All St. Viator Metropolitan League games will be played on Sundays at the Arlington Ice Spectrum in Palatine. The 14-game schedule starts Nov. 12 and continues through the 25th of February, as follows:

Nov. 12, St. Viator vs Driscoll, 7:30 p.m.
Nov. 19, Arlington vs St. Viator, 3:00 p.m.
Nov. 26, Rolling Meadows vs St. Viator, 9:00 p.m.

Kickin' It Around

BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

BOB BLACKMAN must wonder why he ever left the peace and quiet of Dartmouth College.

When the University of Illinois football coach departed the calm Ivy League for the stormy Big Ten, he knew he was accepting a stiff challenge.

He asked for a chance to straighten out and rebuild a disorganized and erratic football program, a program that had been floundering since popular Pete Elliott was forced out over the "slush fund" incident.

Blackman expected problems in his effort, but I seriously doubt if he ever expected problems so soon from within his own school community. That was the jolt he received last week when the student newspaper released a story on a "communications problem" between the coaches and players.

The timing of this story was interesting because Illinois had just lost its seventh straight game while playing what has been judged possibly the toughest schedule in the history of college football.

The fact that there were some grumbling players, mainly reserves, on an 0-7 team is hardly the news story of the year. It would have been almost comical if it weren't so damaging to a school that just doesn't need or even deserve this type of publicity two or three times a year. But gets it.

First the student paper and then the press throughout the state leaped on the story with a chain reaction of screaming headlines. "15 Illini Players Blast Blackman... Coach Lacking In Rapport, Too Aloof," was the way one Chicago paper played it up, but then the Chicago press is an easily excitable bunch that seems to delight in taking jabs at Illinois. Nothing they do is surprising.

Everything has simmered down now. Many of the players were embarrassed by the entire episode. Some admitted it had been blown out of proportion. The Illini crushed Northwestern Saturday for their first victory, and there's nothing like a victory to soothe ruffled feelings.

But the fact remains that there was irreparable damage done. There's not a high school, college or pro team in the country that doesn't have some guys who think they should be playing who aren't. The coaches are working with highly competitive young men and the players should want to be playing.

What these players should consider is the situation at this time and the unavoidable repercussions when they complain in public. Illinois was playing a suicide schedule with several key players sidelined by grades and injuries and a standout quarterback trying to shake a nagging finger injury that severely hampered his play.

"The publicity didn't bother the squad so much," said Blackman. "In fact, they got some laughs out of it. But it hurt us around the state. Let me tell you how far things like that can get out of hand. I was asked to appear on a television show in Chicago, and the first question was a request for me to comment on the racial problems on our squad. Now that's the first time that has ever even been mentioned, and that's certainly not a problem with us."

"The entire matter was blown totally out of proportion."

Blackman is obviously concerned with the effect this latest negative publicity will have on his recruiting efforts, particularly in Chicago. The lifeblood of the university athletic program is recruiting, and the heart of the Illinois recruiting must be in Chicago. Those headlines last week, however distorted, were seen by many youngsters who soon will be making their college selection.

Blackman said the entire episode "set the UI football program back three years." I think that judgment might be a little harsh because the high-quality player, the type of youngster Blackman is so eagerly recruiting, should be able to see behind those trivial mutterings of some disappointed reserves. Many of the bitter players weren't even recruited by Blackman, which must tell you something.

The disturbing aspect of this entire situation is that a successful football program is based to a great extent on the state of mind of the people involved, the importance of the sport to the residents of the community and surrounding territory, the pride of the people, the public relations image of the university, and the tough-mindedness of the athletes.

Blackman emphasizes "state pride" in his talks around Illinois, but even this veteran coach knows that it is not hard to find state pride where victory is a constant companion. State pride comes with something to be proud of. Bob is also fighting serious state competition in his effort to rebuild the Illinois program.

Louisiana State, for example, has no serious state competition. Neither does Arkansas or Nebraska. The football teams of Texas and Oklahoma are almost national institutions and Southern California is not that far behind.

In Illinois not only are Iowa, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Notre Dame close, or closer to all that Chicago area talent, there are interlopers like Northern, Southern, and Illinois State, all with huge enrollments and all with designs on big-time status.

Do you think there is room for any state pride for Illinois football in DeKalb, or Carbondale, or Bloomington? Maybe a bit, but for the most part, they've got their own teams to worry about.

In the modern era Illinois has never been a consistently good football school and there will never be any of this state pride that Blackman covets until he can first establish a program that will produce several outstanding seasons in succession.

It won't be easy, but he certainly deserves the chance — and much more time. He hasn't even finished two years. He's only recruited two classes at Illinois, one admittedly a rush job in a transition period.

What happened last week did nothing to help Blackman in his effort to rebuild the Illinois football program. It was just another in a continuing series of body blows to the Illinois sports program.

One of these days things may calm down. One of these days people may stop taking potshots at a school struggling to get off the floor.

Losing magnifies everything. There's nothing wrong at Illinois that winning wouldn't cure.

What's so new about that?

Unbeaten Alabama, LSU Clash In College Feature

by MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Wizard of Odds

Egad, friends, with four weeks to go in the regular season there are only five major eleven with unsullied records — Southern California (9-0), Alabama (8-0), Michigan (8-0), LSU (7-0) and Ohio State (7-0). And something, dear readers, has got to give this week when two of the elite — Alabama and LSU — do battle for the Southeastern Conference lead — umkum!

Of the other three, Southern Cal has the week off to get ready for its Pacific 8 title match with UCLA on Nov. 18, while Michigan and Ohio State take on Big Ten foes.

In the big one at Birmingham, your favorite correspondent gives the edge to Bear Bryant's Alabama stalwarts over the come-from-behind miracle workers of old friend Charlie McClendon. We — hah-kaff — foresee the Tide rolling past LSU's Fighting Tigers, 27-22 — har-rumph!

While the Trojans are resting, UCLA's Bruins will be sharpening their claws — heh-heh — with a 34-10 triumph over the outmanned Washington Huskies. And in the big Midwest matches, Ohio State's Buckeyes will make it eight straight by a narrow 21-20 count over Duffy Daugherty's rejuvenated Michigan State gladiators, and Michigan will record its ninth in a row by routing Iowa, 33-12!

In the Big Eight, Nebraska (7-1) and Oklahoma (6-1) will have little trouble with Iowa State and Missouri respectively. The Hoople System — kaff-kaff — picks 'em, Nebraska 47, Iowa State 10, and Oklahoma 34, Missouri 17.

In a contest that's sure to be a crowd pleaser, arch rivals Utah and Utah State will get together at Logan for their 71st gridiron meeting. Watch for a high-scoring fray as Utah repels the Aggies, 42-28!

The Hoople Three Star special of the week is the University of Tampa to shock intrastate rival Miami, 13-8, in the Orange Bowl. Earle Bruce's boys will be high for this one — har-rumph!

Now go on with the forecast.

—Elk Grove Vs. Hersey For Title

that quarterback's arm and more than a couple fine receivers it can team up with," Schnake said. "We know he's improved and matured a great deal since we last met up with him. He's bound to cause us an awful lot of trouble."

Conversely, Elk Grove's opposition has almost been encouraged to throw the ball rather than answer to the Grenadiers' defensive line bulwarked by the likes of 225-pound Rich O'Leary and 205-pound Dan Mincey.

The Grens' defense has made rushing a veritable dead end street. The last three Grove foes combined have netted just 30 yards on the turf and over the total campaign, the enemy has averaged a paltry 1.9 yards in nearly 300 individual attempts.

"We feel we can pass against them," Gliwa stated frankly. "We expect a hard pass rush and for some of their kids to be hanging back looking for the pass. But if we can give Zakula the time he needs to set up, he's going to be dangerous.

"Our scouting reports said that it is 'suicide' to run at their big tackles all day," Gliwa disclosed. "It's going to take an exceptional effort on the part of our kids and we're going to need aggressive line play, but we think we can move against them."

Saddled with the assignment of either clearing a path through Mincey and O'Leary for fullback Scott Miesfeldt or protecting Zakula from the Grenadier duo's expected rush are Husky cornerstones Brian Nelson and Tom Loch (opposite Mincey) and Kevin Pancratz and Marty Priel (opposite O'Leary).

It won't mark the first time Hersey has clashed with a bigger, more physical team. "I think this game could be termed the survival of the fittest," Gliwa said. "A couple of key injuries could really change the complexion of the game in a hurry."

"We're noticeably smaller than they are physically, but we're used to it," he continued. "When you keep playing all year, you just lick your wounds and come back harder. You're only as good as the people you play and having lost to the two top-rated teams in the area (Elk Grove and St. Viator), I guess we're ready."

"We fought for the title in our division for one more chance at Elk Grove. This is it."

This is also one rerun nobody will mind seeing again.

Three Harper Harriers Run In Florida Saturday

by LARRY EVERHART
Cross Country Editor

Harper College's three best cross country runners face their most demanding test of all in a climax to the long season Saturday in the National Junior College Final meet in Pensacola, Fla.

Mike DeLaBruere, Ron Hankel and Bill Bates all qualified for the Hawks by being among the top dozen runners in the Region IV meet two weeks ago. Harper as a team finished third, but those three individual standouts have led the team all season and turned in some of the best performances in the school's brief history. Hankel is a graduate of Prospect High School, and Bates attended Forest View.

In last week's Skyway Conference meet, which Harper won easily, all three runners broke the previous course record. The Hawks had no less than four runners (also including John Geary, a Palatine grad) break the 21-minute mark for four miles.

Most impressive of all was DeLaBruere, who won the individual conference crown with a sparkling 20:18 — 39 seconds better than the previous record. Holding the mark previously was Hankel, who also surpassed it with an excellent 20:40. Bates checked in with 20:57.

The course which will host the nation's top junior college runners Saturday is Ellison Field, surrounding a Navy Air Base. It is fairly flat — part grass, part roads.

Last year, when Danville, Ill. hosted the national finals, Harper entered as an entire team for the first time. They finished 24th. Best individual showing ever by a Hawk was three years ago when Jim Macnider—now at North Central College — placed 21st at the national meet in Pittsburgh. He missed being an All-America (top 20) by one second.

Getting back to this year, it has been another fine season for Harper. Besides romping to the conference title, the Hawks were 9-0 in dual meets and ran a winning streak in such meets to 25 straight since October, 1970. Their only disappointment was finishing third in the Region meet.

The season could look even brighter after tomorrow when more individual honors could be added.

Encourage Car Pools For Game

Tickets are on sale for the Super Bowl III Mid-Suburban League championship game between North Division titlist Hersey and South representative Elk Grove slated for Friday at 8 p.m.

Tickets cost $1.25 for adults, $.75 for students with identification cards and $.75 for all children, regardless of age and may be purchased at the main offices of either school in advance between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. through Friday.

In anticipation of an overflow crowd, those planning to attend the game are urged to organize car pools. Elk Grove students are encouraged to ride the school buses ($.50).

Tickets may be purchased beginning at 7 p.m. at the gate prior to the game at Hersey, but the gates will be open at 6:30 for those who have purchased them in advance. No seats will be reserved.

Passes that will be honored at the pass gate include the Mid-Suburban League Pass, the Inter-Suburban League Pass, special employee pass for Elk Grove and Hersey (immediate family included), I.H.S.A. officers, sideline pass which must be displayed, Hersey High School student athletic pass and fall sport participants pass and Gold Card passes. Nothing else is acceptable.

ON THE LOOSE. With defensive linemen John Schoen (52) and Steve Uhlarik applying the pressure, a Schaumburg back has the ball squirt out of his hands at Elk Grove Friday. Rain and mud prompted 13 loose balls during the game but the fumbles did little to hinder the Grenadiers as they roared to a 42-0 triumph.

Arlington Minor Hockey

(Ed. Note: Typewriter needs fixing because it was extremely difficult to make out some of the names on this week's hockey reports. We'd like to be accurate on the names but it is impossible when there are letters on top of each other or letters high on the line.)

Conoco 7, Arco 2
David Zimmer scored two unassisted goals plus another with an assist from Leo Lewis. Ben Mattox scored one unassisted goal and two others with assist from Paul Fink and Dan Pfeiffer while Jim Banart scored the other Conoco goal assisted by David Zimmer and Warren Johnson. Arco goals were scored by John Carberry, both unassisted. Goalie Mark Monroe had a good game for Conoco.

Arlington Soft Water 11, Johnson's Sporting Goods 2
Two players scored all the goals for Arlington Soft Water. Doug Kinney with six and Paul Kula with five. Juan Villego, Dave Moreno, John Kopanski, Jack Lubrecher and John Limp assisted. For Johnson's, Joe Ducote scored both goals with assists from Mike Salazar and George Lear.

Arlington Soft Water 10, Conoco 4
Doug Kinney with four goals and Paul Kula with three led AHSW to victory over Conoco. John Kopanski, Jack Lubrecher, and Dave Moreno also scored, with Dave Moreno, Bob Mache and Juan Villego assisting. Ben Mattox scored two goals for Conoco while Dan Pfeiffer and Dave Zimmer scored once each. Dave Zimmer assisted on two goals.

Arlington Soft Water 11, Wauconda Chiefs 1
Paul Kula scored an amazing seven goals and assisted on another as AHSW overpowered the Wauconda Chiefs, a recent entry to the league. Dave Moreno with two goals and five assists was another star, helped by Doug Kinney, Jon Limp with single goals, Doug Kinney also assisted on two other goals, with Kevin Wiley.

Johnson's Sporting Goods 4, Arco 3
Both teams were in this clean hard fought game all the way, with Johnson's scoring the winning goal in the closing minutes. Mike Knight for Johnson's and Dave Jenkins for Arco both put in fine performances in goal with excellent support from defensemen on both teams. Carl Brewer and three goals by Dave Roncl, with assists by George Lear and Macioce won it for Johnson's while Bill Donato, Jim Newton and John Lumley scored the goals that almost won it for Arco. Both teams played good positional hockey and showed great improvement over their initial efforts.

ALL-STARS BEAT NAPERVILLE
The Arlington Bantam All Stars hosted the Bantams from Naperville on Saturday and handed them a 4-1 loss. Tom Macdonald opened the scoring, assisted by Bob Bettis and Jeff Gardner. After Naperville tied it up, Doug Peisue put Arlington ahead to stay with his 4th goal of the season in the second period. Insurance tallies were added by Bob Rosequist on a superb pass by Rick Palmer and the last goal was by Capt. Jerry Dudziak. John Roth was great in the nets. After five games, his goals against average is 0.64.

Jaycees Top Bangerts
Superb goaltending, by Dino Pierotte and Tom McQuire, and tight defensive work, enabled the Arlington Jaycees to defeat the Bangerts, 3-0.

Len Jarocki scored two goals, while a single goal went to Richard Duell. Assists were credited to Mark Kanteckip Jim Fredian and Steve Smethurst.

A fine defensive game was played by Chris Lindahl.

Pee-Wee Whip Naperville
The Arlington Heights Pee-Wee Allstars played a fine game against Naperville. In spite of spending 27 minutes in the penalty ox.

Vicki Lynn Sylvester of Rolling Meadows is only eight years old, but is already making headway in the field of horses.

The little equestrian, who has been taking lessons for about 14 months, entered five horse shows at Happy Day Stables in Norridge.

On Nov. 5, Vicki entered the Intermediate Equitation II and finished a fine third out of a class of 13. In her second competition in the Hunter's Seat Equitation for 13-year-olds and under, Vicki finished fifth from a class of 17. Her next show is Dec. 3.

Federation, Big Eight Join Forces

The Big Eight Conference wrestling coaches voted unanimously to join forces with the United States Wrestling Federation in an effort to improve amateur wrestling in America.

In their annual meeting, the Big Eight coaches passed a resolution indicating "full support for the USWF in its policies and in the promotion of wrestling in the United States of America."

"Political maneuvering by the United States Olympic Committee has deprived the United States from achieving a high plateau in international wrestling circles," said Big Eight commissioner Charles M. Neinas. "The Big Eight Conference intends to utilize its energy and resources to assist the U. S. Wrestling Federation."

The Big Eight has been the backbone of collegiate wrestling, with member institutions winning all but five NCAA wrestling team championships. In the recent summer Olympics at Munich, three Conference athletes, Wayne Wells of Oklahoma, Ben Peterson and Dan Gable of Iowa State, each won gold medals in freestyle wrestling. Chris Taylor, Iowa State heavyweight, was a bronze medalist.

The Conference indicated that this year's fine showing at the Olympics was a result of the international competition experienced through the Wrestling Federation in the past few years.

Orval Borgialli of the University of Nebraska is chairman of the Big Eight wrestling coaches. Other Conference coaches are Harold J. Nichols, Iowa State University; Dale Samuelson, Kansas State University; Tommy Chesbro, Oklahoma State University; Shelby Wilson, University of Colorado; Vernon (Hap) Whitney, University of Missouri and Stan Abel, University of Oklahoma.

Wilson, who wrestled at Oklahoma State, is one of twelve Olympic gold medalists and 56 Olympians from the Big Eight Conference.

Hoffman Estates Football

by AL REZNIK

The Saints came marching in... That was the happy tune played last Saturday on the Hillcrest playground gridiron as the Saints defeated the Bears, 6-0, for the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association Pee Wee League title.

The loss was the first of the season for the previously unscathed Bears — a bitter pill to swallow for Coach Frank Vlasaty's youngsters who had run roughshod over all comers during the regular eight-game schedule.

The Saints' victory was their seventh against two ties — were fired-up from the opening whistle and, although outgained statistically, took the play away from the Bears, turning in a rock-ribbed defensive effort that allowed the Bears inside their 20 yard line only twice before putting together just enough offensive thrust to earn the victory.

Jubilant Coach Dick Russo — his squad would have carried him from the field were it not for his Abe Gibrone-like grin — hurled kisses at his youngsters, and tried vainly to lift the team members who had turned in a superlative job.

My quarterback Craig Joyce, sort of came of age in this game, can you imagine, a pocket and picked out a secondary receiver with the smoothness of a much older player. (One of his two pass completions, to left end Greg Carrell, although gaining but four yards, set up the winning touchdown early in the fourth period.)

Then there was Larry Mead, who skirted right and for three yards and the touchdown pass, and made a game-saving tackle... and Rickey Russo (coach's son) who three times punted the team out of danger.

"A team effort," exulted Russo, "just as these boys have been doing week-in-and-week-out. I couldn't be more proud if we'd have won the Super Bowl."

(The Saints get the bow bid, too: this Saturday, at noon on the Conant High School field, they'll take on Schaumburg's Pee Wees in the Pee Wee Bowl.)

The Bears gained most of the yardage in the contest played before several hundred spectators — 53 in the first half while holding the Saints to minus-1 and 114 net yards for the game while the Saints managed but 40.

Once, a Bear halfback turned the corner and almost broke free; but there was Carver Cavish in the way. Another time, a pass from Frank Vlasaty (coach's son) to Bret Mueller gained 17 yards and sailed by a step from going all the way.

But it was not the Bears day; they lost five fumbles and suffered two pass interceptions. The Saints, meanwhile, played flawless ball — no turnovers.

The game's lone score came following an up-and-down Bears punt that gave the winner's ball on the loser's 10. A dive gained one; that Joyce to Carrell pass gained four, a sweep netted a pair, and around end went Mead for the touchdown.

A heart-broken Coach Vlasaty cited the quartet of Mike Lents, Terry McCoy, Jim Conell and Mueller for their outstanding play. "It just wasn't meant to be," the coach said, "but these kids were championship all year. I'm very proud."

The Browns were something all year. Highlighted Hoffman Estates football action, the Browns of the Widget League also made big news.

The Browns wrapped up an undisputed title with a resounding 44-0 triumph over Schaumburg. It was the winner's ninth straight victory after a season-opening loss to the runnerup Chiefs.

The win also gave the Browns the right to move into the Widget bowl — 2:30 Saturday afternoon at Conant, following the Pee Wee bowl — as host to the Glenside Widget champs.

Ray Powell again was the big gun for the Browns. He got the winner's off to a flying start with a 65-yard TD return of the opening kickoff, and later rammed 44 yards for a touchdown.

Five other Browns scored: Keith Eibel on an 8-yard dash, Brian Ward, a 36-yard run, a dive for 2 yards, Gene Mapes, a 3-yard scamper, and Brian Aldrich, the day's longest scrimmage run — 60 yards. Powell and Mike Case recorded the only two conversions.

The Browns rolled to a 25-0 first half lead, and Coach Jack Scialabba played his number two offense and defense the entire second half. That defense held the Saints to 13 net yard in those final two periods.

The Browns' staff cited Kevin Hubbard, Chip Bambulis, Mike Cebulski, Rob Cebulski, Curt Compton, Jim Fabbrini, Craig Fillingim, Scott Glass, Chuck Lents, John Linsen and David Spaeth for outstanding effort.

The Chiefs wrapped up second place with an 8-1 record by dumping last year's champion — this year's third place team — the Falcons, 19-7.

As it turned out, the game was decided in the first two minutes when the Chiefs put two touchdowns on the board before the Falcons ran a play from scrimmage. And before the first quarter was over, the winners had put all 19 of their points on the scoreboard; they then held off a spirited comeback by the Falcons, particularly in the fourth period.

The Chiefs moved from the opening kickoff into paydirt in seven plays, George Rush going the final 26 yards off guard. The PAT was good.

Falcons coach halfback Marty Pugh took the ensuing kickoff back from his two to the 32, but there was cracked hard and fumbled, Tom Gallo recovering for the Chiefs. A five yard penalty moved the ball to the 27, from where scathback Ron Jurgenson dashed off tackle into the end zone behind king blocks from Gallo and Dave Hunderreier.

It took the Chiefs just two plays to score again the next time they had the ball. First came a 17-yard sweep, then a beautiful pass from Jurgenson to Tom Danowski for 43 yards and the score.

The Falcons couldn't muster their offense in the first half, their vaunted ground game was stopped without a first down in those two periods.

Quarterback Jimmy Murphy finally got his team moving in the third period, the Falcons going 40 yards in eight plays for their lone score. Scathback Mike Daly gained eight of those yards including the final one for the TD; Murphy highlighted the drive with a dazzling 19-yard scamper on a keeper around his right end behind the blocking of Pugh, Daly, Rich Doan and a pulling lineman or two. He slid out of bounds on the one yard line. Doan plunged in for the extra point.

The Falcons recovered two Chiefs fumbles in the fourth period, but neither time were they able to start a sustained march. Chiefs' back Rick Broadus halted one drive with his second interception of the game, the other with a key tackle. The Falcons' final effort also was halted by an interception, this one by Mark Noble.

Daly gained almost half the Falcons' total yardage, 36 of the 74 net yards. Pugh was held to 20 net yards, yet finished the season with 652-net yards and a better than six-yards-per-carry average.

Gallo and Bob Slania led the Chiefs' defense with 10 and 11 tackles respectively, while the Schenck brothers, Rich and Bill, led the Falcons' defenders; each accounted for seven tackles.

In the day's third Widget game, the Giants defeated Hanter Park 25-0.

Palatine Hockey

MITES DIVISION

In their season opener the Palatine Mites lost to the V.F.W. Demons of Dundee 8-3. Mike Gellinger scored all three scores for Palatine. In the net for Palatine was Don Miller and Dennis Myers. In other games the Mites were defeated by the Elmhurst Huskies 13-0. The Palatine Mites defeated Streamwood 7-1 with goals being scored by Mike Gellinger (five), Peter Calleri (one), and David Graveline (one). In the nets were Myers and Miller.

In their most recent game the Palatine Mites lost to Schaumburg 8-0. Don Miller and Dennis Murphy shared the goal tending duties. There were some good scoring opportunities for the Mites, but they failed to materialize. The Mites play each Saturday morning at the Polar Dome in Dundee.

PEE-WEE DIVISION

The Palatine Jaycees hosted defending state champs Park Ridge and lost a tough game 3-2. Park Ridge opened the scoring on a picture play, Stoltzner to Anderson in the period the goal. The Jaycees came back in the second period, assisted by K. C. Gullett and Brett Anderson. The second period was scoreless, but in the third period Park Ridge went ahead on goals by Peeli, assisted by Staryek, and Staryek assisted by Collins. Palatine came back with David Anderson's second goal but time ran out. Scott Vena was in the nets for the Jaycees.

The next day the Jaycees hosted the Wilmette All-Stars. Apparently still feeling the effects of Saturday's loss to Park Ridge, the Jaycees were completely out-played and lost 8-1. Wilmette representing the largest hockey program in the state, dominated the game and only a third period goal by David Anderson, assisted by K. C. Gullett and Ed Price saved the embarrassment of a shutout.

Tuesday the Jaycees failed to shake out of their slump this time losing to the Elmhurst Black Huskies 4-0. Unable to overcome many defensive mistakes the Jaycees suffered their first shutout. Scoring for Elmhurst span, Palatine, unassisted, Brukko from Little, Stanchfield from Rose, and Pye and Perri assisted by Keules. In the nets for the Jaycees were Scott Vena and Rick Mitchell.

MIDGET DIVISION

Madison County, Wisconsin teams came to the Spectrum and handed Palatine its second loss of the season. The fine Madison team tallied twice in the first period and then in the early part of the second period put two more in the net. There was a fine feed pass from John Fredrickson allowed Tom Garafola to put it past their goal tender. But that was the only time Palatine was able to score. The next four goals were all scored for Madison in the third period, in a six and one-half minute span. Palatine will get a return match in Madison Nov. 12.

In a regular league game against the Tri-City Royals at the Polar Dome, Palatine, sponsored by the Arlington Elks, was looking for a win after dropping the game to Madison. Palatine poured it on 9-0 in their first shutout of the season. The boys worked to earn Jim Sprinkle his shutout patch. The scoring was done by Tom Garafola (two), Kevin Fromm (three), Mark Dittich (one), Tom Glynn (three), Assists by Tom Garafola (two), Kevin Fromm (two) and one each for Phil Haglund and Mike Doruff.

The Palatine Norsemen and the Elmhurst Black Huskies competed in a scrimmage game. Again Jim Sprinkle had an outstanding game. Because it was only a practice game records were not kept, but the final score was Elmhurst 3, Palatine 2.

The Palatine Norsemen took on the Arlington All-Stars in their first league game in a 16-game schedule. Arlington was first to score with a quick goal in the first period by John Walsh assisted by Witek and in the second period missed opportunities Palatine scored in the third period, Keven Fromm assisted by Mike McSweeney and Tom Garafola. Final score was Arlington 2, Palatine 1.

PANTAM DIVISION

Palatine Kiwanis defeated Streamwood 4-0 in the Polar Dome League in Dundee. Goals John Mahoney and Joe Koenig split the game in the nets and were credited with the first shut out of the season for the Kiwanians. John Smith and Gene Actenberg, Gary Garafola and Steve Bridwell scored the goals. Assists were credited to Dave Menick, Bucky Olson, Gary Abrahamson, and Roger Tucker.

The Kiwanians also defeated the Tri-City Royals 7-2 in their next league outing. Tri-City's two goals were scored by Sullivan and Dave Gray with assists going to Gligl and Redd. Tim Beatty scored two goals for the Kiwanians. This is the first time this season one of the Kiwanians has scored more than one goal. The other goals were scored by Bucky Olson, Gary Garafola, Gene Actenberg, John Klncais and Scott Zordan. Bill Brettschneider picked up a pair of assists and Gary Garafola and Steve Bridwell were each credited with one.

In their latest contest, the Kiwanians tied the Dundee V.F.W. Demons 2-2. Mark Longer scored both goals for the Demons and Heiss was credited with one assist. The Kiwanians goals were scored by Gene Actenberg and Rick Flynn with assists going to Scott Zordan, Dan McSweeney and Bob Greenhill. These two teams have played three practice games previous to this meeting and every game has ended in a tie. The Kiwanians record so far this year in the Dundee League is two wins, one loss and one tie.

The Palatine Mites traveling team improved their season hockey record to two wins, three losses on Saturday as they blanked the Hoffman Estates Mites 12-0 at the Polar Dome in Dundee.

The Palatine scoring attack was led by Mike Gellinger and Darren Stork, who each had three goals. Stork also added an assist. Matt McElman and Clark Lush each scored a pair of goals while single goals were scored by David Graveline and Erik Jeffries. Jeffries also had an assist as did Ted Wilson.

The shutout performance was shared by goalies Dennis Myers and Don Miller.

The Phosine team showed a good passing attack and the squad played excellent passing hockey.

The Palatine Mites will try to even their season record next Saturday, as they face the Elmhurst Huskies Mite team. Elmhurst is the league leader. The game will be played at the Polar Dome in Dundee at 8:20 a.m.

Set Final Plans For Chicago's Auto Show

Final plans and decorations for the 1973 Chicago Auto Show, expected to be the largest ever staged in this country, were given enthusiastic approval by members of the Executive Show Committee which will direct the operation of the nine-day event opening Feb. 24 in McCormick Place.

Scale models of the two-floor exhibition areas, which will contain spectacular displays featuring some 550 U.S. passenger cars, imports, recreational and commercial vehicles, were inspected and approved. Clarence W. Marquardt, Jr., Show Chairman, said the show will comprise the largest amount of floor space ever taken at an auto show in the United States. He added:

"We are preparing to present an exhibition that is not only complete in every automotive respect, but will also be an entertaining car shopping wonderland. The tremendous success of the 1972 show has inspired the car makers to seek even larger display areas for their 1973 products. In addition, we have been besieged for exhibit space by many manufacturers of after market products and accessories and auto-related items."

The 1972 show, staged last Feb. 26-

FOR MORE EFFICIENT COMBUSTION, OUR '73 VOLVOS HAVE NO CARBURETORS.

Volvo run fine with carburetors. But they run better without them. The drawback to carbureted cars is that your foot decides what fuel/air mixture the engine gets. The heavier-handed your foot is, the more gas your engine sucks in.

Our 1973 Volvos, however, have fuel injection. It's controlled by a device slightly more precise than an electronic computer automatically determines the correct fuel/air mixture for every driving condition. Then orders it injected directly into each cylinder. Resulting in more efficient use of your gas. And cleaner exhaust.

So when you notice something missing under the hoods of our 1973 Volvos, don't worry. You'll never miss it.

'Big Brothers' Aid Fatherless Boys

There's no trick to treating yourself to sports exhibition and simultaneously benefiting fatherless boys from the greater Chicago area.

All you have to do is contact the Big Brothers of Metropolitan Chicago. The non-profit, human relations organization now has patron tickets on sale for a world-famous Globetrotters game to be held Friday, Dec. 8, at Northwestern University's McGraw Hall. All proceeds from Big Brothers ticket sales will support the unique charitable activities of the group.

Formed locally about two years ago, the organization provides "big brothers" for fatherless boys aged 8 to 17. The big brothers — all of them volunteers — provide the adult male companionship and guidance that many boys desperately need because they come from fatherless families. The goal of the program is to give the youngsters the attention, confidence, care and self-esteem they need to grow up into responsible and fulfilled men.

To accomplish this, the Big Brothers carefully screens adult males and matches them to their "little brothers" on a one-for-one basis. Big Brothers, who may be married or single, hold positions ranging from physician to steelworker.

For ticket information and other details write: Big Brothers of Metropolitan Chicago, 343 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois 60604. Or call 312-427-0637.

Rifles Set 4th Annual Awards Night

The Lake County Rifles Quarterback Club will hold its 4th Annual Awards Banquet at the Brae Loch Country Club, Grayslake at 6:00 p.m. on Dec. 3. The two most valuable players from each of the county's high school football teams, 36 in all, will be feted with inscribed trophies.

Also to be honored is the Lake County High School Coach-of-the-Year, yet to be named, who will receive the traditional "Golden Whistle" award.

Unlike years past, this banquet will also host the Lake County Rifles Football Team, recent winners of the C.S.F.L.'s Southern Division title. The Quarterback Club will present trophies to the M.V.P. of the Rifles' offensive and defensive teams.

A guest speaker from one of Chicago's major professional teams will address those attending the event.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of substantial college scholarship grants to two of the Prep Trophy Winners. The Quarterback Club is now sponsoring six young men from area high schools, previous winners of the coveted scholarships.

A limited number of tickets are available for this event and may be obtained through the Rifles' office in Libertyville, 362-8050, or by writing the Rifles Quarterback Club, P. O. Box 514, Libertyville. Donations are $7.50 per person. Cocktails will be served at 5:00 P.M.

Mount Prospect Midget Football

by DICK WEAVER

The 18th season of Mount Prospect Midget Football Association gridiron action was wrapped up Sunday at Lions Park, as each team completed its eight game schedule. The annual football dance on Saturday night at Chevy Chase Country Club and the All Star games at Lions Park on Sunday will wind up all league activity until the 1973 season.

The game of the week pitted the Colts against the Bears with the winner becoming the Senior Division champion. A finger-nail-biter to the final whistle, the Colts nosed out the Bears 13-12. The Giants and Packers ended their season on a winning note.

The Junior National champ Vikings and American champ Chiefs notched another victory, with the Cowboys, Eagles, Redskins and Steelers also bringing home a win.

In the Bantam Division, the Gophers and Bruins of the American league share a first place title with identical 7-1 records, and the Boiler-makers are the National league top bananas. Other Sunday afternoon winners were the Spartans and Illini. The Hoosier - Wildcat game ended in a 0-0 deadlock.

SENIOR DIVISION

The Colts came from behind to shade the Bears 13-12 and win the Senior Division championship on passes from Mike Frushour to Matt Hardt, first for the tying TD and then for the winning extra point. Earlier, Frushour, Jeff Carlson had several key receptions and Jim Clarke made a lot of yardage up the middle behind the blocking of Darwin Lewis, Rick Krumtinger and Jim Zielinski. Mark Bassie, Ed Henrich, Mike Bobowski, Brian Huske and Scott Christensen all played a very strong defensive game.

The previously unbeaten and unscored on Bears played well enough to win. Lou Citro set up their first TD with a 49 yard ramble and then carried it in from the two. Ron Alesia intercepted and found paydirt from the 30 for the other score. Vandy Johnson, Rick Lewis and Jeff Laver were the offensive standouts and Bob Smith and Mike Hurley were bell-ringing tacklers. Andy Loos and Eric Bauer also had interceptions and Bauer boomed one punt 53 yards.

The Packers shut out the Cardinals 6-0 as John Mischevich fired a strike to end Bill Payne in the clear and he outran the safeties for the lone score. The passing of Gary Schreiber, the rushing of Jeff O'Connor and the running of Art Steven and Kevin Leach all contributed to the win. Jim Kennedy and Kevin Kronforst threw the opposition for big losses as Steve Miskovetz and Jeff Jones recovered fumbles.

The big offensive weapon for the Cardinals was the running of Jeff Scherer and Paul Izban behind the blocking of Scott Stevens. Defensively, Brendon Keady and Scherer picked off enemy passes and John Kriescher and Randy Williams pounced on fumbles. Pat Murphy put on a strong pass rush.

Hurryin' Harry Babikian scored two TDs on a long sweep and a pass interception as the Giants tamed the Lions 21-12. Jim Peterson scored the other nine points on a plunge and three PATs. Pat Sidorchuk and Wayne Argast blocked very well while filling in for two injured players. Dave McKown was tops on defense as he blocked a punt to set up a quick score. Tom Kutrowacz also blocked a punt and recovered a fumble. Leo Veseling and Len Reitz teamed up to make several tackles in their backfield.

The Lions' two touchdowns were scored by QB Glen Scott. Eddie Iwanski gained over 150 yards on the ground as Mark Lockowitz, Randy Harper and Bob Morris threw key blocks on every play. Jim Gajda, Steve Chromik and Jim Curley were all bell ringing tacklers.

Doug Shattuck intercepted a pass and Tom Van Wazer and Chris Cielie recovered fumbles.

JUNIOR DIVISION

Marvelous Mike Carroll tallied twice as the Redskins shot down the Jets 20-0. Bob Sophie scored the other TD on an eight yard plunge and Joe Schmidt and Ian Wood added the conversions. Brett Blanche and Steve Weissens-tein provided the blocking for QB Steve Ford as he was on the throwing end of one of the TDs and a point after. Bart Hogreve made a top notch catch on a 30 yard pass play. Brad Hiller blocked a punt to set up a score and Dan Ayers intercepted a pass. Tony Barra and Tom Brothers were deadly tacklers.

For the Jets, Bob Okuma and Tom Redig did the blocking for the offensive thrusts of the Arredia brothers, the running of Chuck Norman ran deceptive pass patterns. Brian Kier, Jim Mastropolio and Mike Lucansky paced the defense.

The Vikings racked up their fourth consecutive Junior National championship as they took the Rams 32-7. Their four year record is 25-2-2. Mike Jennings scored TDs on a sensational 75 yard kickoff return and a 40 yard pass play. Scott Spielmann, Lou Manao and Jack White accounted for the points. Six point-ers as Mike DeFatta and Bob Cherwin provided top notch blocking. Tim Doyle and Spielmann registered the conversions. Mike Frasch, Ed Doyle and White anchored the defensive squad.

Ram slotback Randy McBride rambled 29 yards to set up Luke Hardt's four yard scoring plunge. QB Scotty Nickle had a nice play selection and Billy Zschach ran for daylight. Kurt Anderson had several booming punts. Ben White, Bob Vlach and Mike Kordecki were a trio of fierce tacklers.

The Chiefs, sole possessors of an unblemished record, walked off with the American Junior championship after their 20-0 victory over the 49ers. Those fabulous scabbacks Mark Smolan and Tom Smith scored 13 and 7 points respectively. Dave Koz, Dan O'Connor and Don Huff provided the pass protection for QB Joe Carcerano as he unleashed a 50 yard pass for a score. Dave Baldassarre and Tim Maloney ruled the roost with their tackling, as Dave LaCrosse blocked two punts. Dan Dojko, Kevin Lowe, Tony Falduto, Jim Van Heften, Smith and Smolan all recovered fumbles.

The 49ers played a good second half in holding their opponents scoreless. Bob Lepolko, Chip Crooks and Bob Magnus were the leading group gainers. Dave Rogers, John Roh and Tom Simms were a big plus with their tackling.

Mark Shaputis plunged one yard for the lone TD as the Eagles shaded the Falcons 6-0. TD as the Eagles shaded the Falcons 6-0. The Heinemann helped pave the way with their solid blocking. The stingy defense, which was anchored by the linebacking corps of Marty Boyles, Greg Miller and Jeff Patterson. The game was decided when the defense held for four downs from their own three yard line after a fumbled punt.

Falcon punter Mike Veseling had an outstanding afternoon as two of his five punts traveled over 40 yards. Dave Marotske and Frank Garapolo were also cited for their plan on offense. The fine defensive unit received stellar performances from John Maestranzi, Rich Schneider, Keith Davis and Don Wendel. The Falcon team thanks all of their opponents for an outstanding brand of football.

Head coach Bob McBride's Cowboys beat the Raiders 20-13 as Dan Ross scored two TDs and two PATs, all on QB keepers. Gregs Kevin Jaychek, Tim Touhy and Dan Lessner all ran well for good yardage. Bob Ross brought the fans to their feet with a 20 yard punt return. On defense, Joe Bopp, Jim Callahan, Bruce Heath, Mike Douvris and John Lesniak did it all - recovered fumbles, intercepted passes, knocked down passes and made key tackles.

Head coach George Kruty's Raiders played a very fine ball game as Steve Kruto pitched long scoring strikes to ends Bob Tolley and Craig Chupiek. Chris Klein tallied the conversion. The running of Bob Conway and Kelly Martin and the blocking of Bob Jaegers kept the opposition at bay. The defense, which was led by Scott Sheldon, Mike Cruz and Rick Lisham, held for six plays inside their own four yard line.

A third quarter 25 yard pass play from Dandy Denny Robbins to tall Tim Dixon proved to be the winning margin as the strong Steelers blanked the big Browns 6-0. The "fearless five," composed of Tim Dixon, Billy Kondrat, Jay Miller, Scotty Wright and Curt Calas, led the Steelers in stopping the losers' vaunted attack. Other defensive standouts were: Gary Barnes, Tod Bregar, Mike Lake, Harry Arnold, Bart Lowry, Ron Michalski, Danny Carporasso, Mike Holahan and Tim Kohl.

BANTAM DIVISION

The Bantam National champion Boiler-makers downed the Buckeyes 10-6. Andrew Pusey and Jeff Koepke each scored a safety as Steve Engel plunged for a six pointer. John Bolger and Mike Paleczny exhibited some fine blocking and QB Mike Haterpepe was a sure-handed signal caller. Big John Koepke, Dan Dote and Dave Ochab were a trio of solid tacklers. The coaching staff extends a big "thank you" to their loyal supporters.

Head coach Tom Baker's Buckeyes got on the board with one second to go as Mark Fasnacht rambled 65 yards on a cross buck. Gregg Michaels and Mike Molloy threw key blocks on the scoring scamper. Steve Thompson and Mike Baker were cited for their offensive contributions and Tim Balmes and John Kries led the team in tackles. Jim Buyers and Jeff Hazelwood recovered fumbles.

The American League Bantam co-champion Gophers zipped the Badgers 20-0 on Kevin Maloney's two TDs and Tim McDermott's 11 yard scoring reception. Ed Demmert tallied a pair of PATs. John McDermott, Greg Pizza and Jeff Johanson executed solid blocks in the line and Tim Vail, Angelo Tiesi and Scott Lap-czewich were deadly tacklers. It was pointed out that Gopher head coach Bob Chudik learned his football in the M.P.M.F.A. He played on the "Prospect" team as a 9, 10, 11 and 12 year old.

Mark Szymanski was voted the Badgers' most valuable player on the merits of his season's total rushing yardage of 629 yards. Jim Neugebauer, Clark Stalker and Paul Cantieri also made their presence felt on offense. Brian Kryczak, Tom Murphy, George Moser and Chris McCarthy anchored the defensive unit.

A rugged defensive struggle was witnessed by the fans as the Wildcats and Hoosiers fought to a 0-0 tie. Wildcat backs John Alten-bern and Dean Hellickson ran for big yardage through the holes opened by Dwayne Denzin-ger and John Altobelli. Jim Grier, Mike Bida, Tom Struncel and Scott Koncel made tack-les all over the field.

The blitzing Hoosier defense was paced by Lee Jurka, Mark Packard, Geoffrey Apjar and Bill Knauer. Gerald Blomquist, Bill Hood and Dennis Fitzsimons executed solid blocks to spring backs Matt Stadler, Scott Wertz and Angelo Saccamento loose for good yardage.

The Spartans came from behind to outduel the Tigers by the score of 13-6. Paul Bateman scored both TDs and Bob Holloway passed to Pat Ruane for the extra point. Linemen Jay Nitch, Bob Fisher and Jim MaGee blocked with authority and John Grasse, Dan Kilroy and Bob Brady led the "Green Demon" de-fense. Corey Douglas and Mike Hinchliffe each recovered key fumbles as Doug Wolff made a tackle to save a TD.

Tiger halfback "Big Bill" Uttich scored in the first quarter on a flanker quick pitch around right end which covered 38 yards.

Mike Wille scored twice in the 15-0 victory of the Illini over the Hawkeyes. Tim Barrett recorded the other six pointer on an 18 yard scamper. Bob Johnson, Jim Laver and Frank Tagney picked up good yardage with their running. Bill Schroll, Todd Mattias and Bob Peterson headed the elite defensive eleven. The Illini "Little Team" played great.

For the Hawkeyes, Phil Toepper and Jim Cowan picked up important yardage on the ground and Mike Martinski displayed an ex-celent punting game. Defensively, Tony Schneider was one of the top tacklers as Don Kruto, Ron Anderskrow and Jay Kiske all scored TDs and Mike Stabekis and Kiske converted the extra points. On defense, Russ Jabski, Mark Lee and Ken Moore were awe-some.

Wolverine halfback Doug Hembd scored all of his team's points on a 12 yard end run for six and a cross buck PAT.

Cleancut, Crewcut, Shortcut Hair Makes A Good Buck, Met Or Bear?

IF JOE FRAZIER, Mark Spitz, Kareem Abdul Jabbar and Dick Williams, all at the top of their professions, are sporting the hairy look, can it be all bad?

Coaches who relate short hair with super-masculinity did not think this was too damn humorous.

And some coaches must have cringed when Dick Williams, manager of the A's, told why he will probably shave his mustache off after the season. He said he grew the 'stache because Charlie Finley, A's owner, had wanted him to. "But now he wants me to take it off," said Williams. "He says we have been winning so much he's been kissing me every day and my mustache is starting to itch him." But the definitive reason why hair should stay was given by Archie Moore, former light heavyweight boxing champion. He was once asked if his wife minded kissing him with his mustache and goatee. "Of course not," Moore replied. "She's happy to go through the forest to get to the picnic." (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

by IRA BERKOW
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The forces of hairlessness are being cut to the quick. In rapid order recently, Mark Spitz and his lip brush win seven gold medals in the Olympics, the Oakland A's and their fuzzy mugs triumph in the World Series and the Philadelphia Eagles fall on their naked faces.

The last is most disastrous The Eagles last season were the best example of the virtues of hairlessness; they shone like a bald head in the sun.

NEIL GRIPENTROG, president of Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, was runnerup in the 3rd Annual Security Invitational Golf Tournament at the Great Southwest Golf Course, Arlington (Dallas), Tex. Over 250 bankers and their wives from across the nation participated in the tournament.

Ed Kahyat had taken over as coach after they had lost five straight NFL games. He came in on the war path. He brilliantly reasoned that a scalped player is a great player. Within minutes, the Eagles' locker room took on the look of a hair swamp.

"I have no comment to the press," Bill Hobbs, a linebacker, had said, "except to say that I love being a prisoner of war."

"I offered to meet them halfway and cut off one side of my mustache," said Ed Mel Tom. "But they refused."

"If this team is so grooming conscious," asked Tim Rossoovich, "why don't they ask owner Leonard Tose to trim his eyebrows?"

The Eagles, naturally, went on a winning streak. But this season they have been unmercifully stropped by the opposition. TV sportscaster Don Meredith wondered if Kahyat would begin making his players shave at halftime.

Hair is one of the great issues of the times. It has split generations, political parties, teams. Many think it ridiculous, that it shouldn't be important at all, that it's just splitting, if you will, hairs.

"Winning or losing," said Rossoovich last season, "has nothing to do with hair."

Ah, but the gentle wild man is wrong. Some football players believe they can butt people better because more hair means more padding and fewer splintered heads. Mark Spitz felt that the fuzz at his brow actually made him swim swifter because it absorbed water. And everyone from melodrama villains to Dick Williams knows that one can think clearer by twirling a mustache.

Somehow, coaches within the last several years have come to feel that hairy-faced and hairy-headed athletes (interestingly, not hairy-chested athletes) pose a threat to discipline, victories, morality and team morale.

Slowly, this notion is being snipped away. Joe Namath, the best quarterback in creation, shocked the world by growing a Fu Manchu mustache and still was able to thread a needle at 70 yards.

A bearded Joe Frazier won the world's heavyweight championship. Tennis champ Stan Smith won't go anywhere without the furry canopy over his lips.

A hirsute iconoclast named Bill Russell changed the face, as it were of basketball. Then Jack Scott, sometimes called "the guru of Jock Liberation," daintily tweaked coaches in a magazine article. "How does a latent homosexual prevent himself from manifesting this latent potential in overt acts? He will often try to project a super-masculine image . . ."

AN INTERFERENCE PENALTY came as a result of this collision between a Hersey defender and end Pete McNally of Palatine. The Pirates won the game, 14-6, but Hersey won the title.

Northwest Choralettes

They Sing A Song Of Love

by ELEANOR RIVES

To sing with a top quality choral group means to thrill to the nameless joy of being part of something greater than yourself. There's pleasure in spilling over with joyous foot-tapping rhythm, or in producing the spine-tingling beauty of sound waves blending in pure harmony.

It has something to do with desire, something to do with musical talent and something to do with teamwork. When what they are doing comes out good, musicians love each other.

The Northwest Choralettes, sponsored by the Northwest Suburban YMCA, love each other. The sound they produce is good; the way they produce it is fun in its highest form.

AMONG THE FEW things they have in common is that they are all women, all northwest suburbanites, and all love music. They must love music. Why else would they give up a full morning each week for rehearsals, learn instruments they never considered before, volunteer for solo parts that scare most of them silly, work themselves blue to polish up the 20 or so programs they give each year, even pay a small monthly dues to the 'Y' for the privilege of singing?

They must love each other, for rehearsals are often followed by lunches together, programs by "afterglow" parties and the season's singing activities by summer social activities.

There are currently 45 members in the Northwest Choralettes. Though some are music majors and some are soloists, no auditions are ever held. Mainly these suburban women just love to sing. And the rapport they have developed has helped produce "standing room only" programs and standing ovation audiences.

MUCH CREDIT for the success of these swinging singers must go to director Pat Ferguson of Des Plaines and narrator Virginia Schwab of Barrington. These two "found each other" and combined their talents years ago in a church just outside San Francisco. Not only a partnership but a warm friendship resulted, a friendship that continued uninterrupted when, by some quirk of fate, both their husbands were transferred to the northwest suburban area of Chicago at about the same time.

In the fall of 1968, the Northwest Suburban YMCA asked Pat to organize and direct a women's singing group as part of the 'Y' adult education program. Sixteen interested women came out. Virginia fit nicely into the scene scheduling programs, warming up audiences, giving moral support all around and adding a special touch with her dramatic narrations.

SAID JOANNE DeKOATZ of Mount Prospect, a Choralette for five years: "These two work fabulously together. Pat is brimming with music and rhythm — it's just in her. She lives it. And Virginia's dramatic numbers are great. The two of them do this for the love of it — they get just a token fee — it doesn't even meet their expenses. It's a labor of love, but to them it's not labor."

Choralette members represent a complete cross-section of ages and interests. Harriet Diekhoff of Mount Prospect is piano accompanist. There are 12 soloists, two guitarists, a string bass, a set of drums, a clavietta, a flute, unusual rhythm instruments (a washboard is unusual, isn't it?) and absolutely no prima donnas.

A MOMENT OF musical delight is registered on Virginia Schwab's face as she works at a taping session for the Northwest Choralettes. Her dramatic narrations add dimension to each program. As a free Christmas gift to the northwest suburbs, the Choralettes will give a concert Dec. 10, at 3 p.m. in the new sanctuary of Trinity Methodist Church, 605 W. Golf Rd., Mount Prospect. You're invited!

When Dixie Kurtz, Arlington Heights, sings "Blues In the Night," she moans her heart out; when Erika Seitz, also of Arlington, sings "Matilda," she's more Belafonte than Harry is; when the whole chorus sings "The World's Just Coming to a Start," toe-tapping rhythm sweeps the audience; and when they sing the lovely, haunting, but complex, "Ceremony of Carols," it's a rare high moment for them all.

CHORALETTE MEMBERS doubling as instrumentalists often teach themselves to play anything the group has scraped enough money together to buy. Colleen Crombie, Rolling Meadows, learned to play the drums because, as she puts it, "I got the short straw." She's dubbed "the lady of the pots and pans" — that's what she beats on for practice at home. Mary Jane Robertson, Mount Prospect, taught herself to play the string bass after the former player switched to tambourine. Another chorus member is learning to play the guitar.

In past years the Choralettes have given programs for schools, PTAs, senior citizen groups, hospitals and convalescent homes, churches, social and civic organizations; even at a birthday party for an 80-year-old woman who was so thrilled she invited them back the next year to sing for her 90-year-old friend.

THEY HAVE SUNG in the wards of Great Lakes Naval Hospital, in shopping centers and in the humid, echoing atmosphere of the 'Y's' indoor swimming pool. At least once a year, they give a benefit concert, open to the public and sold out well in advance.

The Choralettes have sung 184 different pieces of music and given 126 performances for 77 different groups in 21 different communities. They have made seven record albums. They have presented a 30-minute version of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" 22 times and each time brought down the house.

"We could have made a career of 'Charlie Brown' alone," commented Pat.

In the six years since Choralettes was organized, 75 women from 16 communities have participated actively as members. Membership is ever open to women who love to sing.

A MINISTER ONCE pronounced Northwest Choralettes the only group he ever encountered that in a single program sings everything from "Hair" to "The Lord's Prayer."

MOANIN' LOW, Dixie Kurtz of Arlington Heights renders a torchy version of "Blues in the Night." Dixie joined the Choralettes in 1970.

"Or from Gregorian chants to acid rock," added Pat.

"Or from Bach to the Beatles," added Virginia.

Pat Ferguson is driven by the desire to provide a musical outlet for adult women who in turn can bring music to people who need it.

"Kids have marvelous musical experiences available to them in high school," she said. "But there is rarely any choral experience available to women in the daytime. Women need this kind of outlet."

Why must these women sing? Virginia Schwab summed it up when she said, "The Choralettes sing not because they have all the answers but because they have a song . . . and for all who sing and for all who listen . . . the song is love."

LADY OF THE POTS and pans is Colleen Crombie of Rolling Meadows who learned to play the drums practicing on her cooking utensils. She also sings and plays the clarinet. Mother of seven children, Colleen has made use of the 'Y's' nursery service while attending rehearsals. Northwest Choralettes gives each of its members as wide a variety of musical experiences as possible. "We've got a Now sound," said Colleen.

FONDLY REFERRED TO as "Our Fearless Leader," Pat Ferguson is the creative force drawing the Choralettes to the highest level of their abilities. With Virginia Schwab's help, she organized the group at Northwest Suburban YMCA in the fall of 1966. Each year's music is laced with a theme, from "Hey, Look Me Over" the first year to last season's "All Kinds of Music for All Kinds of People."

Guitar Enthusiasts Talk A Language Of Their Own

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you overhear your teen-ager discussing "easy action," "getting a buzz," "having a fast neck" or "manipulating the peghead," there's little need to get up tight.

According to Richard Della Bernarda, this is the parlance of the real guitar enthusiast. And he should know, because as president of Ovation Instruments, he manufactures guitars used by the country's top pop idols, including Glen Campbell, Neil Diamond, Cat Stevens and Bobby Goldsboro.

For the worried parent, here is a glossary of guitar terminology explained:

Buzz: Undesirable vibration.

Easy action: Strings are positioned close to the fret, permitting fast play.

Fast neck: Slim and comfortable to the hand, permitting easy movement.

Machine heads: Tuning pegs.

Nut: Area where strings hit the first fret over the machine heads.

Sustain: The time the note lingers.

AMERICA IS currently in the throes of a guitar culture that shows no sign of letting up. According to Della Bernarda, one of the chief reasons is that most modern music is composed on the guitar rather than on the piano. Moreover, electronic technology has enabled guitar manufacturers to produce instruments with perfect tone.

"Young people," said Della Bernarda, "treat their guitars with great intimacy. In fact, they are just as concerned with where they purchase their guitars as they are with the instruments themselves. For that reason, there are very few successful chain stores in the musical instrument business. Most instrument shops are family concerns."

Why the eagle? Why should a fierce bird of prey be the emblem of our country? It appears on coins, atop our flag poles and on the insignia of more organizations than one can count. It also hangs over almost every doorway in New England, or so it seemed to me on my last trip. I decided to try to find out why.

It seems the Greeks and Romans set the precedent. They were so impressed with what they considered the most powerful and kingly of all birds that the standards of their military legions bore likenesses of eagles. The same bird has been the emblem of many European empires, always signifying nobility or high degree of merit.

English potters used the eagle extensively in their markings. Many pages are devoted to my marks and monogram books to the eagle motif, and I suppose it was meant to signify the superiority of their pottery.

The Indians of our West used eagle feathers in their headdresses and war bonnets, with the bald eagle (and this should do a lot for the confidence of all the "chrome domes" in the country) being the preference in American art. In flight, the bald eagle is said to be the most graceful of birds. It is not the largest but is an impressive six to eight feet tip to tip of its spread wings, with a body length of about 36 inches. Seen close up (and I have seen them only at the zoo) with their kingly snowy heads, fierce yellow eyes, thunderous "eyebrows" and great hooked bills, they do inspire something (I think the word is "fear").

I READ SOMEWHERE that at the time of the American Revolution, Benjamin Franklin favored the turkey as our national bird, but really, now, would we, could we with due reverence, EAT our national bird at Thanksgiving? Ben was a wise old sage, but a turkey is just too chicken for American patriots.

So, by act of Continental Congress, on June 20, 1782, the bald eagle became our national emblem and the idea caught on with the American public.

The well-known design of the eagle with spread wings, with its head turned, clutching a bunch of arrows in one talon and the shield with stars and stripes in the other, is the one which appears on so many coins, flags, etc., but the design's origin is obscure. It has been called "The Louisville Eagle" and dates from early in the 19th century.

Everyone is getting into the Bicentennial act now and no doubt the eagle will be the last gasp in decorating from now until 1976. (I have been wondering what would take the place of the owl, the frog and the mushroom which have been so popular for the last few years.)

THE AMERICAN HERITAGE, a hard cover bimonthly magazine, is advertising the Louisville Eagle reproduction, made from seasoned textured pine and covered with real gold foil. It measures 3 feet, 8 inches and may be hung inside or outside, according to the description. The cost is $130.

It would surely make a handsome addition to an Early American home, but I can't help thinking, and I'm sure Ben would agree, you could buy a whole flock of turkeys for $130.

If you have questions, please write Grace Carolyn Dahlberg in care of Padlock Publications, Suburban Living, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill., 60006.

The Book Stall

"THE PERSIAN BOY,"
by MARY RENAUULT
Pantheon, $7.95

There's good news and bad news for Mary Renault fans.

The good news is that Miss Renault, one of the best of historical novelists who specializes in the classical period, has written a sequel to "Fire From Heaven."

The new book, "The Persian Boy," picks up about six years after we left Alexander the Great and carries through until his death.

As usual with Miss Renault's work, the reader is transported through time, learning along the way not only history but also details of living and life styles of another age.

The bad news is that some of her readers may have a bit of difficulty identifying with the leading character, through whom we see Alexander and who tells the story.

He's Bagoas, a eunuch, and Alexander's lover — the only one, according to Miss Renault, who is authenticated by historians of the period although it appears almost certain that another was Hephastian, Alexander's boyhood friend and later loyal general.

Alexander's "Persian Boy" is a fine vehicle for moving the story line along, for explaining the Macedonian and Persian customs and the differences between the two cultures. But his point of view on Alexander gives us little — he's all too convincing in what he is and he disconcertingly views Alexander as a lover, not a fighter.

"MICHAEL'S WIFE,"
BY MARLYN MILLER
Putnam's, $5.95

Another gothic, this time in modern dress and well done of the genre, about a young woman who loses her memory, and her desperate search to find her past. This one's for gothic fans, not for everybody.

"CAGNEY," BY RON OFFEN
Regnery, $6.95

Unless you have an insatiable desire to see more stills of Jimmy Cagney, and you can't get enough of the old films on television, then this probably won't interest you too much. There's more to the man than meets this author's eye.

"THE GREAT LAND HUSTLE," BY MORTON C. PAULSON
Regnery, $7.95

Paulson has written a vastly informative and interesting expose of the business of land hustling — the crooked dealers and the legitimate operations are thoroughly discussed and prospective buyers can learn a lot.

Dr. Welby's Nurse

In Real Life She's Wife To A Psychiatrist

by VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Elena Verdugo plays nurse to Dr. Marcus Welby during the day. At night she plays wife to Dr. Charles Rosewall.

Last March Elena and the doctor were married, both for the second time. Unlike the general practitioner played by Robert Young in the series, Dr. Rosewall is a psychiatrist.

Elena spent 17 years between marriages working in television and occasional movies.

This summer the newlyweds bought a Spanish-style home in the plush suburb of Brentwood, a 25-minute freeway drive to Universal Studios where "Marcus Welby, M.D." is filmed.

It is ironic that the ABC series is shot on real estate that once belonged to Elena's forebears. The Verdugo family was one of the first from Spain to settle in Southern California. And in 1776 the family was given a grant of some 36,000 acres in the San Fernando Valley.

MUCH OF THE old Verdugo ranch included what is today Glendale and Burbank.

"If my ancestors had worked harder and enjoyed fewer fiestas, I'd still own all the property," says Elena. "Nowlong when I go to Universal I feel as if I'm working on my own land."

Elena is a light-hearted actress who starred in the title role of "Meet Millie" in television's early days — 1951-56. Because the show was live, there are no residuals or reruns.

"Heck," Elena says, "there's no evidence it ever existed."

Rosewall is the father of a grown and married daughter who, along with her husband, are frequent house guests. Things get a bit crowded when Elena's 23-year-old son, Richard (an aspiring actor), stops by for a few days as well.

The busy household doesn't bother Elena. She goes into the kitchen and uses her imagination to cook original dishes. Sometimes they are too original and barely palatable.

When that happens Elena adds large amounts of curry and nuts, explaining to one and all that she has found a secret Indian recipe.

THE ROSEWALL home is comfortable and unpretentious. Elena is fond of saying the decor is "early nothing."

Elena usually works about two or three days a week per episode of "Marcus Welby, M.D."

She arises at 5:15 a.m. in order to report to makeup and wardrobe at 6 a.m. She takes time out for a bite of breakfast and reports immediately to work. No matter what the schedule, she is finished shooting at 6 p.m.

As for her role, Elena says she always wanted to be a movie star or a nurse as a child. Now she believes she's been able to combine the two.

"My mother was seriously ill for a time," Elena says. "We had a lot of nurses and I've drawn on their various characteristics to make a composite of nurse Consuelo Lopez, the role I play on the show."

The Rosewalls prefer to spend their weekends at home putting around the house. Their favorite diversion is watching old horror movies on television.

"I even see myself on some of them," Elena says happily.

What Liszt Did

Franz Liszt 1811-1886 is down in history mainly as a composer and concert musician. But the National Piano Foundation says he's also famous among musicians for introducing group instruction techniques to piano lessons. He often conducted classes for more than a dozen students at a time. (UPI).

Playback

by Tom Von Malder

Freddie Hart

If your taste in country music runs to love songs only, you'll like Freddie Hart's new album, "Got The All Over For you" (Capitol ST-11107).

Ably backed by the Heartbeats, Hart very capably gets through his latest collection. Hart's such a big star now the album should have good commercial success (his album "Easy Loving" has just been named by Billboard as the best country album of the year). But somehow the album very seldom excites me. The basic (and probably only) fault is a lack of variety.

IT'S JUST LIKE THE front and back covers of the album jacket — the pictures are the same except he's smiling in one and not in the other. So are the songs the same, except that a couple seem slightly more uptempo.

Two of the songs are very much worth a listen though. They are "Here I Am" and "Sugar Woman." Hart's still a good singer; it's just that this album isn't his best.

The Bee Gees also have a new album out and it's about their first that has not had me instantly falling in love with it.

"To Whom It May Concern" (ATCO SD-7012) suffers from too much of the old sounds simply warmed over. This makes much of the album blah, but there are at least three good songs (one a sure classic) and an interesting experiment among the baker's dozen included.

The soon-to-be classic is their hit single "Run To Me," which just about every popular singer is busy recording. The tune is haunting (something the Bee Gees do well) and the lyrics contain gems such as "if ever you've got rain in your heart," a phrase that will stay with me always.

THE OTHER TWO good songs are "Never Been Alone," which has as fine and meaningful a set of lyrics as any love song I've heard in a while, and "Bad Bad Dreams," wherein the boys actually capture the sound of a John Lennon song done by the Beatles. It's not, of course, but still... and then "You Know It's For You" has traces of Paul McCartney.

Best omen for the future is Brother Maurice's playing of the Moog synthesizer in "Sweet Song of Summer." The song lacks much worth but the Moog has been incorporated into the boys' style well. They will hopefully use more of it in the future.

Among other new releases are: "Heads" by Osibisa (Decca DL7-5368). This group of seven African musicians seems to enjoy playing together very much. There is a looseness and informality throughout the album, which is mainly happy music given a driving beat. "Wango Wango" is a solid standout in their fusion of Afro rock-jazz.

"H o n k y-Tonk Stardust Cowboy" (ATCO SD-7015) is Jonathan Edwards' second album and it is very satisfying. Again, ATCO has issued an album with 13 songs (like the Bee Gees) which is quite a bit since most albums have 10 or less songs these days. The music is pleasant, easy-listening all the way with just the right touch of country flavor added.

EIGHT OF THE SONGS were written by Edwards with "Stop and Start It All Again," "Everything" and the title song being the best. These songs highlight the fine harmonizing that has become a very successful tool for the singer. It helps make his songs so accessible and hummable. His instrumentals fit in well with the vocals too.

A six-minute-plus version of the traditional "Morning Train" is another good cut. Second albums are invariably tough — either because of the success or the failure of the first — but I think Edwards has followed a good album with a better one.

Many Hopkin's "Those Were the Days" (Apple SW-3395) is a nice regrouping of some of the young lady's best work. Besides the title song (still a favorite), we are given the Beatles' "Goodbye" and the standard "Que Sera Sera." She may not always have been a real big success, but I for one am still glad that Paul McCartney heard her one day and got her to sign with Apple Records. Hopefully, there will be a lot more heard from her.

Entr'acte

A one-woman showing of watercolors is currently being displayed at Arlington Heights Memorial Library. Artist Rita Mohacsi opened her exhibit last Monday for a two-week run.

The Buffalo Grove artist is a graduate of Maryland Teachers College in Forestburg, Md. She also attended the University of Maryland and taught school for five years. Mrs. Mohacsi works primarily in transparent watercolor and is presently both writing and illustrating children's books.

A reception Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. will officially open an exhibit by three artists at the Westleystreethouse Gallery, 121 W. Wesley St. in Wheaton. Photography by Stephen Reilly, stone sculpture by Mary Kingbury Dowse and watercolor portraits by Mary Owen Rosenthal will be on display.

Residents of all areas who are 60 years old or more will soon be able to receive a 50 per cent discount on tickets for all plays and other programs sponsored by Schaumburg Festival Theatre.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Sonja Leraas, president of the community theater group, voiced her hope that the reduced prices would enable more senior citizens to attend and enjoy the year-round entertainment provided by Festival Theatre.

"We wish we could invite senior citizens to attend our dress rehearsal or a scheduled performance at no charge," continued Mrs. Leraas, "but due to problems with rehearsal facilities and the high cost of presenting our plays, this is not possible at this time."

"WE HOPE, though, that the 50 per cent discount will let all senior citizens know that we are thinking about them and are trying our best to make it possible for them to enjoy a night out and be a part of our audience."

Senior citizens may obtain a special pass making them eligible for the discount as of Dec. 1 by calling 882-1894. All pass holders will also receive a free subscription to "Footlight Footnotes," the theater's newsletter published every two months which lists special programs and the dates of all major productions.

Entry applications now are being accepted for the McCormick Place Professional Artists' Show to be held Dec. 7-10 in the exposition center's Ray Scholesling Hall.

It is stressed that the art show being managed by Jinx Harris Shows, Inc., will be limited to professional artists, sculptors, sketch artists and craftsmen.

UNQUALIFIED for exhibit will be velvet paintings, paper, feather or plastic flowers, shellcraft, lapidary, de coupe or toleware. Also unacceptable will be commercial molds in any media or work represented by agents.

The show managers are asking artists to submit an 8 by 10 glossy of themselves with their work. In addition, slides or photos of work must be submitted with the application by those who have not formerly exhibited in a Jinx Harris show.

Application forms and additional details may be obtained from the Public Relations Department, McCormick Place, 791-6190.

Russia Honors John Donne

MOSCOW (UPI) — John Donne's works are being published in Russian this year for the first time in connection with the 400th anniversary of the birth of the English poet and divine.

Writer Boris Tomashevsky translated 70 songs, sonnets, elegies, messages and epigrams for the collection, the news agency Tass reported.

Four-version 'Sesame'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three new versions of "Sesame Street," produced in Spanish, Portuguese and German, were shown simultaneously, along with the original English-language version of the prize-winning educational television series on four channels at the Cannes Television Exhibition in France this spring.

It was the first time in the eight-year history of the exhibition that the entire closed circuit color video network was used at the same time to show four versions of a single program.

Children's Play, Cabaret Shows On MOS Agenda

Wednesday's membership meeting of Music On Stage will include discussion of the musical group's next production, "The Emperor's New Clothes," a Christmas show for children, as well as future cabaret shows.

Highlighting the evening will be a sing-along of "Promises, Promises," MOS's spring musical for which auditions will be held Dec. 10 and 11.

The meeting is being held at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights and begins at 8 p.m.

The cast for "The Emperor's New Clothes" was recently announced following auditions earlier this month.

Leading the show are the two weavers, Ho and Ha, are Karen Krien of Arlington Heights and Tommie Wilson of Mount Prospect.

standing Empress are Art Creighton of Palatine and Judy Carlson of Mount Prospect.

LARRY PETERSON of Arlington Heights and Fern Silver of Morton Grove provide the evil side of the story as Ling Tow, the scheming Prime Minister, and his daughter, the scatterbrained Violet.

Others in the cast include Jill Amendola of Rolling Meadows, Marguerite Dietrich of Prospect Heights and Jim Creighton of Palatine.

Music On Stage is presenting the musical Saturday, Dec. 2, at Ridge School in Elk Grove Village and Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Brentwood School in Des Plaines.

Additional performances are scheduled in January, 1973. Tickets, 255-1850 or 439-1062.

Further information about any MOS activity is available through Mike Wouds, president, 894-2182.

Footlighters' Production Of 'Peanuts' Next Weekend

The characters of Charles M. Schulz's comic strip "Peanuts" will come to life on stage at the Rand Park Fieldhouse in Des Plaines next weekend when the Footlighters present the musical, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Directing the show is Kenneth L. Johnson, who for the past three seasons has been resident director of the Footlighters, a young people's theater guild sponsored by the Des Plaines Park District.

Johnson, who estimates that several hundred Des Plaines children have been active in Footlighters throughout the 10 years the children's group has been in existence, is also drama instructor for the park district and conducts a class in creative dramatics every Saturday morning at Rand Park.

MRS. GRACE COASH, who is one of the original creators of the Footlighters, is musical director and voice coach for "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Des Plaines children appearing in the production include Kevin Marquette as Charlie Brown, Rollyn Meyers as Snoopy, Sue Johnson as Lucy, Steve Smith as Linus, Bill Wright as Schroeder and Kelly Jones as Patty.

The production crew is made up of Linda Medrano, Lisa Wolf, Don Steffan, Laurel Tietze, Matt and Miles Mlodoch and Darice Quinnett. They are all junior high or high school students.

Kathy and Karen Mason of Arlington Heights are choreographing the musical.

Tickets are available through the Des Plaines Park District office, 296-6106. Curtain is 8 p.m. for all three performances Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Piano Recital At Harper Wednesday

Emanuel L. Lancaster, Harper College music instructor, will present a piano recital with an all-romantic program this Wednesday at the college.

The performance, one in a series of faculty recitals, will take place in Room E-106 at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Lancaster, a Hoffman Estates resident, will include in his program character pieces by Schumann, Liszt and Brahms as well as works by Schubert and Chopin.

A graduate of Murray State University and the University of Illinois, Lancaster has studied piano with Joel Shapiro and Dean Sanders and piano pedagogy with James Lyke and Lawrence Rast. He has recently completed additional graduate work at Florida State University and Northern Illinois University.

Lancaster, a class piano specialist, coordinates activities in the piano department in addition to his teaching duties. He is active in class piano materials development as well as performing.

Area Students In Music Festival

Students from Area VII of the Illinois Music Educators Association will be participating tomorrow in a music festival at Oak Park-River Forest High School.

Students from this area participating go to Arlington, Elk Grove, Forest View, Hersey, Wheeling and Rolling Meadows High Schools.

Senior high band members will be directed by Ray Makeever, president-elect of the Illinois Music Educators Association. Makeever is director of music at Ottawa Illinois High School.

Maria Tunicka, born in Warsaw, Poland, and winner of many awards as a conductor throughout Europe, will direct the high school orchestra students. Miss Tunicka is completing requirements for her doctorate degree in music at Washington University. She has been a guest director for the Chicago Civic Orchestra and Grant Park Symphony.

WESTON NOBLE, chairman of the music department at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, will direct the high school chorus and Dr. John Ferrell from Illinois State University will be directing the college chorus.

Directing junior high school students at the festival will be H. E. Nutt of the Vandercook School of Music, Thomas Wisniewski of the University of Illinois and Richard Whitecotton, music supervisor of Glenbard West High School.

THE COLLEGE chorus will sing at the music educators' luncheon at noon in the dining hall of the high school.

The concert by the junior high school organizations begins at 3 p.m. and will be followed by the concert by high school musicians at 4:30 p.m. Admission is $1. The public is invited.

Rich Seasonal Fare For Theatergoers

by GENIE CAMPBELL

It is turning into a rich season for area theatergoers. Beginning now and throughout the next six weeks, new stage offerings are in store . . . and most look pretty enticing.

Opening next Tuesday at MILL RUN THEATRE is JULIET PROWSE in the musical comedy, "SWEET CHARITY." The singer-dancer will be appearing in the theater-in-the-round through Sunday, Nov. 26.

Charity, the character Miss Prowse will be playing, was first conceived by director Federico Fellini in the Oscar-winning film, "The Nights of Cabiria." There she was an amoral Roman prostitute who was as generous with her virtues as she was with her heart.

The story was later produced on Broadway by Fryer, Carr and Harris who retained the basic innocence and good-hearted nature of the dancer-prostitute but added a bit more razzle-dazzle.

Even closer to home are TV star JOSEPH CAMPANELLA and Broadway actress, MARGARET PHILLIPS at ARLINGTON PARK THEATRE in the Victorian thriller, "ANGEL STREET." The play, which is being directed by SHEPARD TRAUBE who staged and produced the original Broadway production, opened last night and will play through Dec. 10.

And it's not too soon to mark your calendar for Arlington Park Theatre's choice for the holidays, "THE FANTASTICKS." RICHARD CHAMBERLAIN, who achieved initial recognition as TV's "Dr. Kildare," but has received international recognition from appearing in more classic roles, will star in the musical opening Dec. 14. It will be the first musical produced at the local theater.

It is with great regret that I announce COUNTRY CLUB THEATRE'S cancellation of "THE LION IN WINTER" which will have its last performance this Sunday. Director and manager NORMAN RICE, who received a Joseph Jefferson nomination for his portrayal of King Henry II in the play, is no longer associated with the theater. The comedy "UNDER THE YUM YUM TREE" opens this next Tuesday to replace the present production.

CRAIG STEVENS is currently starring in "THE GAZEBO" at PHEASANT RUN PLAYHOUSE through Nov. 26. However, for the last week of the show, beginning Nov. 21, PETER BRECK of television's "Big Valley" will replace Stevens, who because of prior contractual commitments cannot complete the run of the play.

The IVANHOE THEATRE and its director GEORGE KEATHLEY have gained prominence by premiering new plays. Currently, however, the stage has been reserved for Donald Drivers' smash hit "STATUS QUO VADIS" that has played over the months to sell-out audiences and is slated to open on Broadway in February.

But opening Dec. 7 at the Ivanhoe is the world premiere of "WELCOME HOME," a comedy-drama to star PERNELL ROBERTS. Keathley will direct the new play written by Hollywood author and producer EDMUND HARTMANN. It is his first play.

According to Hartmann, the "Welcome Home" theme is that "warmth shared with another human being is really all there is in life."

The main character, Harry, played by Roberts, is "trapped in a marriage without warmth and he tries to keep his son from making the same mistakes," the playwright further explains, "but, like everyone else, the son has to learn by his own mistakes."

And of course, a very appealing show to be seen over the holidays is "NO NO NANETTE," a musical which is currently delighting theatergoers at the Shubert Theater. No doubt it will be in town for a long time.

Art-Antiques

Auction Nov. 18 At O'Hare Inn

The Convention Hall at O'Hare Inn in Des Plaines will be the site next Saturday, Nov. 18, of the fifth annual Hadley Art-Antique Auction benefit sponsored by the Winnetka Lions Club.

More than 200 works of art and antiques have been donated by artists and patrons of the arts.

Arlington Heights artists contributing paintings and sculpture include Joseph Burlini, Palanda Graves, Betsy Harrigan, Judith Weltman and Gerald Richman.

The 1973 auction catalog listing includes two Goya etchings purchased in 1875 which have recently been appraised and authenticated as the Los Caprichos Series, and rare selections of Japanese woodcuts, circa 1843.

Antiques to be auctioned off include a French Limoges coffee set, a French horizontal mirror with painted rural scenes on either end, English and Danish pewter bowls and pitchers, a procession-al cape worn in the 19th century, silver serving pieces, figurines, etc.

Tickets are $3 each or two for $5. A preview begins at 6:30 p.m., the auction at 8 p.m. Tickets are available through the Hadley School at 446-8111. They will also be available at the door the evening of the auction.

Pinecone Turkey

You'll need some pinecones, colored construction paper, white glue, and scissors for these turkey table favors.

For each leg, cut a piece of brown paper about three inches square. Spread glue all over one side. Roll it up. Bend it in half to form a foot and a leg. Spread glue around the top of the leg and push it up into the pinecone. Repeat for the other leg. The back end of the pinecone turkey resting on the table will help him stand up.

For the tail, cut out brightly colored paper feathers. Put white glue on both sides of one end of each feather. Stick it into the pinecone. Cut out a red or orange paper head and neck. Put glue on both sides of the bottom of the neck. Stick it into the pinecone. Let dry. Now your turkey is ready to strut!

Shaw Festival

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (UPI) —The Shaw Festival's new theater here is expected to be completed and turned over to the Festival on June 5, 1973. A week later, the first season in the new house will begin, continuing until Sept. 16. Three plays are planned, two by Bernard Shaw.

Computer Counseling

Married couples with communication problems are receiving therapeutic help from a computerized light transmitter, patented by Prof. Edwin J. Thomas of the University of Michigan School of Social Work.

While discussing some aspect of their marriage, a husband and wife can send green or red light signals to register agreement or disagreement with what their partner is saying. The conversation and signals are recorded on tape for assessment by the therapist later. (UPI)

TV Note

CBS and MGM Television have agreed to develop the "Shaft" motion pictures into a one-hour weekly series about the black private investigator of that name. Star Richard Roundtree of the films also will head the video skein, which is aimed at the 1973-74 season. "Shaft," first of the theater films, will be aired on CBS in September, 1973.

Tony Randall, Jack Klugman, Lee Grant and Larry Story will be guests on comedian Alan King's first ABC special of the season, "Living May Be Hazardous to Your Health," due Nov. 15.

NBC's "Ironside" will have a special two-hour drama, "Hey, Buddy, Can You Spare a Life?" on Nov. 16. Corruption and murder against a countryclub background. The extra hour is gained by preempting Dean Martin's time.

Tennessee Ernie Ford will preside over a "White Christmas Special" for NBC on Dec. 23.

If you are looking ahead to the next

Oscar Awards program, the date is Tuesday, March 27, 1973, on NBC.

"Captain Kangaroo" on CBS made its 5,000th broadcast on Oct. 27, making it the longest-running children's series in television history.

Hallmark Cards Inc. has contributed its entire backlog of television productions, amassed during more than two decades of video experience, to the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. The collection totals 163 programs and includes 99 of the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama specials. The collection will be housed in the National Television Library at the University of California at Los Angeles.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marlene Dietrich, backed by a 25-piece orchestra conducted by Burt Bacharach, will star in a one-hour special on CBS next Jan. 13. The show will be taped before a black-tie audience in London as a production by Broadway-London stage producer Alexander H. Cohen.

DELTA GAMMA

"Women and the Stars" will be the theme of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Delta Gamma meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Douglas Dallmer, 393 Indian Hill Dr., Buffalo Grove. Mrs. Jean Bonnell will present the program on astrology.

Co-hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. William Stanley of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Bruce Hrabka, Park Ridge. Members may call Mrs. James Fortney, 825-7129, for information.

ARLINGTON WSOS

"Coping in a Computer Age" is the topic of the program to be presented Tuesday to the Women's Society of Christian Service, First United Methodist Church, Arlington Heights.

Learning to be human in a pushbutton world will be the subject discussed. A short film, "Homo-Homini," will be shown, followed by discussion in groups.

A brief business meeting at 9:30 a.m., including election of officers, and coffee will precede the program. Coffee will be served by the Sharon Lauber and Lorraine Enright Circles, Mrs. William Gardner, chairman, and the Marian Thayer Circle, Mrs. Donley Scheidemantel, chairman. Reservations are due Sunday with circle chairmen or Mrs. Curtis Chambers, 394-0454. A nursery will be provided.

DENTAL ASSISTANTS

A program on "Dental Education Projects" will be presented by Harper College dental hygiene students Tuesday evening for Northwest Dental Assistants.

Members will be meeting at 7 in the Mount Prospect Holiday Inn for a social hour and dinner at 7:30. The business meeting is set for 8:30.

Dinner reservations may be made through Joan Vanek, 255-9088 by Sunday.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Chicago Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta will hold its annual Founder's Day luncheon Tuesday, at Harper College.

This marks the 84th anniversary of the founding of the first Tri Delta collegiate chapter at Boston University. Guest of honor will be Tri Delta's district chairman, Mrs. Keith Rueckert from Rock Island. Cost of the luncheon will be $2.50. Further information and reservations can be obtained by calling 882-0365.

TERRACE TOASTMISTRESSES

Terrace Toastmistress Club will meet 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Reserve Savings and Loan Association Building, York and Butterfield roads, Elmhurst.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: We have a huge stone fireplace in our family room which is quite dirty. I keep putting off cleaning it but I've procrastinated long enough and I'm wondering what is the best way to do this job. Any help will be appreciated. — Mrs. George H.

The size of the fireplace has probably scared you. Actually, stone isn't too difficult to clean. Readers claim to have had great success by using trisodium phosphate solutions or the commercial preparations made of this material. Start at the bottom, do a small area at a time and include a section over or next to the area you are working each time. It's wise to use rubber gloves. And if the room is carpeted, you know it is important that it be well protected.

Dear Dorothy: I don't make hollandaise sauce often but when I do, I'm left with the whites. Any simple suggestions on how to use them? — Florence B.

Depending on how ambitious you feel, there are angel food cake, nut kisses, meringues, divinity fudge, frosting and so on. Also, you should know that egg whites freeze beautifully. Store them in small containers with two, three or four whites in each — for ease in thawing.

Dear Dorothy: I should ask the doctor

Dr. Donald R. Low, Professor of Speech and Chairman of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts at Elmhurst College, will conduct a workshop on parliamentary procedure. Invitations have been sent to Business and Professional Women's Clubs and Parent Teacher Association Boards of the surrounding areas. All interested in learning more about parliamentary procedure are invited.

OPERATING ROOM NURSES

The microscope's application in neurosurgery will be the topic of Dr. Ivan Ciric, neuro surgeon, at Tuesday's meeting of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the Association of Operating Room Nurses. Hosting the meeting at 7:30 p.m., will be Evanston Hospital, 2650 Ridge Ave., Evanston. Anyone wishing further information may contact Dennis Schoff at 546-7104.

MOUNT PROSPECT WOMEN

The bridge group of Mount Prospect Woman's Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the Chestnut Room of Mount Prospect Community Center. Co-chairmen of the group are Mrs. William G. Medlar and Mrs. Harold Beck.

Information regarding this group may be obtained by calling Mrs. Medlar at 593-1149 or Mrs. Beck at CL 5-6066. All money realized by this group is used toward the Mount Prospect Woman's Club philanthropies.

SAINTPAULIA SOCIETY

Distribution of mystery violet plants, registering names of show plants and violet plants as Thanksgiving gifts will be on the program Tuesday morning for members of Suburban Saintpaulia Society.

Hostess for the 11 o'clock meeting will be Mrs. Madeline Southard, 113 Kirchoff Rd., Palatine. The mystery plants will be distributed to each member to grow and show at a later date.

ALPHA DELTA PI

Alpha Delta Pi's thoughts turn to the warmth and cheer of winter holidays as they learn the how and what of making gingerbread houses. Mrs. J. K. Adelman, 1726 N. Drury, Arlington Heights, will hostess the demonstration to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m.

A.D.P.I.'s will make houses for area old peoples homes as well as for themselves.

For further information, members may contact Mrs. Adelman, 259-2491, or her co-hostess, Mrs. Harold Chisamore, 824-7064.

this, but I'm embarrassed. It sounds stupid. I'm supposed to put drops in my eyes and foul up the deal every single time. Is there some trick to it? — Elizabeth K.

Asked an eye doctor in your behalf. Said he: (1) Wash the hands well. (2) Sit in a chair, tilt your head back and stare at the ceiling. (3) Pull the lower lid down with a cotton ball or folded tissue, being careful not to touch the eye, and put the drop in. My own No. 4, easiest way, is to have somebody do it for you.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Tips On Hair Care

A hairdresser will give tips on hair care Monday evening at the second session of the Buffalo Grove Jaycee's charm school.

Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, resident of Buffalo Grove and hairdresser will speak to the girls, grades 6 through 12. This session will begin at 7:30 at the Louisa May Alcott School.

AS A SPECIAL TREAT for helping his mother distribute copies of Voter's Guide, a League of Women Voters pamphlet, Patrick Flynn samples the punch and cookies Mrs. Pat Howe, league membership chairman, will serve at the new member orientation meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Dunton Room of Arlington Heights Library. Patrick's mother, right, Mrs. Ruth Flynn, is selling UNICEF cards for the League this Christmas and may be reached at 392-6546. Women interested in the League may call Mrs. Howe at 827-2414.

Area Restaurant Has IVA Coupons

"World's Fare" coupon books containing discount tickets good in 20 Chicago area ethnic restaurants and in five ethnic grocery stores will be sold at Bimbo's Restaurant, Rand and Dundee, Palatine.

The coupon books sell for $10 and benefit the International Visitors Center which programs nearly 3500 foreign visitors to the Chicago area each year. Members of the IVC from the northwest suburbs who provide home hospitality for these visitors will be attending a cocktail reception Tuesday at the Graham Foundation for Advanced Study in the Arts, Chicago, at which the coupon books will be introduced.

Area families interested in entertaining foreign visitors or wishing further information about the IVA may call Carol Narup at 394-5880.

Co-Workers Are Married

When Marilyn Schultz of Elk Grove went to work for Automatic Data Processing in Chicago, she met the young man who was to become her husband. Of course neither Marilyn nor Steve V. Donaldson, who made his home in Des Plaines, knew at the time that Cupid was pairing them up.

The co-workers were married the afternoon of Oct. 14 in Queen of the Rosary Church, Elk Grove.

Steve's family, the V. Donaldsons, came from their home in Blairsville, Pa., for the festivities, and his brother Neal came from St. Louis to be an usher for the ceremony.

MARILYN is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schultz of Elk Grove. Her sister Patricia and a cousin, Donna Gallo of Melrose Park, were two of her bridesmaids; the other was Diane Edwards of Elk Grove. Phyllis Strong, also of Elk Grove, was maid of honor.

Steve chose Jim Waring of Des Plaines as best man and ushers included Marilyn's brother Edward, Ray Stein of Elk Grove, her cousin, and Tim Kachlic, Melrose Park.

Anthony Schultz, 6-year-old brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

AS SHE WAS given in marriage, the bride wore an ivory peau de soie gown with apricot ribbon running through a band of lace at the high neck, on the cuffs of the long full sleeves and circling the Empire waistline. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a lace cap also trimmed with apricot ribbon. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy on a prayerbook.

The bridal attendants were dressed in apricot and carried baskets of autumn flowers.

The newlyweds greeted 140 guests at a reception at the Camelot Restaurant, Des Plaines. Then they left for a two-week honeymoon in Florida and are making their home in Des Plaines.

Marilyn is a graduate of Forest View High School and attended Harper College for a year.

Childbirth Film At Area Hospital

Two showings of a film on the Lamaze method of childbirth will be offered at Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village. The first showing is at 8:30 tonight and the second will be at 10 Monday morning.

"The Story of Eric" will be presented by the Northern Illinois Chapter of the American Society for Psychoprophylaxis in Obstetrics with music written especially for the film. Highlights of classes demonstrating the techniques involved in preparation for childbirth are shown as well as the actual labor and delivery of one couple in the class. Both husband and wife are active participants in the events as they occur.

All expectant parents as well as the interested public are invited. A question and answer period will follow the film and a recently delivered couple who used the method will share their experience.

Further information is available from Mrs. George Levitt, 882-5656.

Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity

When it comes to saving money, most of us can use all the help we can get.
Joining the Payroll Savings Plan is one easy way to force yourself to save. When you sign up, an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's automatic. Everything is done for you.
And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.
Stick with the plan and before you know it you'll have a bankroll waiting. That's when you'll find you can do a lot more with money than you can with string.

The HERALD WANT-ADS

Last year,
all John Benson saved was $54.32.

This year, he joined the Payroll Savings Plan.

Poor John. Money just seemed to slip right through his fingers. Every time he planned to stash something away, there wasn't anything left.

Then John decided to join the Payroll Savings Plan where he works. Now, an amount he specifies is automatically set aside from his check before he gets it. And invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Because John has become such a systematic saver, he's almost forgotten about it. When he gets around to remembering, he's going to have quite a nest egg laid away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½% payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

If you keep forgetting to save something out of your check, join the Payroll Savings Plan and let somebody else do the remembering for you.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until maturity. And always remember, bonds are a smart way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

The U.S. Government does not pay for the 6½% advance.
